DON'T LIKE BUND

More than a score of persons were injured in a "free-for-all" riot in Philadelphia, Pa., which resulted when an anti-Nazi crowd stormed what police described as a German-American bund meeting, which, it is said, was attended by Wilhelm Kunze, national bund leader. This Philadelphia Inquirer copyright photo shows bund members, in uniform, beating off the invaders.

WARNING ISSUED BY NO. 2 NAZI

Goering Asserts Vienna Must Be Made Completely German City

VIENNA, March 26.—(AP)—Field Marshal General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi, warned Jews tonight that they must get out of Austria.

In a smashing, plebiscite campaign speech to 50,000 Austrians who welcomed him to Vienna as "our Hermann" he declared:

"Vienna was not a German city because 300,000 Jews live here. Vienna must become German again. The Jew must know we do not care to live with him. He must go."

Then Goering outlined Germany's greater Austria program, said the courts would consider the circumstances of "Schuschnigg's fake plebiscite plan," and announced with a derisive fling at the Hapsburgs that the monarchist movement is forever dead.

He said national Socialism has no desire to destroy the church or religion but warned "there will be no compromise if religion meddles in politics."

He disclosed that a vast public works program has been planned.

Hundreds of cheers greeted every sally of the field marshal.

Traffic in the district was completely blocked, while all of former Austria heard the speech, a part of the campaign for a "yes" vote in the April 10 plebiscite on union of the two countries, from loudspeakers scattered throughout the nation.

"This plebiscite fake will come before the courts," he said in discussing the vote that former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg had scheduled just before Nazi threats forced him out of office.

Goering was not specific as to whether Schuschnigg himself might face trial. However, he promised a court airing of the cloudy political developments between the February 12 Berchtesgaden conference of Schuschnigg and Hitler and Schusch-

ARKANSAS READY FOR BIG PROGRAM

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 26.—(AP)—The first special session of an Arkansas legislature in four years ended today after passage of measures appropriating $12,000,000 for a far-reaching highway, health and education program.

Governor Carl E. Bailey, expressing gratification at approval by the assembly of 18 out of 23 proposals he submitted to it, said he would begin action on the bills next week. He said he had planned no hearings on any measures but would hold them if requested to do so.

Major accomplishments of the 15-day session were passage of bills designed to remove tolls from all highway bridges in Arkansas, open the way for a $5,000,000 highway construction program, lower gasoline taxes and auto license fees, assure rural schools of full eight months terms and launch a $1,500,000 expansion program for the state's tuberculosis sanatoriums.

The legislature adjourned without taking final action on a proposed referendum of a plan to refund the state's $145,000,000 highway debt. The plan, advanced by Lieutenant Governor Bob Bailey, was passed by the senate and transmitted to the house where it died on the calendar. No attempt was made to call it up.

Trio Told To Quit Hunting Sewer Gold

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—A gold rush that might have developed into a subterranean Klondike was averted today when Magistrate Irving Ben Cooper ordered three young 1938 forty-niners to quit panning the city sewers.

An early-rising resident of the Bronx, taking a brisk one-two-three in front of his bedroom window, was horrified to see three dark figures skulking around an open manhole at Tremont avenue and Southern boulevard this morning.

Bounding to the telephone, he shrieked an alarum of murder. At that very moment, he said, the assassins were lowering the body of their victim into the labyrinthian sewer system.

The police arrived with considerable celerity and seized the three skulkers. Several hours later they

SPOUSE SHOT, WIFE GIVES TRANSFUSION

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Harold Faller, 36, gave blood today in a transfusion for her 36-year-old husband who was shot in the left chest this morning during a scuffle over a gun.

Mrs. Faller was exonerated by Assistant District Attorney Edward Generelly. He said Faller quarreled with his wife after a crawfish party and pointed a pistol at her. It discharged when she slapped it aside, he said.

Faller is an unemployed automobile salesman and radio technician.

SPAIN WORRIES BRITAIN, FRANCE

Insurgent Advances Put Government In Most Dangerous Position

LONDON, March 26.—(AP)—British and French security in the Mediterranean became a more vital issue tonight as sweeping insurgent advances put the Spanish government in perhaps the most dangerous position of the 20-month civil war.

How much longer the defending Spaniards could hold out unless the tide turned unexpectedly in their favor or outside aid came was a matter of wide speculation.

But despite fears held by many British and French that a victory by the insurgents with Italian and German help would seriously endanger the security of both democratic nations, neither government indicated any change from the policy of non-intervention.

The British government, seemingly less concerned than France over Spain's future, pressed on toward an attempted settlement with Italy, seeking thereby to preclude possible Italian domination in Spain.

Informed quarters in Rome, however, said completion of an Italo-British accord was being delayed by the necessity of obtaining agreement of France and Soviet Russia, from whom aid has gone to the Spanish government, to the proposal for withdrawing foreign combatants from Spain.

Negotiations for settlement of differences between Britain and Italy were launched under Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's "realistic" foreign policy which caused the resignation of his foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, on February 20.

At the same time, the British government was giving priority to its quickened rearmament drive and France wrestled with spreading strikes and the problem of exactly how to pay for her rearmament.

Informed sources in Paris said they would not be surprised if France faced another cabinet crisis next week in view of the senate's opposition to continuance of the People's Front government, now headed by Socialist Leon Blum.

Organized labor's millions of workers in Britain apparently were ready to negotiate on a non-political basis with the government on their part in the greater rearmament effort.

The prime minister arranged to lay the government's general plan for intensified speeding of defense prepara-

LECHE WILL SEND REPRESENTATIVES HERE TO ASSIST IN MAKING PLANS

Weldon And Anderson To Meet With Benoit And Other Leaders At 1:30 P. M.

GOVERNOR TO TELL NATION OF PROGRAM IN LOUISIANA

Will Discuss Method Of Sustaining Employment In Nationwide Hookup Today

The "Home Improvement month" campaign for Monroe and this area will be mapped out Monday at 1:30 p.m., when representatives of Governor Richard W. Leche arrive here by plane to confer with Mayor H. H. Benoit and other officials and civic leaders in charge of the drive.

Colonel Don Weldon, special assistant to the governor, and Vernon Anderson, manager of the radio division of the governor's drive against the annual seasonal slump this summer, are being sent to various centers in the state by Governor Leche early this week to organize a concerted campaign of buying throughout Louisiana.

Governor Leche will speak Monday over the entire Red network of the National Broadcasting company from Washington at 12:45 p.m., Monroe time, it was announced Saturday from his office in Baton Rouge. The National Broadcasting company Saturday morning extended an invitation to the governor, now en route to Washington, to speak for 15 minutes on its major network, describing how Louisiana overcame the general business recession. Contacted in Atlanta at noon, Governor Leche accepted the invitation, saying he would "be happy to tell the nation how the recession

$5,000 DONATED TO JEWISH RELIEF

Campaign Conducted On Behalf Of Jews At Home And Abroad

Approximately $5,000 has thus far been subscribed in the campaign instituted by members of Congregation B'Nai Israel to raise funds on behalf of the United Jewish Charities, it was announced Saturday by Clifford Strauss, chairman of the campaign committee. Another $1,000 is expected to be subscribed from contributors throughout the fifth congressional district.

The money is to be used for the relief of European Jews and various charitable institutions in the United States. Rabbi F. K. Hirsch is secretary of the campaign committee.

The campaign has been in progress for the past week, and has been conducted without fanfare of any kind, it was stated by the committee officers, and the results thus far have been highly gratifying to those in charge. In a statement issued Saturday Rabbi Hirsch said:

"There has been no solicitation for funds among non-Jews, but a number have voluntarily sent in subscriptions, which are and will be gratefully received. It is hoped that within the next few days that allocation of the funds will begin.

"Although economic conditions at present are not conducive to such a campaign the tragic condition of thousands in Germany and Austria have greatly effected the success attained.

CLEARING HOUSE GROUP GATHERS

Representatives Present From Numerous Banks In Monroe District

The annual spring meeting of the First Regional Clearing House association of Louisiana, northeast Louisiana division of the Louisiana Bankers' association, met at Hotel Virginia Friday afternoon and night. Officers who were elected at the banquet are the following: Ben Downing, Monroe, president; Fred Falkenheimer, Vidalia, vice-president; W. F. Prickett, Winnsboro, secretary-treasurer.

The afternoon session, held in the Cameo room of the hotel, was featured by an address delivered by Norris Williamson, of Lake Providence, who disagreed with the present agricultural law and said that farmers generally did not approve it but voted for it as they were at a loss as to what else to do. He urged that the farmers be paid government subsidies sufficient to support agriculture. He called attention to the fact that protective tariffs protect other industries but not that which comprises the growing of cotton.

Tom Standifer, Monroe banker, discussed "Service Charges," bringing out some salient features. There was an open discussion following the close of his talk.

A nominating committee was named which was instructed to report at the night banquet.

The banquet, which was attended by nearly 100 bankers and their families and friends, was held in the Hotel Virginia ballroom. Aside from the election of officers, the program included violin selections by Seymour H. Glazer and a toe dance number by Mrs. Winnie McCoy.

Many of the members, following the banquet, went to the Lakeside Country club as special guests of honor for a dance. Eighty-five couples attended this concluding feature of the day and were well pleased with the entertainment afforded.

Those present were:

New Orleans—John A. Bandi, National Bank of Commerce; George J. Bourg, White, Dunbar and company; C. E. Corrigan, Jr., Brown, Corrigan and company; W. D. Dunbar, White, Dunbar and company; L. T. Lancaster, Scharff and Jones; W. N. Louque, American Bank and Trust company; W. B. Machado, Hibernia National bank; P. L. McCay, Whitney National bank; C. G. Rives, Whitney National bank; W. W. INVESTIGATION OF TVA PLANNED AFTER IT COSTS U. S. 155 MILLION

Five Years Spent In Attempt To Remake Area As Large As England

MUCH WORK ON PROJECT REMAINS TO BE DONE

One Purpose To Save Water Of Tennessee River And Lands Alongside

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP)—The Tennessee Valley authority, now up for congressional investigation, has spent 155 million dollars in the five years it has been under mandate to remake an area as big as England.

President Roosevelt selected the valley of the Tennessee river for an experiment in national planning. Its great physical factor was the Tennessee river, largest tributary of the Ohio, which rises in the hills of east Tennessee and is a broad, meandering stream at Chattanooga before it dips into a great sweeping arc through northern Alabama and turns back sharply across west Tennessee to join the Ohio at Paducah, Ky.

In a state of nature it was subject to violent floods that tore away farm lands, menaced towns and cities and swelled high water crests of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. It all but dried up in periods of drouth, navigation stopped and power plants virtually shut down.

The president proposed as a national policy to "keep the waters in the rivers and the soil on the land," and in 1933 congress created TVA. It said funds would be forthcoming for as many years as necessary to build a

EDUCATOR HELD IN BIG GEM HOLDUP

Prominent Dallas Man Suspected In Huge Florida Jewelry Robbery

DALLAS, March 26.—(AP)—Howard H. Martin, 49-year-old bachelor school principal questioned in connection with a huge Florida jewel robbery, was released from jail today on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Criminal Court Judge Henry King.

The release came shortly after he was turned over to police by federal agents who decided the government had no case against him.

Hearing on the writ was set for Friday.

Martin had been questioned by the G-men after jewelry valued at $10,000 was found in his home.

Detective Lieutenant Luther Phillips, in charge of the burglary squad, informed Judge King Martin had signed a written statement for the federal agents.

The educator's nephew, Floyd Franklin Martin, ex-convict, was shot and killed Thursday at Boca Raton, Fla., by a policeman who reported he fired when he interrupted Martin in a burglary.

Charts describing jewels taken in two recent $90,000 Florida resort city robberies were received late today, but no attempt had been made by authorities to identify the jewelry found in the schoolman's home as part of the Florida loot.

Phillips said the federal agents

MAYOR SETS APRIL AS 'HOME IMPROVEMENT MONTH'

In harmony with Governor Richard W. Leche's program to encourage business and industrial activity throughout the state during the summer months, Mayor Harvey H. Benoit on Saturday issued a proclamation fixing the month of April as "Home Improvement month," and urged the citizens of Monroe to lend their full cooperation in the project by "making all needful and necessary repairs on their homes during the month."

The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the governor of Louisiana has instituted a program for the stimulation of business activities throughout the state during the summer months, and

"Whereas, Louisiana today presents the brightest picture of prosperity in the entire nation, and

"Whereas, such prosperity is due largely to the complete harmony existing between labor, industry and government, and

"Whereas, during the month of February all employers in the state of Louisiana were joined in an active campaign through the governor's committee for sustained employment to fortify Louisiana against the force of recession which was causing unfavorable business conditions in other parts of this country, and

"Whereas, thousands of employers responded to this movement with most encouraging and gratifying results, and

"Whereas, the success achieved by the governor's committee for sustained employment has proven conclusively that when business and government work hand in hand, confidence can be maintained and a continuous high purchasing power enjoyed by our people, and

"Whereas, it behooves all employes and the civic minded public of Louisiana to show their sincere appreciation by assisting in maintaining this employment level and fortify Louisiana against the force of recession through the use of their best efforts to stimulate the purchasing power in Louisiana, and

"Whereas, the city of Monroe is desirous of lending its full cooperation to the efforts of the governor to promote the interests of the people at large;

"Now, therefore, I, Harvey H. Benoit, mayor of the city of Monroe, in recognition of this worthy endeavor, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1938, to be 'Home Improvement month' and urge the citizens of Monroe to exert every effort toward the attainment of the goal set by the governor of the state by making all needful and necessary improvements on their homes during the month of April.

"In testimony whereof I have set my hand and the seal of the city of Monroe this 25th day of March, 1938.

(Signed) "HARVEY H. BENOIT,
"Mayor of Monroe."

DELINQUENT TAX NOTICES READY

Collector's Office Preparing Forms To Be Mailed In Parish April 1

Registered notices to be sent to delinquent taxpayers in Ouachita parish are now being prepared by the tax collector's office and will be mailed April 1, according to an announcement yesterday.

Approximately $100,000 of unpaid 1937 state and parish taxes is on the books at the present time, most of which is represented by small sums. Sheriff Milton Coverdale, ex-officio tax collector of Ouachita parish, urged all who are delinquent to pay these small amounts before April 1 and avoid the additional cost which will be imposed at that time in addition to the 10 per cent per annum on unpaid taxes which is now in effect.

Sheriff Coverdale pointed out there are many taxpayers who, because of the fact that their assessments are less than $1,000, do not owe any state and parish taxes for 1937 and these taxpayers are asked to call at the courthouse and receive their tax receipts.

Other taxpayers whose assessments are just over $1,000 and who owe only a few dollars in taxes are urged to settle their tax account before April 1 and escape the embarrassment of receiving registered notices notifying them of the fact that they are delinquent.

All taxpayers are entitled to exemption from taxes on the first $1,000 of assessed valuation on their properties in accordance with the homestead tax exemption law of the state. All property owners must apply for this tax exemption at the assessor's office in the courthouse and must do so before April 15 which is the deadline and after which the exemption is inop-

ETHEL BARRYMORE TRIUMPHING AGAIN

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—On the 111th anniversary of the year that her family made its stage debut in America, Ethel Barrymore is scoring a new triumph today on the Broadway she said she was quitting forever about two years ago.

Amid the cheers of critics and first night audience, she returned this week in the role of 101-year-old Granny Adeline in Mazo de la Roche's dramatization of her novel, "Whiteoaks of Jalna." Earlier this season she appeared in the brief run of Sidney Howard's drama, "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle," but now she springs up in a successful drama of the Jalna family.

Her face lined with the wrinkles of a centenarian, her eyes twinkling with mischievous understanding and tolerance of the younger generations, she rules with a chuckling, imperial manner this house of Jalna that is waiting for her to die so that they may inherit the fortune she controls.

Miss Barrymore's return to the stage again refutes her announcement of August, 1936, that she would never act again, but it is in line with her promise in 1931 that "I will always be an actress as long as I am able to walk on the stage."

And she returns just 44 years after she made her stage debut in 1894 as Julia in "The Rivals."

ADMINISTRATION ASKS CONGRESS TO PROVIDE BIG SUPPLY OF CASH

Favors Letting RFC Provide Long-Time Allowances To 'Little Men'

WOULD BE RESTRICTED ONLY BY ITS JUDGMENT

States, Municipalities And Other Public Agencies Also Included

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP)—The administration asked congress today to authorize a virtually unlimited program of government loans to business and a resumption of self-liquidating loans to public bodies.

The administration's proposal would enable the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make business loans on a long-term basis, meeting directly the complaint of many business men that such credits were not available.

The RFC would be given power also to buy securities of private corporations, opening the way for capital loans for expansion and new construction. Small business men have complained to the government that capital for those purposes was difficult to obtain except in large quantities.

Making public a letter from Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, requesting that the new authority be granted, Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, said he already had introduced legislation, designed to carry out the administration's recommendations.

Jones said in his letter that President Roosevelt had authorized him to make the request.

Under existing law the RFC is prohibited from making loans maturing later than January 31, 1945. The total of all private loans outstanding can

IDEALS BACK OF REFUGEE OFFER

Roosevelt Anxious To Impress World With Fairness Of Democracy

By Kirke L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP)—Behind Secretary Hull's move to organize international relief for oppressed minorities in dictator-ruled or civil war-ravaged sectors of the world lies a deeper concern than just how and where such refugees are to find havens of security.

Illuminated by President Roosevelt's press conference comments at Warm Springs, the American gesture takes on the character of a subtle and far-reaching international campaign to impress peoples with ideals of democracy. It is a bold counter-stroke in international politics at the ruthless philosophy of totalitarianism, whether Communist or Fascist.

And it seeks enlist the peaceful cooperation of all nations, where democratic ideals still flourish, behind a new enunciation of the doctrine that all men are born free and equal and are endowed with inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Beside this meaning, the question of practical results that can be reached through the proposed international commission for relief of oppressed minorities in Europe is of secondary importance. The mere cooperation of the nations invited to participate would be, in effect, a new condemnation by those states of the methods dictatorships in Germany, in Italy, in Russia or elsewhere have used to crush minority resistance.

In substance the Hull communication and the Roosevelt comment point out that American democracy was born to offer tolerance and shelter to harassed victims of religious and racial conflicts and economic rivalries

BATON ROUGE YOUTH BURNED TO DEATH

BATON ROUGE, La., March 26.—(AP)—Charles Babib, 17, who lived in a suburb, died in a local hospital this afternoon from burns he received when a traffic car he was driving collided headon with a bus of the Baton Rouge Electric company.

The accident took place just outside the city limits on the Plant road. The traffic car, a three-wheeled car driven by a motorcycle engine, burst into flames after the impact and the boy was fatally burned before he could be removed.

PROGRAM GIVEN FOR DEDICATION

Legal Symposia Scheduled In Connection With Leche Hall Event At L. S. U.

UNIVERSITY, La., March 26.—(Special)—Three symposia on problems of interest to the legal profession will be held in connection with the dedication of Leche hall, new law building of the Louisiana State university, it has been announced by Dr. James M. Smith, president of the university, through Dr. Paul M. Hebert of the L. S. U. law school.

The first of these, set for April 6, will deal with "Trends in Legal Education," with Professor Harold Shepherd of the University of Cincinnati law school, secretary of the Association of American Law Schools, presiding. Professor Elliott E. Cheatham of Columbia university law school will deliver a paper on "Trends in Legal Education" and Dean Claude H. Horack of Duke university law school will speak on "The Practitioner's Part in Legal Education."

On the following morning, the formal dedication ceremonies will be opened by President Smith of the university. Honorable Gaston L. Porterie, attorney general of Louisiana, will preside. Governor Richard W. Leche will make the formal presentation of the building to the faculty and students of the law school and the acceptance will be made by Dean Hebert. Representing the Association of American Law Schools, Professor Shepherd will bring greetings. Formal dedicatory addresses will be given by Hon. John B. Fournet, associate justice of the Louisiana supreme court and an alumnus of the L. S. U. law school, class of 1920, and by Dean Leon Green of Northwestern university law school.

On the afternoon of the 7th, at 3 o'clock a symposium on "Modern Trends in Procedural Reform" will be held.

"This program is of particular interest to practicing attorneys," says Dean Hebert. "Dean Charles E. Clark of the Yale law school, reporter for the committee on rules and procedure of the United States supreme court, will talk on 'The New Rules of Procedure for the Federal Courts,' and this talk will be followed by a paper on 'Trends in Procedural Law' by Professor Edson R. Sunderland of the University of Michigan," Dean Hebert further announces.

A dinner will be tendered delegates and guests at 7 p.m. on April 7, with Governor Leche presiding. Greetings on this occasion will be given by the following: from the law schools of Louisiana, by Dean James T. Conner of Loyola university school of law and Dean Paul W. Brosman of Tulane university college of law, from the law schools of the south by Dean Thomas C. Kimbrough of the University of Mississippi school of law. Other speakers on the program will be Judge J. Hugo Dore of the court of appeal of Louisiana, first circuit, and Honorable Joseph C. Hutcheson, Jr., judge of the United States court of appeals, fifth circuit.

The final symposium, which will consider "The Position of Civil Law in America," will be held on the afternoon of the 8th, with Chief Justice Charles A. O'Niell of the Louisiana supreme court presiding. Dean Emeritus Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school will deliver a paper on "The Influence of the Civil Law in America." This will be followed by an address by Judge E. Fabre-Surveyer of the superior court of the province of Quebec on "The Position of the Civil Law in Quebec." John H. Tucker, Jr., of the Shreveport bar will deliver a paper on "The Future of Civil Law in Louisiana."

TO AID IN DEDICATION

Included among the many prominent members of the legal profession who will aid in the dedication of Leche hall, new law building of the Louisiana State university, are (left to right, upper row) Professor Harold Shepherd of the University of Cincinnati college of law, secretary of the Association of American Law Schools; Professor Edson R. Sunderland of the University of Michigan law school; and Dean H. C. Horack of Duke university law school; and (left to right, lower row) John H. Tucker, Jr., of the Shreveport bar and Professor Elliott E. Cheatham of the Columbia university law school. The formal dedication of the building will take place at 10 a.m. on the morning of April 7.

JACK HARTFIELD'S INDICTMENT SOUGHT

JACKSON, Miss., March 26.—(AP)—District Attorney Hugh Gillespie said today the grand jury in May would be asked to return an indictment of murder against Jack Hartfield, 45-year-old state prison trusty held for the dance hall knife slaying of Ray Grant, 19, of Jackson.

Hartfield, who came to Jackson as the chauffeur of Prison Superintendent J. F. Thames Wednesday and joined another prison trusty and two ex-convicts in a round of revelry that night, was serving a life term for the murder of his wife 11 years ago.

Carl Bailey, 32-year-old local automobile mechanic and one of Hartfield's companions the night of the crime, had been released today under $250 bond pending arraignment on a drunk and disorderly charge. Sheriff John W. Roberts said he would recommend that Governor Hugh White revoke the indefinite suspension of Bailey's prison sentence for automobile theft.

JONESVILLE MAN KILLED IN FALL

ALEXANDRIA, La., March 26.—(AP)—The body of a man who jumped or fell to his death from the fourth floor of the bank building here today was identified as that of W. T. Sledge, 69, retired insurance man of Jonesville, La.

J. B. Smith, operator of a boarding house, said Sledge stayed at his establishment and had complained of ill health during the past two years.

Sledge is survived by his widow, two sons, Crawford Sledge, postoffice official of Galveston, Tex., and Thomas E. Sledge, drug store employe of Houston, Tex.

The rotary press was invented in 1850 by Thomas Nelson, an Englishman.

The boys and girls who are preparing themselves for church membership are asked to come to the church this evening at 6:30 and join the minister's class. The intermediate C. E. society will meet at 7 p.m. The senior C. E. society will meet at 6:45 p.m. in the church parlor. A special program is being arranged for this meeting. A guest speaker, Mr. Fred Williamson, has been invited to bring a message on war and peace. A discussion period will follow. Evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. There will be special music and good congregational singing. The sermon will be "The Struggle of the Soul." On Wednesday, March 30, a reception for the new members of the church will be held. This reception is sponsored by the teachers' and workers' council. Choir practice will be held Thursday evening at 7:30.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Corner Auburn Avenue and North Second Street

Sunday services 11 a.m., Sunday school 9:30 a.m., Wednesday evening testimony meetings 8 o'clock. Reading room, 709 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 27, 1938. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth: so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations." (Isa. 61). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual reality is the scientific fact in all things. The spiritual fact, repeated in the act of man and the whole universe, is harmonious and is the ideal of truth." (p. 207).

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Mid-Lent Sunday comes as a green oasis in a desert to a weary and thirsty traveler, as a day of rest and peace at home to tired men and women after weeks of absence and strain, and this mother church means it to be. Mothering Sunday it is called in England from the Epistle, and on this day children and grandchildren return to their old home and to their old parish church to keep the day. A special kind of cake is made all over England for it. We have been keeping Lent and are tired, perhaps discouraged, we long for refreshment and comfort and pray with all our hearts, "that we who for our evil deeds do worthily deserve to be punished by the comfort of Thy grace may mercifully be relieved," and the Epistle and the Gospel lift them to heavenly places. And so we are refreshed on this, Mothering Sunday, that we may be prepared to follow our Lord to Gethsemane and Calvary, and she bids us gather up the fragments that remain that nothing be lost. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m., preceded by Matins; and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Evensong will be said and sermon preached at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. Vespers and address in Grace church, Monroe, at 7:30 p.m. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
"The Church With The Lighted Steeple"
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister

"My house shall be filled with music, with song, with praise and prayer,
And the burdens of life shall be lifted from all who enter there."

We cordially invite you to our church home and to all the privileges of God's house. If not connected with any other congregation, we invite you to unite with us in worship and work. Sunday services are held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. For the sermon at the morning hour the minister has chosen the theme, "The Unfailing and Undiscouraged Christ." Every Wednesday evening an Aldersgate retreat is held at the church, which is claiming the attention of the officials of the church. A course of study on "Evangelism" is being pursued with most interesting discussions. If you are not attending these retreats, you are missing something worthwhile. Be here Wednesday evening. There will be no meeting of the Women's Missionary society on Tuesday as this is the fifth Tuesday of the month. The women's missionary conference will be held in Baton Rouge March 29-31. Delegates from our auxiliary will be Mesdames C. E. McKenzie, W. C. Scott, S. M. McReynolds and A. R. Holloway.

To attend church services is to become interested in the constructive issues of life. Every individual in the world at some time will turn their eyes toward the church of the living God, because the church is the only institution in the world which will be found ready at all times to help the unfortunate. Our civilization owes a great debt to the churches of our land. The very least possible service one can render to that institution is to attend its services. The pastor will continue a series of services leading up to the world's greatest tragedy the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, our Saviour. The subject for the morning worship will be "The Trap," for the evening worship, "The Sleepers." Special music will be under the direction of Mr. G. C. Williams, our choir director, assisted by a fine choir. Our Sunday school invites you to become a regular attendant. Mr. R. M. McClindon, our superintendent, has a class for every age and you will do well to come and bring the entire family. The Sunday school meets promptly at 9:45 a.m "The church with a welcome to every one."

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Here are some helpful sayings to think over through the coming Sabbath: "The prayer of faith is the only power in the universe to which the Great Jehovah yields." "Faith takes up the cross, love binds it to the soul, patience bears it to the end." "It is the influence of good men and women throughout the world today that is the saving grace of our country." "It is not what happens to us but what happens within us in times of stress that determines whether we are defeated or victorious." Men should "be strong and of good courage" these days. To "be strong in the Lord and the power of His might" affords one Divine protection, as well as strength of soul; for "we must all struggle if we would win" in this life—and in the life to come. Why not "try God," for His way is "the way of love." Love forgives, suffers, and serves. One could desire nothing greater. Worship with us Sunday. Sunday school 9:45 a.m., Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Morning subject: "The Powerful Presence of the Unseen." "The Mighty and the Almighty in the Human Heart" shall be used as a theme for the evening sermon. The young people's meetings are conducted at 6:30 p.m., Mr. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Alameda Brown and Mrs. Jack Lanier, sponsors. Mrs. E. L. Hoskins will sing at each of these services. W. M. S Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Midweek prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH

"Look to Jesus when sick." Read psalm 41:3, "The Lord will strengthen him upon the bed of languishing." God's promises are unfailing and eternal. "The gifts and calling of God are without repentance." On Calvary, Christ made provision to supply "every" need of the human being. Suffering is due to lack of faith or because we fail to accept His promises. The disciples prayed: "Lord increase our faith." May we follow the example. The Lord's day activities begin with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Miss Marguerite Perkings will direct the program. Evening service at 7:30. Circles will meet with Mrs. Blanche Crews, at 2704 Lee avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Choir practice Tuesday evening at 7:30. Midweek Bible study Thursday evening at 7:30. The 17th chapter of Revelation will be the evening lesson. We welcome all who will come our way.

Our church believes in the whole program of the whole church being supported by the whole membership. In order that the King's business may be carried on with efficiency let each one of us do his part by helping in the support of the church, both with means and attendance. This is the last Sabbath of the church year. If any of us, members of our communion, have not indicated the part of the budget to be taken, please act now. The Sabbath school attendance is satisfactory. Will you labor with us that our goal may be reached? The men's class meets in the Paramount theater; the other adult classes in the church buildings. The hour is 9:45 a.m. "A Spiritual Genius Speaks" and "Our Heavenly Citizenship and Its Peculiar Privilege" are the subjects of our sermons. For the sake of the reports to be sent to Presbytery the Saviour expects us to unite with His church and to prove our allegiance in liberality. The session will be glad to receive members at the close of divine worship or at 10:45 a.m. The mission of our church is spiritual. Our aim is to present the Christ as Redeemer, to enrich the believers, and to strengthen the will to face the issues of life. A cordial welcome awaits all who may come our way.

Do You Want A Baby?

IT is a well known fact that "Complete unity and happiness in married life is brought by babies," and that lack of children in the home is one of the greatest causes for discontented marriages. Also that every woman was intended for Motherhood, but too often she is underdeveloped or suffering with functional female disorders which rob her of this normal desire. During an experience of more than 36 years specializing in conditions peculiar to women, I developed a simple home method which has brought new hope, health and happiness to thousands.

MANY WHO HAD BEEN CHILDLESS for YEARS BECAME PROUD and HAPPY MOTHERS. Husbands have written me the most glowing letters of gratitude and now I want every woman who is run-down or suffering from functional female disorders to learn about this splendid method and how she may use it in the privacy of her own home.

Get This Knowledge FREE

I have printed an illustrated comprehensive Treatise on the merits of this method in which I intimately discuss many important subjects relating to the female organs that are vitally interesting to every woman. They tell how you too may combat your troubles as thousands of others have who reported the arrival of babies after being childless for years and even been told they could never have children. So often again women may enjoy the desires and activities of Nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, fully developed, vigorous woman. I will gladly send this important information postpaid free. CAN NOT ATTEND GIRL'S FUNERAL

Youthful Slayer, In Jail Pleads For Last Look At Sweetheart

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old Donald Carroll pleaded in his jail cell today for permission to attend the funeral tomorrow of the sweetheart he is accused of slaying in an unfulfilled suicide pact.

"No matter what happens to me, I want to see her once more," he said.

The request was not granted.

The victim of a youthful romance that grew terrifyingly out of bounds in the knowledge of expectant motherhood was Charlotte Matthiesen, 18, a stenographer. Her body, with a bullet hole through the heart, will be cremated.

Meanwhile, as Defense Attorney Sidney Rosenthal planned an attempt to save young Carroll from the electric chair, the boy's grandfather, Dr. Robert C. Carroll, a noted psychiatrist of Asheville, N. C., was reported en route to New York to "help in any way I can."

Rosenthal quoted the dead girl's parents as saying they felt no bitterness toward the confessed slayer of their daughter.

"If we had only known what was happening, they could have been married," the mother said. "I love this boy as one of my own. We will try to help him as though he were our own son."

The father, Fred Matthiesen, said gently: "Donald could not have been himself when he did this thing. Harming the boy will not bring my girl back. I want no vengeance."

The parents of the young lovers will ride together to the funeral tomorrow, Rosenthal said.

Closely guarded, young Carroll stared dejectedly today at newspaper photographs of his dead sweetheart.

District Attorney Charles Sullivan of Queens county said he would ask for a first degree murder indictment when the county grand jury meets next week.

LEGION'S FUND FOR TRUCK GAINS

Amount Subscribed Now $850; Expect To Raise Total Shortly

Approximately $850 has now been subscribed toward the purchase of a new American Legion emergency truck to replace the present one which has become almost obsolete. The sum of approximately $100 has been subscribed the past week, coming from the Lions club of Winnsboro; the Coca-Cola Bottling company of Monroe, and the Interstate Natural Gas company.

A total of $1,500 is required and it is expected that the balance needed will be raised within the next week's time, stated C. B. Braun, adjutant of the L. B. Faulk post, chairman of the committee in charge of raising the subscriptions.

The local truck has achieved a nation-wide reputation, many other posts of the country having initiated similar movements after they have learned of the widespread usefulness of the local truck.

Mr. Braun stated that he expects no difficulty whatever in securing the funds needed.

OPEN DOOR FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Open the door and make way for a little fellow who can spend his play hours on crutches and still smile.

This lad, one of thousands in the country who haven't received quite an even break physically, is coming in from a rather restrained romp to spend a little time with his books at a school for crippled children. It's time for geography and arithmetic.

You don't get that confident smile he is displaying from spending months in bed and looking forward to many more months on crutches. You don't get it from knowing the other kids are out playing baseball.

You get it from such simple things as the sun above and the flowers blooming outside the door and from the knowledge that someone cares and is doing something to help you along.

Thousands of youngsters, starting out with crippled bodies, can tell you of the multitude of things which are being done to give them a better life. Thousands more are yet to be reached.

First there must be adequate facilities for treating the children and adults to give them the maximum use of their crippled muscles. There must be education—impossible through normal channels. Adults require the aid of professional workers who can help in rehabilitation and vocational programs. Children need special education and helping hands to adjust them socially.

This is the season to help—the season when the brightly colored seals of the International Society for Crippled Children and its state and local affiliates go on sale.

The seals carry the message to all parts of the country. They provide money for carrying on this vital work, for interesting others in its accomplishment. The 1938 seals, bearing the slogan, "A Better Life for Crippled Children," go on sale here April 1.

Pioneer Postmaster At Eros Tells Of Early Days

Back in 1898, a little settlement had sprung up in Jackson parish barely a stone's throw over the Ouachita parish line. An embryo community came into being and when a name was sought for the little postoffice located in a miniature general store operated by Samuel W. Collins, who also for years was Jackson parish engineer, his wife decided that it be named Eros. She had made a careful study of a new planet that at the time was being given much publicity in the press. The name had a romantic fascination for her. The postoffice accordingly was so named.

More people settled in the vicinity and in 1900, Mr. Collins was called upon to oversee cutting the right of way for the new railroad, the Tremont and Gulf, that was built through the piney woods to connect with the old V. S. and P. railway linking Monroe and Shreveport. With the coming of the railroad, the Tremont Lumber company was established at Eros, growing from the outset by leaps and bounds.

In a comparatively short time, three shifts were working and the large mill assumed expansive industrial importance. Eros thrived. The original little postoffice was all too small and it was moved "down into town." On May 16, 1900, Miss Pearl Collins, daughter of Samuel W. Collins, termed the real "daddy" of the new town, received her commission as postmaster.

The town by this time boasted three churches, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian. There was a substantial school building erected, and a hotel and numerous boarding houses were constructed. A bank was organized and a newspaper established, called "The Plaindealer."

The town numbered such stalwart pioneer residents besides the Collins family, in which there were two other daughters besides Miss Pearl, as the Joiners, the Stuckeys, Clampitts, Cockrells and many others whose names are well known hereabouts today.

Miss Pearl Collins, now living in West Monroe, the past week with a News-Star—World reporter, in fancy lived over those earlier days.

As the town grew it ultimately had in town and its immediate environs approximately 2,000 people, all of whom got their mail from the Eros postoffice. Three rural routes were served. Workmen in the mill were largely from the north and their remittances on pay days to their families back home were large. Miss Collins said that she often had as much as $2,000 in cash in a day's money order business.

"I wasn't allowed to patronize the local bank so I put the cash in tin boxes and took it to my nearby home over night," she said. "Then I sent it to the banks either the Hibernia in New Orleans or the Commercial in Shreveport. I was never held up, the office was never robbed and I never lost a cent in all the time I was postmaster," she said.

In the matter of securing postal supplies she was compelled to fall back on the postoffice at Jonesboro, newly-named parish seat supplanting Vernon. Sometimes this was inconvenient owing to delay in communications.

The volume of business gained and the office was advanced from fourth to third class rating.

Reverting again to her past record, Miss Collins, with pardonable pride said: "While I never lost a dime, there wasn't a single dime due me or due the government against me when I quit.

"Several times I was told I had better become a Republican as Taft was coming into office soon and that I might lose out. I told them all, I'm just what I am and no ammer. I was born a Democrat and I guess I'll always have to be one." Miss Collins held office until duties got so hard she voluntarily gave up her work as postmaster November 1, 1918, just before the war closed. She recommended her successor, Miss Vera Canady, who has been postmaster ever since.

Upon leaving the postoffice, Miss Pearl erected a substantial home for her mother and herself on the old farm near Eros. There they lived for some years till they removed to West Monroe where Miss Collins now resides at 512 North Fourth street.

Again becoming reminiscent, Miss Collins told a reporter of the big event of the day in Eros in boom times when the two trains arrived, one in each direction. The one that carried the Shreveport Times was specially welcome. The supply of papers, about 100, was quickly exhausted by a single trip of a newsboy down the main street.

Supplies of food, furniture and the like were brought from Monroe. Two sturdy mules drove the family here through the mud up and down hills. The 25-mile trip took the better part of a day. Of course a night was spent before the return was completed, in striking contrast to the present half hour trip over the paved highways.

Disaster laid a heavy hand on Eros in 1922. A tornado swept a wide path through the town, demolishing the Baptist church, postoffice and school building. These were later rebuilt as were most of the residences razed by the storm.

But Eros was never the same gay, care free town. The end of the timber in the vicinity was near. Less and less men were employed. Then one day the blow fell. The mill would be dismantled and removed to Rochelle.

People moved out in large numbers; the bank closed, the newspaper suspended; hotels and boarding houses were emptied. The population dropped and the place soon resembled a "ghost town" of the far west.

In recent years, however, scientific agriculture is being studied and truck raising is making strides. Many who still live in Eros are hopeful that it will again come back, assuming some of its old time importance.

Miss Collins, a well preserved, vigorous woman in her mid-sixties, declared she longs for the olds days. She is still fond of Eros and says there are mighty fine people there despite the somewhat unsavory name it received a few years ago when a feud raged and caused several killings in close sequence.

As springtime comes, Miss Collins is eager each year to get away from town and go back to the farm or to a postoffice. She feels she just ought to do something useful. Her pent up energies render her eager to carry on a fairly large share of the world's work. Several nieces drop in on her often. But ever and anon her mind wanders back over the hills to Eros. Some day she may yet go back there to live.

The Value Of Time

"You have a world of time, my boy." "What's the hurry? You've a lifetime ahead of you." "We are all rich in golden time." "I'll do it tomorrow." "Some day I am going to learn French." "I think some time I'm going to learn astronomy."

Thus do words, spoken in quiet and calm, belie the tragic fire that burns up the forest of our days.

One of the world's greatest misconceptions is that we are rich in time. Who can be rich in an ever-ebbing asset? Rather, we are poor in time. Of all the eternities a meager bit is assigned to each of us. Fifty years, or sixty, or eighty . . . a mere pittance out of the deep well of forever.

Nothing can be done about time past. But today—now—at this moment—you are on the threshold of a future about which almost anything can be done. Life begins not at forty, but when you make it begin. It begins when you begin to spend time—your birthright—wisely for what it will bring.

Unless you have used time well, you cannot appraise its worth. You must ask the man or woman of its worth, whose heart beats weakly, or on whose shoulders the hand of age has laid heavily. Such—and they alone—are qualified to tell you what is the worth of time. Who else has watched its scant supply ebb like moments mad in a crazy clock?

The sorry fact is that those who have most need to appreciate its worth have the least idea of its value. If a starving man knows no place where a dollar may be well spent, what is it worth? The idler—the youth with possibilities—the mature person who could grow into some semblance of greatness—if they be wasters of time, they may never learn what they have lost.

But once let an individual—you—haul in a rich exchange for hours doled out well and wisely, and time, the little estate with which we all are born, is a source of wealth—one kind or another—never again to be neglected.

The value of time is the value you put upon it. And it is yours to tell hour by hour for the return you seek—idleness, drifting, indifference—or education, growth, development no end!

TAXING DIESEL VEHICLES

An enthusiast, referring to Diesel power passenger cars says: "Some day we'll drive to a station, ask for 10 gallons of fuel, hand the attendant $1, receive about 20 cents change and be all set for a trip of 300 miles."

So much for the cost of the fuel, but politicians in most states have already awakened to the fact that Diesel engines furnish a hitherto untapped source of license or tax money. Their general attitude is that Diesel-powered transportation units "burn up" more miles of state highways per gallon of cheaper fuel than the gasoline units, and consequently each gallon of Diesel fuel should be subject to a tax greater than that imposed on each gallon of gasoline.

Utah has gone so far as to impose an operating tax on Diesel vehicles using state highways to the amount of 1 1-2 cents per operating mile! This is done in place of taxing each gallon consumed.

It is generally expected that Diesel vehicles should pay their just share of highway maintenance; however, it appears the operators of Diesel vehicles had better not count on keeping all the savings. The politicians want them, too!

PERILS OF THE CITY

When you go to New York to visit the World's fair at Flushing, you may come home with a few gold bricks or a deed to the Empire State building, but you won't have your pockets picked if the state legislature at Albany has anything to do with it.

Of course, in their zeal the state senators may have made New York a little unsafe for sightseers when they unanimously voted that the act of "jostling" which accompanies the act of picking a pocket should be a misdemeanor carrying a jail sentence up to three years.

Just what will happen when you stroll down Broadway, bump into a stranger and he cries "jostle," we don't know. You can explain that you were fascinated by the animated cigaret ad. Or tell the officer that you had your hands in your own pockets. Maybe they'll be lenient with you.

Or, if you want an airtight alibi to bump into whom you please, you can wear boxing bloves.

GOOD BARGAIN

Signing of the trade pact between the United States and Czechoslovakia finds much favor in both countries. Limitation of concessions on shoe imports to the United States appeased the only real American opposition.

To little Czechoslovakia the treaty brings tariff benefits covering 55 per cent of the exports to the United States. To the Czechs this enlarged market means as much as a rich customer means to a very small store.

The great majority of Americans are glad to help this "island of democracy in a sea of autocracy." Czechoslovakia is the last of the central European democracies born in the brain of Woodrow Wilson and set up in an attempt to solve the nationality and race difficulties of that part of Europe. Its constitution and its government were modeled after the American plan, and it is good that the United States can do its bit toward preserving the status quo in Czechoslovakia.

RHYME AND REASON

By ANNE CAMPBELL

GROWING OLD

We will be glad as we grow old,
Grateful for every added day,
Seeing the sunset's friendly gold,
Shutting our eyes to clouds of gray.
We cannot stop the flight of years,
Though we may mourn their hurrying.
Through every cloud the sun appears.
Winter is but a path to spring.

Who knows what high adventure lies
Back of that final hour of peace,
When sorrow drops from mortal eyes,
And the long dreaming finds release.
Joy will send beams of sunlight still,
Dancing through hours we cannot hold.
There will be light upon the hill
As hand in hand we two grow old.

A LOT OF SENSE

By BRUCE CATTON

The presence of that red-headed Irishman at the court of St. James makes a lot of Americans feel better about their country's chance for peace. Joe Kennedy gives signs of being the ambassador that the United States has needed for a long time. That first speech was simple, it was straightforward, it was sensible. If Great Britain—or any other country—gets funny ideas about how the average American looks at the world scene, it won't be Joe Kennedy's fault.

It was good to read in Kennedy's speech such passages as these:

"Most Americans insist that their country retain its independent and unmortgaged judgment as to the merits of world crises as and when they arise."

"Where the present interests of Great Britain and the United States meet is in the prevention of this generally feared world war."

"If the nations should again become engulfed in the cataclysm of a general war, we should make ourselves very strong and then pursue whatever course we considered to be best for the United States."

"Best for the United States"—that's putting it the way it ought to be put and leaving room for no misinterpretation. Joe Kennedy is a plain-speaking man. He wants the position of his country to be understood. He said that two ideas were wrong. One was that the United States wouldn't fight under any circumstances short of actual invasion, and the other was that the United States could never remain neutral in the event of a general war. When Kennedy says that the great majority of the American people prefer the middle ground he is right. The American people believe that keeping to such a course is the surest way to keep out of war.

Joe Kennedy will be no errand boy at St. James. He will lick no boots. And the British should like him and respect him for those reasons. They received his speech enthusiastically, even when he frankly warned that the United States would go whichever way seemed best to the United States.

Kennedy said that Americans refuse to believe in the inevitability of war. That is true. The American outlook is not fatalistic. Neither is it foolish. Americans know that there is a good chance that most of the big nations of the world will be at one another's throats—and soon. But with men like Joe Kennedy in the important posts in the foreign service, a great many Americans feel that their nation is a great deal less likely to mix in the bloody mess. They remember all too well Ambassador Page's maneuverings prior to America's entrance into the World war. Many of them still blame Page. And the great majority of them hope that Joe Kennedy won't make the same mistakes.

A BOOK REVIEW

'THE HOBBIT' CERTAIN TO DELIGHT CHILDREN

From the day of the first fairy tale, fantasy and wizardry have held wide space in the heart of the 8-to-11-year-old—as well as his elders. "The Hobbit," by J. R. R. Tokein, satisfies full requirements in this class.

Mr. Bilbo Baggins, the hobbit, "bigger than a Lilliputian but smaller than a dwarf," goes on a 250-page pilgrimage with the dwarf king, Thorin, and his followers, to retrieve a treasure stolen by the dragon. For half a year they battle against such sinister creatures as trolls, wicked goblins, dwarf-hungry spiders and elves, on their way to the lonely mountain.

The Hobbit is humorous and original; and packed from cover to cover with hair-raising thrills and magic.

News to little "Nicodemus" lovers is the release of another of Inez Hogan's small books about the little colored boy and his sprightly companion, Petunia. In "Nicodemus and His New Shoes," the boy, the girl, the new shoes and baby sister get all mixed up in a mud puddle.

An exceptionally lovely book is "The King's Daughters," by Lady Cynthia Asquith, an intimate account of the two English princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. This new study of their life, character, and their tastes—which parallel those of all 7 and 11-year-old girls—is designed for the attention of older children and adults. Yet the favorite games, books, dolls, Princess Elizabeth's lessons and Princess Margaret's charming friendship with the late Sir James Barrie, will bear retelling to children of any age.

Interesting activity books are "Fun With Boxes," by John F. Leeming, and "The Home Toy Shop," by Nina R. Jordan. Both of these show how to get entertainment and practical results from odds and ends around the house. Another, "Drawing on Scratch Board for Beginners," by William Kermode, presents a little-known medium to enterprising young artists.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE ANGEL MORONI on the Tabernacle of the Latter-Day Saints in Lake City holds a huge golden trumpet. On a peaceful Sabbath day in America he was silently calling to the faithful. Multitudes were listening to a national broadcast of sacred music by the great Tabernacle choir. Suddenly there came a curious interruption. A cool, clipped, precise radio voice said: "We transfer our hearers to Graz, Austria, where Adolf Hitler is speaking."

No angelic choiring here. Instead, the drum-beat accents of war—"Ein Reich! Ein Volk! Ein Fuehrer!" And like a tribal drum beat, too, was the antiphon of the great audience, "Heil Sieg! Heil Sieg!" H. G. Wells' Mr. Britling didn't see it quite all the way through. He, too, puttering in his garden in the best possible of all worlds, found his tidy little cosmos a "reed shaken in the wind." Those Sabbath listeners must have felt a good deal like little Mr. Britling when there came out of the ether that warlike roar from the vast throng in Austria.

THE INTERRUPTION of a divine service by the cry of a war-inflamed multitude makes one wonder if civilization can really be saved from the hatred and madness which is now engulfing the world? If so, it must be done by forbearance, tolerance and faith in the America we know and believe in.

Personally, I felt a renewed belief in this nation and its destiny. I feel sure that all who heard that ominous broadcast will be drawn closer together, not in a counter-assertion of hate, but to "overcome evil with good." That seems to be about all one could say about it.

My correspondent might well have in mind the America that the late Odd McIntyre knew, understood, loved and wrote about. In the current issue of the Cosmopolitan magazine, there begins the life story of Odd McIntyre, written by his friend and editor, Charles B. Driscoll.

AMONG BIG-CITY journalists, Odd was the Columbus who really discovered America. William Allen White once said, facetiously perhaps, that New York City wasn't really a part of America. Odd knew better. He knew that Gallipolis and Manhattan were sisters under the skin. He was rewarded with more readers than any other writer ever had in his own lifetime—104,000,000 according to Mr. Driscoll—and every line he wrote was friendly, genial, shrewd human observation; never hate or malice. And never in all the years of his writing was a pencil laid on any of his copy.

That story of traditional American freedom of expression which made Odd McIntyre one of the best-loved and most widely read of all writers may well be pondered by those who observe what is happening to human freedom elsewhere. There can be no Odd McIntyres in a goose-step millenium. Mr. Driscoll begins an enthralling life story, and if I had my way I would put it into the public schools.

AND HERE'S ANOTHER counter-irritant to depressing world news—trivial to be sure, but significant. At Sixth avenue and Fourteenth street the other day I saw a pretty girl, nicely dressed, carrying a sandwich sign for a photographer's studio. The thought came to me that things must be very wrong indeed when such a girl has to take this kind of job. I stopped and spoke to her.

Her father, who was dead, had been a civil engineer. She had gone through high school. She had to support her mother and sister. She took a secretarial course, but found the town overflowing with stenographers.

"Then," she said, "I got this job, and I like it. I don't feel like a menial, and I don't care whether I am or not. We can live on what I make. People are friendly and interested, and I bring lots of sitters to the studio. I have two hours' free time every day in which I am learning photography."

That may sound like Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, who advised the poor to be patient and humble. I don't think it's that so much as the fact that there is a great reserve of intelligence and courage in the youth of this country, which will enable it to keep its feet and to find its way in a darkening world.

SIG SPAETH, the music-master, has shown how even the greatest musicians snitch a bar or two from each other. Nobody minds, because these are the bricks which make musical structure, and there is no reason why they shouldn't be repeatedly used. But here's a hullaballoo in Detroit, a radio program suddenly cut off because Tommy Dorsey's band hopped up "Loch Lomond" with a dash of swing.

I suppose we're all for keeping the founts of music clear and undefiled, but I do believe this tendency to call for a cop on slight provocation should be discouraged. We still have a grand and glorious free-for-all in this country in arts, politics and sports, the only one left in the world, and my idea is that we ought to be mighty cagey about censorship—even when it appears to have high aesthetic sanctions, as it probably had in this case. It is observable that the really good offering is a socco and the shoddy one a floppo in the long run. Why not let it go at that?

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

RISING near the Gulf coast of Mexico and running down nearly to Vera Cruz is a lofty range of mountains, really a continuation of the eastern belt of the Rockies. And topping this range, southwest of Mexico City, are three mighty but dormant volcanoes: Popocatepetl, 17,888 feet; Ixtaccihuatl, 17,343, and Orizaba, 18,209 feet in altitude.

The Aztecs used to call Orizaba "star mountain" or Citaltepetl because of its extreme height. And certainly they were not far wrong for the mountain is the highest in all Mexico and the second highest in North America. Its upper timber line is about 13,500 feet above sea-level and explorers found patches of apparently permanent snow at an elevation of 14,400 feet on its southeast side in 1902.

The first ascent of Mt. Orizaba was made by the Reynolds and Maynard expedition in 1848. Its last eruptive period was 1545-66 and the volcano is now generally considered to be extinct. Nevertheless it grows as a national favorite in Mexico and does command magnificent scenery. Portrayed occasionally on Mexican postage stamps, Mt. Orizaba is shown below on a 1934 airmail stamp. Its two massive neighbors are shown on an issue of the same year.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

A spasm is any sudden convulsive contraction of a muscle that occurs without any indication on the part of the person affected. Almost every one has suffered at one time or another with a spasm. For instance, sudden chilling of the body after swimming may bring about a spasm of the muscles. In certain conditions in which there is hardening of the arteries with a diminishing of the circulation to portions of the body there may be sudden involuntary contractions of the muscles in those portions.

Sometimes the contraction of a muscle may be so sudden and severe as actually to bring about pain. If the person will rest for a few minutes or more, he then finds that he is able to walk again, but later another attack may force him to stop again.

In some cases there are serious conditions inside the nervous system which result in spasms that repeat themselves again and again and which go on for so long a time that they actually constitute a definite disease.

Spasms are not to be confused with what are called tics. These are spasms which occur as a result of a habit. The spasms here considered are instead the result of definite changes in the nerves, muscles and blood supply.

Among the most common of all spasms are those affecting the face. This is probably due to the fact that the muscles of the face are easily movable and also due to the fact that they are affected easily by many different emotions or activities.

These spasms of the facial muscles may be sudden and, in fact, pass so quickly that they are like a streak of lightning. Sometimes they may affect only the little muscles around the eye. Occasionally, however, they may affect the large muscles of the jaw or one entire side of the face.

This type of spasm seldom affects children. It usually begins after the age of 25 and affects women more often than men.

There are so many different causes of these spasms that it is hardly worth while to list them. That fact, however, makes it desirable in each instance to have a sufficiently extensive study of the case so that treatment may be applied to the specific cause.

If the cause can be located in the infection of the teeth, disease of the sinuses or some growth affecting the bones or nerves of the face, it can be eliminated. If, however, it cannot be located easily, it is still possible to bring about relief by the use of various drugs which tend to lessen the sensitivity.

It is possible also by surgical operations or by injections of various substances to block the nerves that are involved and thus to bring about relief from the most serious of the symptoms.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—The concentratio of interest on the forthcoming primaries and elections which lately ha been shown by Mr. Roosevelt and hi friends is partly traceable to a fea that 1938, rather than 1940, may tur out to be the last stand of the Ne Deal.

If F. D. R. is to control the Democratic party when it undertakes t nominate his successor more than tw years hence he is going to need something that can be hailed as a persona victory next November.

To achieve that, he must identif himself with the campaign throug certain definite issues. Moreover, h must assure the return to office o "loyal New Dealers" in congress and if possible, the defeat of conservativ Democrats who have fought Roosevelt policies.

A year ago, when the battle ove the supreme court reorganization pla was on, there was plenty of talk abou punishment and reprisal. Roosevel himself inspired much of it. But th voters who had returned him to offic in 1936 never did get excited abou that issue and the president learne to his disappointment that he couldn' get them to punish senators simpl because he resented their disagreement with him on that one point. A one time he had been almost convinced that any senator who oppose him on the court issue was committing political suicide.

Has Its Hands Full

Until quite lately it seemed tha the administration, far from being i a position to inflict reprisals on anyone for desertion on the court an other issues, would have its hands ful in merely trying to save the skins o the faithful.

Specific endorsements of Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, Claud Pepper of Florida and Ryan Duffy o Wisconsin—all in spite of solemn assurances that the White House "a usual" was keeping its hands off th primaries—tended to emphasize th impression that the New Deal was o the defensive.

There was a period of moaning an gnashing of teeth over the paucity o strong New Dealism candidates wh might have a chance of beating suc senators as Clark of Missouri, Adam of Colorado, Lonergan of Connecticu McCarran of Nevada, Smith of Sout Carolina and Tydings of Maryland—all up again this year.

The situation actually hasn' changed much, but it is apparent tha Roosevelt is out to do everything h possibly can to see that it does. Th first overt move was the announcement by Congressman Otha Wearin o Iowa from the White House steps tha he would seek the senatorial seat o Guy M. Gillette. Wearin is a progressive, a liberal, a New Dealer. Gillett is considered an anti-New Dealer.

See Nothing To Lose

New Dealers in the administratio have been telling Roosevelt that h has nothing to lose by making th strongest possible effort to reward hi friends and punish his enemies thi year. Delicately, they have sought t convince him that he has lost a grea deal already.

His prestige has diminished, if no his popularity, and his power ha waned to a point where he can't control congress and doesn't try. A depression has wiped off 75 per cent o more of the New Deal recovery, at th same time weakening the politica strength of Roosevelt's allies in th labor movement.

Efforts to build up Solicitor Genera Robert H. Jackson for governor o New York and as a presidential possibility haven't been very successful The Democratic party machinery i largely in the hands of men who hav no great sympathy with Roosevelt' policies and objectives.

President Still Aggressive

Under the circumstances it has no been difficult to convince Roosevel that the situation demands a certai amount of aggressiveness on his par if he is to be the important force i 1940 which he desires to be. His recen and subsequent public statement should be taken as intended to influence the political and business situations, rather than as efforts to impres congress.

It isn't easy to forecast the degre of success the president will have i the effort to retain political leadership. He may even find his opponent so strong that he will feel compelled to "join 'em."

LEGION PLANS LECTURES HERE

General Smedley Butler To Give Talk; Crippled Clinics Proposed

At a meeting of the past commanders and adjutants club of the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion, held in Hotel Frances Thursday night, a dutch treat supper was served and business transacted. It was decided to further an educational program by bringing to Monroe outstanding men to lecture before the Monroe public. W. C. Oliver was elected chairman, and C. B. Braun secretary for the coming year.

Major General Smedley D. Butler, of the United States marine corps during the World war, is under contract with the legion to appear here in October for a lecture. Richard Halliburton has been secured for a return engagement in January. He is now leaving on a trip to China and on his return will appear here under the auspices of the legion post.

Plans for furthering crippled children's clinics in the fifth district were discussed. The first clinic will be held in St. Joseph April 15. Dr. C. L. Mengis, Sam Rubin and S. E. Dodd, working in conjunction with the Forty and Eight, will be in charge.

Dr. Scott Hamilton has offered his services to the legion in conducting these clinics and will be the specialist in charge. The state board of health is furnishing a trained nurse to aid parents in the proper care of infantile paralysis cases. The American Legion post at St. Joseph has allocated a fund of several hundred dollars to be used in buying needed supplies after the children have been examined by Dr. Hamilton. A surgical supply house in Shreveport has agreed to send a representative to the clinics to measure and fit such braces as are needed by children. All who can be helped by hospitalization will be sent to such institutions if possible.

The plan contemplates carrying out this program of holding clinics one in each parish weekly until the entire fifth district has been covered.

T. E. Hampton, of the state rehabilitation office, will attend the clinics to aid in any possible manner. His efforts will be exerted to placing patients in positions or in training for work that is calculated to make them self-supporting.

Recent dances held by the Forty and Eight have been a source of raising money required to carry out this program and additional benefit events will be held shortly.

The Forty and Eight, at a recent meeting, expressed its thanks for the cooperation of Monroe citizens in aiding this program.

Those present at the meeting were Dr. R. L. Wood, Cecil Atkins, W. H. Thompson, C. K. Crandall, J. W. Keene, C. B. Braun, Ed Apperson, W. C. Oliver, Isador Liebreich, Charles M. Mitchell, Dr. P. M. Gayle, Dr. C. L. Mengis, H. Flood Madison and S. E. Dodd.

JILL

BY MARY RAYMOND

Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I

"Silly of me not to have cabled," Jill Wentworth decided.

She was one of a gay crowd that had surged down the gangplank, onto the docks, and out into the sunshine—a crossing from Europe just behind.

During the year of study and travel she had not felt even one little twinge of nostalgia, she thought. And now, here on home soil, she was definitely, terribly homesick. In all the big crowd milling about her—kissing, patting, shaking hands or rapturously hugging—there was not one welcome for her.

A red cap stacked her baggage down beside her and made off with a generous tip, while Jill stood casting bewildered looks about her. Surely, Davis, the chauffeur, should be arriving by now, anyway, very apologetic about the delay.

Other luggage was being piled near the curb as shining motors and taxis contested for vantage positions.

In the jumble of travel impedimenta, Jill saw her own smart luggage rubbing noses with several shabby bags, which bore, nevertheless, as many foreign stamps as her own.

Not far away the owner of these was arguing with a porter. The young man appeared much concerned about one very large and battered case. There was a belligerent squaring of his shoulders. And then Jill gasped. The young man turned. It couldn't be. . . . But it was, the same young artist who had persisted in cropping up in her pathway over all Europe.

But how had he reached the United States at the very moment of her own arrival? He couldn't have come over on the same ship. If he had, she couldn't have missed him.

Jill's speculations were cut short. A taxi swung into place at the curb. "Taxi, miss?"

Jill gave another hasty glance around. Where was her family? Evidently no one was meeting her. Even at this hour.

"That one, that one. All those with the broad green stripes. That one and the hat box." Gracious, how many bags had she brought beside her trunks?

There was a step beside her. "And this one," said a voice.

The young artist was standing beside her with his hat off, the wind ruffling his wavy, light brown hair.

"I'm sorry, but isn't this your bag, also?" he queried again.

"Yes—but how?"

The young man smiled a little. "I didn't have a very discriminating red cap. He should have realized that a smart suitcase didn't match the rest of my luggage. I assure you that I don't, as a rule, go about grabbing off other people's things."

The smile revealed even white teeth and brought a humorous light to his eyes. He was much nicer in this mood, Jill decided. Every time she had seen him in Europe, he had seemed in a perfect frenzy.

She had decided that he had painted all Europe. It had been ridiculous—running into him in three widely separated places. And she had never forgiven him for not really seeing her any of those times.

If he didn't remember, that was worse than being rude. He should be punished. Jill proceeded to punish.

"It's quite all right," she said. "I can understand how the mistake occurred, with our luggage so stuck-up with stamps. I got my stickers at a funny little shop where they sell them wholesale to people who want to spend all their time in Paris, yet who also want to dazzle the folks at home with the aura of several continents! Quaint idea, bootlegging travel stamps, don't you think?"

The artist was regarding her gravely. "Your mother didn't send you to Sunday school, did she? You literally lapped up traveling. I saw you lapping it up. I even heard you purr like a satisfied kitten, 'I love this view,' when that old maid with you was all for going off without noticing."

"How did you know Miss Benedict was an old maid?" Jill asked, smiling.

"Eternally fussy," the young man answered.

"She was quite right to be fussy," Jill retorted, "when you practically ordered us off the premises every time we saw you. 'Madame,' you said, 'if you would only come back with your pupils later in the day or earlier in the day. How can you expect me to paint that gateway with the sun slanting across it,' and then Miss Benedict answered, 'I don't expect you to paint it, young man,' and then planted herself there firmly."

Jill laughed merrily at the memory.

"So I painted her stout presence in," the young artist went on. He was smiling too. Very broadly.

"Did you!" Jill breathed. "I don't believe it."

"Taxi, miss?" the driver spoke again, a patient but bored note in his voice.

As Jill nodded, he began tumbling both her luggage and the young artist's cases into the taxi.

"Here, wait—" began the young man, protesting.

"There's plenty of room," Jill spoke quickly.

"Well, thanks. I'll be dropping out soon."

"Just drive," Jill told the bewildered cab driver, adding as she turned to the young man, "there's a string of hotels around this section—on Park avenue, on Lexington."

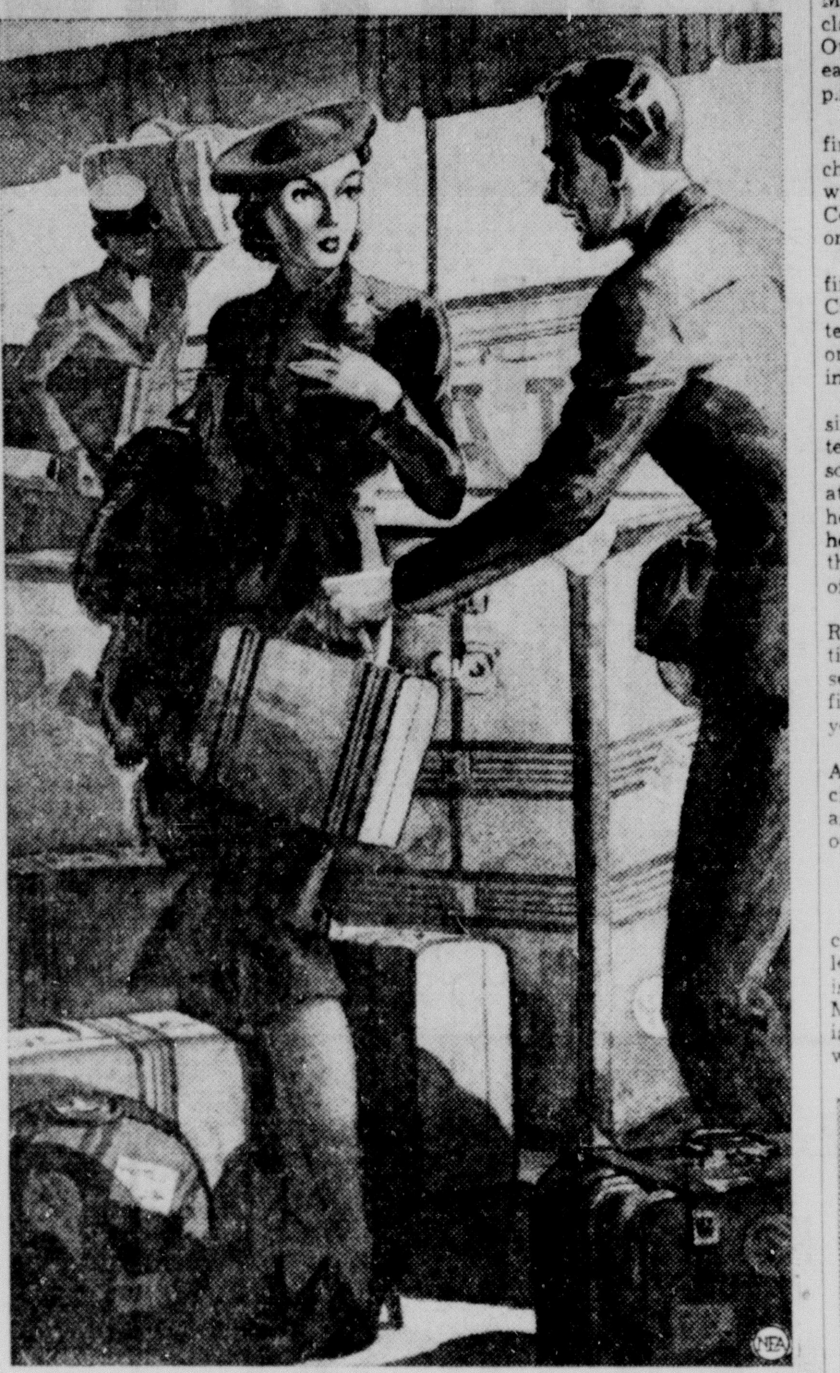

Illustration by Virginia Krausmann

There was a step beside her. "And this one," said a voice.

"I'm not looking for a hotel, but a more permanent place to park."

The driver concentrated on going nowhere, dashing recklessly in and out of traffic in a manner that left no doubt that the age of miracles had not passed. Besides maneuvering expertly, he was ruminating about a queer world. Plain goofy, these young people.

Jill was also thinking about a queer world. Queer and wonderful.

Here she was sitting in a taxi with a young man whose image she had carried with her for thousands of miles. An engrossed and very handsome young man.

How angry he had looked shouting at Miss Benedict that day when they were 'doing cathedrals' in England. It had been a beautiful old gate that he wanted to paint. Hoary with age, with an ancient beauty in its moss-covered stones and hand-hewn grill.

She had sympathized with him when Miss Benedict refused to budge, assembling an endless array of cultural facts to carry away. She remembered that she and Elizabeth Endsley had wandered away from the scene of battle, leaving Miss Benedict standing in the gateway—a picture of injured pride!

All around Jill and the young artist surged and roared the big city. Big and glorious, Jill thought, and golden with sunlight today. Noisily clanging for attention because it was young and lusty. Not a bit like those gray, staid old English towns the young artist had revelled in painting.

But this war her city. It was not his, she knew. The English accent was unmistakable. She hoped he would like it here. Surely, he could find something paintable in this vast panorama.

"I am wondering why a brass band didn't meet you," the young man spoke, suddenly.

Jill smiled. "I don't like brass bands. But I do like families. It's really my fault that nobody met me. I think I wrote that I'd be saying hello to Lady Liberty when our ship went by her, if I didn't change my mind. And then I didn't cable to tell them whether I had changed my mind or not. You wouldn't call that being very definite, would you?"

"Not very. It's nice that you have a family at home waiting to welcome you."

Jill thought there was a rather wistful sound to his voice.

She spoke impulsively.

"Yes. But of course we're not the regular kind of family. You see my father is only my step-father. He had loved my mother before she married the first time. And after her husband—(my father)—died, then dad married mother. He's been exactly like a real father to Jack—my brother—and to me, too. And to Barry, also. All of us took the Wentworth name."

"Who is Barry?"

"I suppose he's a sort of step-step brother. You see, after mother died, dad married again. Another widow, with a son—Barry—who is just a little younger than Jack. We're rather mixed up, aren't we? Now about you?"

* * *

"I came over on the same ship. Tourist," the young man replied simply. "It's much cheaper. After a summer of travel, there wasn't much left. But I had been cooped up so long, I had to move about, if I starved afterward."

"Cooped up?"

"In a studio in Paris. And before that—"

"Before that?" Jill prompted.

"Oxford, the Sorbonne, the Beaux Arts."

"Oh!" There was a world of respect in Jill's exclamation.

"There were some places I'd always wanted to paint. So I went off and painted them. I had a practical purpose back of it all, of course."

If Miss Benedict were here now, Jill thought, I'd strangle her. He had traveled a long distance just to paint that gate.

"And now," the young man concluded, "I'm here."

His voice carried. "You want out here, sir?" the driver called back.

"Just as well here as anywhere," the young man replied. "Drop me off at the next corner by that subway entrance."

At the next corner! Why, that meant he was dropping out of her life. That meant she would never know where this amazing young man would stay. And she wanted to know!

DEFENSE OF THE CHILDREN

To the Editor:

The article on the front page of yesterday's morning paper concerning the reply of Chief Reitzell to the motorist who was annoyed by the child on the tricycle interests me very much.

With so much disturbing news from home and abroad today and with men's hearts tuned to the acquisition of material satisfactions, it is a splendid thing to see a powerful newspaper take up the cudgel in the defense of childhood. My profession carries with it the responsibility for the growth and development of younger personalities, but in a larger sense every man and woman shares that privilege. There are some people in the world like unto the driver of that car who failed to recognize God's greatest blessing to humankind—the happiness of childhood. Possibly the article in your paper may awaken in these sorry specimens of humanity the feeling of shame for such inhuman sentiment. I don't know. It has been my experience that human nature is a funny thing.

Cordially yours,
W. R. HAMMOND.

DR. W. L. LACY TO TEACH FIRST AID

National Red Cross Officer Opens Class Here Monday Night

Dr. William L. Lacy, Red Cross first aid field representative, will arrive in Monroe today to direct a series of classes in first aid, sponsored by the Ouachita Red Cross chapter, at Northeast Center, beginning tomorrow at 7 p.m.

All persons interested in receiving first aid training, said E. C. Gibson, chapter chairman, should communicate with the Red Cross office in the old Central Savings Bank building at once.

Dr. Lacy is well qualified for his first aid position with the national Red Cross, and brings a high degree of technical knowledge as well as proven organizing ability, to the post, according to Mr. Gibson.

After graduation from the University of Virginia medical school, he interned successively at Martha Jefferson hospital, Charlottesville, Va., and at the University of Michigan, where he specialized in surgical work. Later he was appointed resident physician at the state hospital at the University of Michigan.

Before becoming affiliated with the Red Cross, Dr. Lacy served as educational director with the civilian conservation corps, where he organized first aid classes and taught for three years.

He is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary national medical society which admits only those having an exemplary medical scholarship record.

TECHNICIAN ARRIVES

TALLULAH, La., March 26.—(Special)—Miss Ruby Jones of New Orleans, recently arrived in Tallulah and is connected with the staff of the Madison parish health unit as technician. She succeeds Miss Eleanor Mills, who was married last month.

FORESTRY CLASS AT URANIA FOR ANNUAL COURSE

JENA, La., March 26.—(Special)—The Yale senior forestry class is again encamped at Urania, La., for a period of 10 weeks, having recently arrived there from New Haven with Professor R. C. Bryan in charge. Professor H. H. Chapman, head of the forestry department of Yale university, is expected to arrive the first of April. Professor Chapman has been bringing the senior class to Urania for about 20 years in order that they might study reforestation and milling operations at the lumber company established there, and now headed by Q. T. Hardtner, brother of Henry E. Hardtner, who was known far and wide as "the father of reforestation."

Numbering 17 the class has been established in a camp donated by the Urania Lumber company. They are now engaged in studying reforestation as carried out by the company, which affords them excellent opportunity to see first hand how this work is carried out over the company's land holdings. Special emphasis is laid on estimating standing timber and the rate of growth of young timber left on hand after logging.

The senior class of L. S. U. is expected to arrive in Urania on their annual trip April 22. Ralph Hays, head of the forestry department at L. S. U., will be with the class.

WATERWORKS SYSTEM

WISNER, La., March 26.—(Special)—Work was started here this week on the village waterworks system and is expected to be completed in about 90 days. The project is financed in part by a PWA grant and the balance by a bond issue to be paid from the revenues of the water plant.

If there is one word in the dictionary which the Ford Motor Company might rightfully reserve to its own use, that word is ECONOMY.

Thirty years ago, when the automobile was commonly called "a rich man's toy," Henry Ford set out alone to put the world on wheels.

THE FIRST FORD POLICY

It was then he said: "I will build a motor car for the multitude. It will be constructed of the best materials, by the best men to be hired, after the simplest designs that modern engineering can devise. But it will be so low in price that any man making ordinarily good wages can own one." That fundamental Ford policy has never changed.

In the early years, when it was necessary to build small 4-cylinder cars in order to assure economy, Henry Ford built and sold small 4-cylinder cars—in large quantities.

But when the fast-growing facilities of the Ford Motor Company reached a point where it was possible to build larger, finer V-type 8-cylinder cars and keep small-car economy—Henry Ford did that—again alone. It is one reason why more 1937 Ford V-8 cars were bought than any other make.

TWO NEW FORD CARS

For 1938, two Ford cars are offered you. One is the De Luxe Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine—still an economical car to own and operate. It has richer appointments, and the advantages born of 30 years of building automobiles. Closed sedans have longer bodies, with more room.

The other is the Standard Ford, with a choice of 85-horsepower or 60-horsepower V-8 engine. It has the basic Ford advantages of the De Luxe, and it is built on the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis, to the same high standard of mechanical excellence. But it is lower priced, and with the "60" engine, it provides the lowest operating cost in all Ford history.

You are invited to see and drive the De Luxe and Standard Ford cars now on display at your local Ford dealership—to prove for yourself that ECONOMY is a Ford word.

PROCLAMATION

"Whereas, thousands of employers responded to this movement with most encouraging and gratifying results, and

"Whereas, the success achieved by the governor's committee for sustained employment has proven conclusively that when business and government work hand in hand, confidence can be maintained and a continuous high purchasing power enjoyed by our people, and

"Whereas, it behooves all employes and the civic minded public of Louisiana to show their sincere appreciation by assisting in maintaining this employment level and fortify Louisiana against the force of recession through the use of their best efforts to stimulate the purchasing power in Louisiana, and

"Whereas, the city of Monroe is desirous of lending its full cooperation to the efforts of the governor to promote the interests of the people at large;

"Whereas, as a result of this complete cooperation on the part of Louisiana employers, over two hundred thousand employes have been guaranteed employment for the next six months, thereby sustaining the purchasing power in Louisiana for this period, and

"Whereas, Louisiana today presents the brightest picture of prosperity in the entire nation, and

"Whereas, such prosperity is due largely to the complete harmony existing between labor, industry and government, and

"Whereas, during the month of February all employers in the state of Louisiana were joined in an active campaign through the governor's committee for sustained employment to fortify Louisiana against the force of recession which was causing unfavorable business conditions in other parts of this country;

"Now, Therefore, I, Richard W. Leche, Governor of the State of Louisiana, in recognition of industry's complete cooperation with the Governor's Committee for Sustained Employment, guaranteeing 'Every Man a Job,' do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1938, to be 'HOME IMPROVEMENT MONTH' and urge the citizens of this state to exert every effort towards the attainment of our goal by making all needful and necessary repairs and improvements on their homes during this month.

"In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Louisiana, at the Capitol in the City of Baton Rouge, on this the 23rd day of March, A. D., 1938.

THEY LOOK GOOD

Yesterday was only the third day the Monroe White Sox had worked out but the railbirds who have been in attendance each session already are thoroughly sold on the White Sox infield. Don't take our word for it—ask anybody who was there.

Yesterday the fans were most enthusiastic, once the infield practice got under way. Several times they applauded sparkling plays, and that's something we hadn't seen—or heard—during spring training since we came here eight years ago.

Gordon Riggins and Frank Hackney were the shining lights of yesterday's workout. Riggins particularly was the object of the fans' affections, and rightfully so, because he came up with several sensational stops. And he rifled the ball away from him in big league fashion.

Right now, Riggins looks like he can fill the bill most acceptably at second base. The rookie may be a flash in the pan, but anybody who saw him yesterday will agree that he's worth plenty of looking over before he's turned away. In fact, the boys and girls who watched him yesterday will tell you that he's ready to step into the breach on April 20. Manager Harvel says there's no doubt about his hitting, so that ought to clinch matters temporarily at least.

Harry Webb, who hit an even .300 and fielded with the best of 'em at Rayne last season, is the other candidate for the second base job. Webb, however, is unaccounted for at the present writing. He told Manager Harvel a week ago that he was delighted at the chance to play in Monroe, but so far he hasn't made his appearance. If he doesn't hurry up, he's likely to find the second base job well filled by young Mr. Riggins.

The White Sox have shown more pep and hustle in their three workouts than last year's team exhibited all season. That's going over big with the fans who have turned out to watch 'em work. Hackney is the sparkplug of the infield. Frank is bound to be a popular player here. His spectacular play afield, his fine work with the bat and his spirit on the diamond already has won him a host of friends among the railbirds.

The boy loves to play baseball. Despite Manager Harvel's repeated warnings to take it easy, Hackney has stayed out there each afternoon until time was called and he apparently never gets enough.

Harvel is anxious for Johnny Conway, the team's shortstop, to show up. Conway isn't due until April 1 but he's working out at Longview. Johnny is another pepperbox and Harvel can hardly wait until the fans see the regular infield of Rock, Riggins, Conway and Hackney in action.

Frankly, the club looks plenty good

M'SPADEN, SNEAD TAKE EARLY LEAD

Two Pros Post Sub-Par 66 In First Round Of Greensboro Tourney

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 26.—(AP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., and Sammy Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., shot sub-par rounds of 66 today to hop into the lead in the first round of the $5,000 greater Greensboro golf tournament.

The record for the Starmount course, over which the first two rounds of the meet are being played, was cracked twice today as the cream of the nation's golfing talent bore down on the tricky traps and greens. Monday's 36-hole final will be fought out over the Valley Brook course at the Sedgefield Country club.

Before McSpaden, runner-up in the 1937 P. G. A. tournament, and the long-hitting Snead posted their sizzling rounds, Johnny Revolta had come in with a 68 to better by one stroke the record set in 1932 by Henry Picard in beating the veteran Walter Hagen in the play-off for the Carolinas' open championship.

Snead's performance was tops for the day. After touring the first round of the course in one over par, he got down to business and made the last nine in six under. He picked up one birdie on the out nine and five on the route home.

The day's disappointment was Victor Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J., winner of the North and South open at Pinehurst yesterday and a red hot favorite. He bogged down from the sensational pace he set in the Sandhills meet and the best he could do today was a 75 which left him far back in the field.

Revolta's well-shot 68 put in a threatening position for tomorrow's second round. Two strokes behind him came Bill Heinlein, of Indianapolis, Leo Mallory of Wee Burn, Conn., and Johnny Bulla, a former High Point, N. C., amateur now playing out of Chicago.

LION TRACKMEN WALLOP L. T. I.

Ouachita Piles Up 81-21 Victory Over First Pelican Track Squad

Ouachita Parish High school's track team walloped L. T. I. yesterday, 81 to 21, in a dual meet held at Northeast Center of L. S. U.'s track. It was the first meet for the Pelicans and marked L. T. I.'s first invasion of the track field.

Ouachita won all but two first places in the 14 events here yesterday. Several events were cancelled. The Pelicans took first places in the pole vault and the 110 yard medley relay race.

The meet was a tune-up for the Louisiana Normal Relays next Saturday. Ouachita will send its team to Natchitoches to compete in the annual high school carnival there, Coach Woodrow Turner announced yesterday.

Yesterday's summary:

Pole vault—Stewart, L. T. I., first; Sievers, Ouachita, second. Height, 10 feet, 2 inches.

Shot put—Goss, Ouachita, first; Griffith, Ouachita, second. Distance, 40 feet, 4 inches.

Discus throw—Craig, Ouachita, first.

High jump—Roby, Ouachita, first; Sievers, Ouachita, and Stewart and Williams, L. T. I., tied for second. Height, 5 feet, 3 inches.

Broad jump—Bell, Ouachita, first; Sievers, Ouachita, second. Distance, 18 feet, 10 inches.

100 yard dash—Gerson, Ouachita, first; Moore, Ouachita, second. Time 10.9 seconds.

70 yard high hurdles—Sievers, Ouachita, first; Roby, Ouachita, second. Time 11 seconds.

120 yard hurdles—Ponder, Ouachita, first; Riddles, Ouachita, second. Time 15 seconds.

110 medley relay—L. T. I., first; Ouachita, second. Time 49 seconds.

Half mile run—Sherrard, Ouachita, first; Weir, Ouachita, second. Time 2 minutes, 26 seconds.

440 yard—Wyatt, Ouachita, first; Fisher, Ouachita, second. Time 1 minute.

880 yard medley—Ouachita (Hewitt, Thomas, Stuckey and Moore), first; L. T. I. second. Time 1 minute, 42 seconds.

Mile relay—Ouachita (Bell, Ponder, Sievers and Gerson), first; L. T. I. second. Time 3 minutes, 55 seconds.

Javelin—Sievers, Ouachita, first; B. Craig, Ouachita, second. Distance 126 feet, 3 inches.

Mile run—Clouatre, Ouachita, first; L. T. I., second. Time 5 minutes, 20 seconds.

MICHIGAN RETAINS A. A. U. SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 26.—(AP)—Capturing the 400-yard relay, final event on the program, Michigan retained tonight its National Collegiate A. A. swimming championship. The Wolverines scored 46 points to 45 for Ohio State.

Michigan's quartet of Waldemar Tomski, Edward Hutchens, Thomas Haynie and Edward Kirar coasted through the Rutgers pool in 3:32.2. Harvard, anchored by Charley Hutter, closed fast to beat out Ohio State, which could have won the meet for the first time in history by placing second in the final event.

It was the ninth championship in the 15 years of the N. C. A. A. meet for the Wolverines. Ohio State, the favorite, beat Michigan twice this year in dual meets.

Harvard, with 36 points, was third, followed by Princeton with 22, Yale with 18, Iowa with seven and Rutgers with five.

LOUISIANA DERBY TO BE RUN TODAY AT FAIR GROUNDS

Stellar Field Of Three-Year-Olds Entered In Closing Feature At Track

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—(AP)—Horses from the California and Florida campaigns loomed tonight as favorites in tomorrow's renewal of the Louisiana Derby at a mile and one-eighth for 3-year-olds with an added value of $12,000. Ten seemed certain starters with the possiblity twelve might go.

Anthony Pelleteri won the event last year with Grey Count and his Sir Raleigh loomed as the over-night favorite at 8 to 5. He showed advantage in California. Second choice at 5 to 2 promised to be Hal Price Headley's Bourbon King, shipped from Florida. Eddie Arcaro, until the last few days the nation's leading jockey, will ride him.

R. L. Vedder, 18-year-old benedict and the country's leading jockey, will have the mount on a 10 to 1 shot, E. K. Bryson's filly Bunny Baby.

With Prince Argo and William Palmer listed as doubtful starters, tomorrow's lineup promises to be:

Horse	Wt.	Jockey	Probable Odds
Sir Raleigh	122	C. Corbett	8-5
Bourbon King	122	E. Arcaro	5-2
*Wise Fox	144	J. Longden	4
*Pelter	111	A. Bodiou	4

Tomorrow's racing will end a 113-day season at the beautiful Fair Grounds track.

SABARIEL WINS HANDICAP

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—(AP)—Sabariel, owned by the Three D's stock farm, won the $2,000 added Jackson handicap for two-year-olds at the Fair Grounds race track here today.

Sabariel paid $14.40 to win on $2 tickets, $6.20 to place and $4.60 to show. Mrs. J. Walker's Major B. paid $8.20 to place and $5.40 to show while Zacabox, owned by John F. Clark, Jr., paid $6.20 to show.

Sabariel, hard ridden in the half-mile event, kept close to the pace while saving ground and held off Major B. in the final drive to win by a neck.

Major B. was in close quarters early and moved up strong in the last quarter but hung when apparently ready to overhaul the winner. Zacabox lacked racing room early and held on well. Sir Witch, the favorite, finished fifth.

The $1,000 Perfection handicap at six furlongs was won by C. E. Davison's Chance Ray. The consistent gelding got up in the closing strides to nose out the Sycamore stable's Old Rosebush with E. D. Drillon's Yule Star third.

OUACHITA WHIPS DUBACH, 13 TO 3

Lions Pile Up 15 Hits To Trim Old Rivals In First Meeting Of Year

The Ouachita Parish High school baseball team walloped their old rivals, the Dubach Plungers, 13 to 3, here yesterday in the first meeting of the season between the two clubs.

The Lions pounded two Dubach hurlers, C. R. Colvin and Jeffcoat, for 15 hits, while the Ouachita pitchers, Fields and Hinton, were holding the opposition to three safeties. Richards, Ouachita third sacker, led the Lion attack with five hits in five trips to the plate for a perfect day at bat. Jones, first baseman, got three hits while Blazier and Patterson each hit safely twice for the Lions.

The longest hit of the day was turned in by K. Jones, of Dubach, who hit a triple. Richards and Jones of Ouachita each hit two doubles. The fielding feature was turned in by Hinton, who played center field before he took the mound.

Fields pitched six innings and allowed two hits and three runs, fanning three. Hinton allowed one hit and whiffed four in the three innings he worked.

Score by innings:

Dubach ....000 003 000— 3 3 5
Ouachita ....260 022 01x—13 15 5

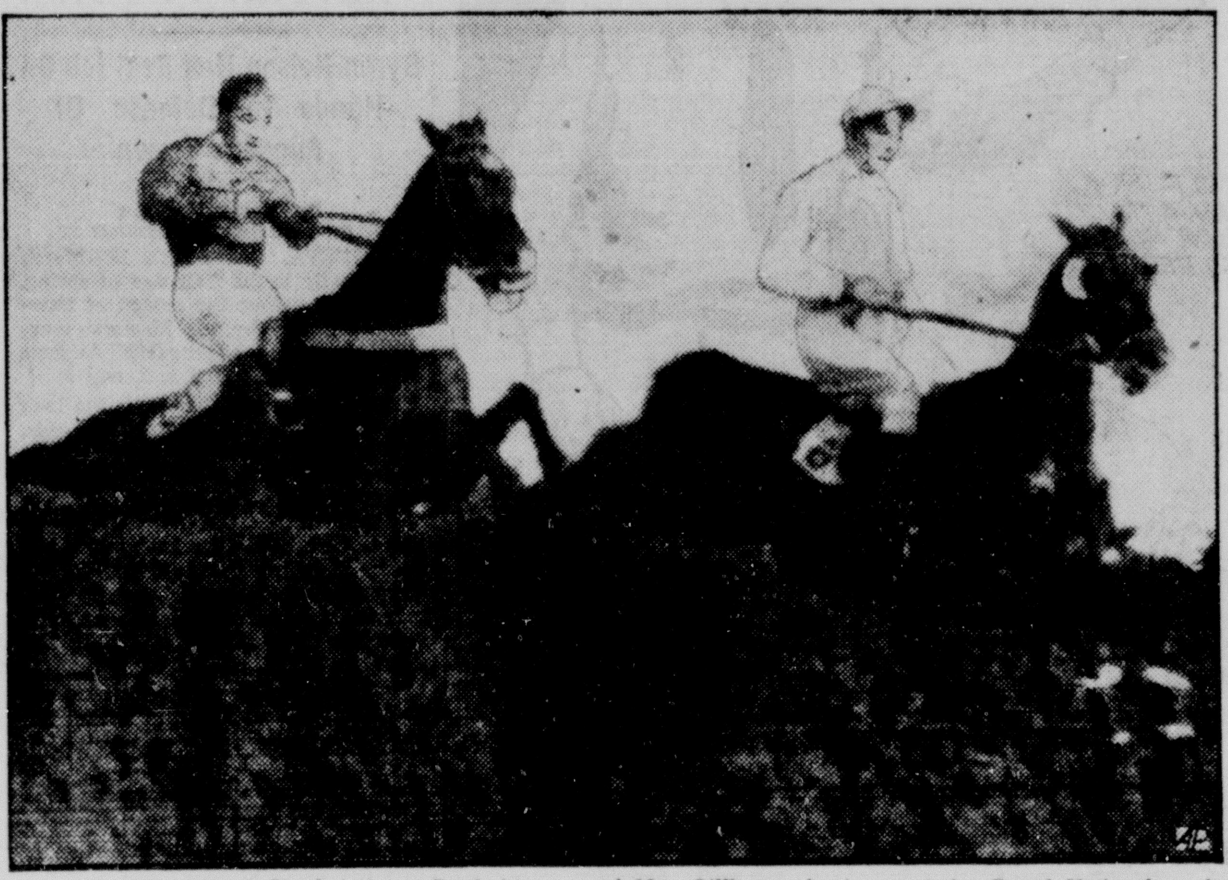
BATTLESHIP COMES IN TO WIN GRAND NATIONAL



This radiophoto from London shows Battleship, son of Man O'War, and winner of the Grand National, as he went over the last jump on the famous course at Aintree, England. The other horse in the picture is Workman, which finished third. A crowd of 250,000 spectators attended the event, the Grand National's hundredth running. Atop the winner is Bruce Hobbs.

Monroe Squad To Hold Short Practice Today

White Sox To Work Out From 1 To 2:30; Exhibition Tickets On Sale

Monroe's baseball squad will take a short workout at Casino park this afternoon and then turn the outfield over to a troupe of automobile daredevils.

Following yesterday's peppery practice, Manager "Red" Harvel said no attempt would be made to play a short game this afternoon. In the first place, there aren't enough infielders on hand to "choose up" and, too, there won't be time for the intra-squad contest because the trick-driving program opens at 3 o'clock.

Harvel said today's workout would start at 1 o'clock with batting practice. About 1:45 the infield drill will begin, and the boys will hang up their togs at around 2:30.

Meanwhile, plans were completed yesterday for the sale of tickets for the two major league exhibition games here. Tickets will be placed on sale in downtown Monroe at Fink the Tailor, E. Jack Selig and Son and Frenchie's cafe on North Second street, these places having been designated as baseball headquarters. Tickets may be purchased for the Philadelphia Phillies-Monroe game on April 5 and the New York Giants-Cleveland exhibition on April 8. The ticket sale will open Monday morning.

E. E. Meredith, secretary of the local club, also announced yesterday that persons who have purchased season boxes will be contacted early this week to give them an opportunity to reserve their boxes for the New York-Cleveland game. Purchasers of season boxes may occupy them without extra charge for the Phillies-Monroe game but, under the contract with Bill Terry, a box seat charge must be made for the New York-Cleveland tilt. Holders of season boxes will be given "first call," however.

The White Sox held another long workout yesterday, winding up the drill with an infield session that had the stands applauding. Following the long batting drill, the infielders took their places and Manager Harvel slammed baseballs at them for more than 30 minutes. The railbirds were raving before the workout was 10 minutes old.

The play of Gordon Riggins, at second base, and Frank Hackney, at third, was particularly impressive. Riggins made several seemingly impossible stops and he showed a rifle-like throwing arm. Hackney also looked good at third, and the throwing of little Bobby Schang, the catcher, also caught the fancy of the fans who turned out to see the session.

One addition to the squad checked in late last night. He is Paul Scott, full-blooded Indian. Scott is a pitcher who towers over six feet and weighs 202 pounds. He's a rookie who may develop into a real find.

Two hurlers showed they were far advanced in training yesterday by putting plenty of stuff on the ball in batting practice. Henry Bieze, big lefthander, was particularly impressive, while Dale Richardson, holdover righthander, uncorked his fast ball several times.

RHODES WINS 'STAKES AT M'GUIRE GOLF CLUB

Vance Rhodes won the sweepstakes event at McGuire Park Golf club yesterday, scoring an 83 in the "lucky" number tourney to beat a good field.

A large number of golfers participated in the Saturday event, and several excellent scores were registered.

The McGuire course is in excellent shape but further improvements are planned. Jim McKenzie, pro at the West Monroe links, announced yesterday that the fairways will be fertilized this week. The greens are reported to be in fine condition.

TECH NINE WINS FROM HOWARD, 4-2

Hinton Fans 12 Men And Bulldogs Even Series With Birmingham Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 26.—(AP)—Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs won the second of a two-game series here today, 4-2, after losing a season opener yesterday. Lefty Hinton struck out 12 men and gave the Howards seven hits to get credit for the victory.

The Louisianians go to Tuscaloosa for two games with Alabama Monday and Tuesday.

Score by innings:

17 SCHOOLS OF THIS SECTION TO BE REPRESENTED

Neville Leads In Number Of Eligibles With 11; Farmerville Second

By Paul Martin

Seventy-one mittmen from 17 north Louisiana high schools are qualified to enter the eighth annual state high school boxing tournament to be held next Friday and Saturday at Baton Rouge under the direction of the athletic staff of Louisiana State university.

Boxers from all parts of the state will converge on Baton Rouge for the battles with sectional champions from five districts of the state heading the parade of scrappers.

Plaquemine, recent winner of the south-central Louisiana district title, will be seeking a third straight state championship. Neville of Monroe, northeast district champions; Farmerville, northwest district champions; Istrouma of Baton Rouge, southeast district titleholders; and LaGrange of Lake Charles, southeast champions, will be among the strongest teams represented.

Only two of the 1937 state champions from north Louisiana will be back in action this year. They are Arleigh "Buck" Brantley, Neville's 90-pound champion of last year, who is in the 105-pound class this season; and the stellar Bill Wyly, of Lake Providence, 135-pound title holder last spring, and a 145-pounder at the present. Five other point winners of the 1937 state meeting will be back representing north Louisiana, however. They are Robert Gates, 126, and Walter Brady, 155, both of Neville; Leon Andrews, 112, and G. W. "Popeye" Gulledge, heavyweight, both of Farmerville; and Louis Nettles, 155, of Tallulah.

Neville High school heads the north Louisiana teams in number of fighters qualified at the district tournaments. Neville put 11 boxers on their eligible list, eight of them district champions, one a second placer, and two of them having placed third.

Farmerville runs close to Neville in eligible team members with 10. The number of qualified mittmen from other teams of north Louisiana are as follows: Homer, 7; Lake Providence, 5; Tallulah, 5; Oak Grove, 5; Mansfield, 5; Ruston, 4; Bastrop, 3; Bernice, 3; Bossier City, 3; Forest, 2; Jonesville, 2; Start, 2; Pelican, 2; Arcadia, 1; and Choudrant, 1.

It is probable, however, that in a few instances boxers who placed in district meets will not be entered in the state fights.

The Farmerville team, under Coach Key Welch, will come to Monroe Wednesday, where they will join the Neville team of Coach Percy Brown, and the two teams will make the trip together, it has been stated.

Qualified mittmen of north Louisiana are:

90 pounds: E. B. Peddy, Neville, northeast district champion; C. Caver, Homer, northeast district champion; Lively, Start; Fortenberry, Forest; Cal Hill, Mansfield; and James Everett, Farmerville.

98 pounds: Robert Cagnolatti, Tallulah, northeast champion; D. Elliott, Bernice, northwest champion; Ross, Forest; Cohn, Oak Grove; E. J. Albritton, Farmerville; and J. Bridewell, Homer.

105 pounds: "Buck" Brantley, Nev-

LOUIS PICKED TO KAYO THOMAS IN 4 ROUNDS

CHAMPION SEEN AS SURE WINNER IN APRIL 1 BOUT

Title Will Be At Stake But Joe Seems In No Danger Of Losing It

By Jerry Bronfield
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, March 26.—"Four rounds," predict the boys on Cauliflower boulevard.

"Eight at the most," say the ultra-conservatives.

"I'm really hitting now . . . I'll put him on the floor," vows Harry Thomas.

"Ah'll have two moah po'k-chops," says Joe Louis.

Louis' heavyweight crown will be at stake when he goes to the post with Minnesota's Harry Thomas in Chicago stadium April 1, and although it may be April Fool's day according to the calendar, not a single person within miles of the Loop expects Thomas to perpetrate the biggest hoax of all, by belting Louis off the throne.

Without being unduly harsh, and with all due respect for Thomas' ability as a fighting man, he already has pulled off a big enough joke by getting himself picked to enter the same ring with the champion.

That, smirk some of the wise ones, is the biggest joke since they admitted the Brooklyn Dodgers to the National league.

It was part of Mike Jacobs' plans to have Louis fight a couple of tuneup bouts before Der Tag—a return engagement with Max Schmeling, June 22, "somewhere in the United States."

And Harry Thomas, a strong, rugged boy from the northwoods, is the second and probably last of these conditioning foes.

True, every time a heavyweight champion fights 10 rounds or more, his title, technically, is on the block. Thus, on April 2, Harry Thomas has a chance to be hailed heavyweight champion of all the world, including Balli Balli, and Red Bank, N. J.

That, however, isn't likely to happen.

The Eagle Bend blond has been training vigorously, and should enter the ring in the finest physical shape of his career. After all, it isn't every week-end you get a chance to slug it out for something as choice as the heavyweight title, and he intends to make the most of what probably will be his first and only opportunity.

Twice, since he was plucked from obscurity by Mike Jacobs, Thomas has been in the ring against a major opponent. The first time was when he lost a 10-round decision to Schmeling, and again just a few weeks back when he dropped another hot 10-rounder to young Jimmy Adamick.

Harry is the willing type—game, courageous, and always prepared to make a fight of it, but that's as far as it goes. He doesn't have too much boxing skill to keep himself well balanced, and he doesn't have the necessary dynamite in his fists to give Louis any serious trouble.

It's very clear to those who know his capabilities that the only way the title can change hands is if he catches Joe in an off-moment with a haymaker that starts somewhere near his shoe tops.

Dead-pan Joe took his last real workout against Natie Mann, when he disposed of the Connecticut heavyweight in three rounds. He looked plenty sharp that night in Madison Square Garden, but he wants to sharpen up just a little more before he climbs into the ring with Schmeling.

So he'll train his sights on Harry Thomas, set the exact range and go to work.

It should be interesting while it lasts, but somewhere between the third and sixth rounds Mr. Thomas will hit the deck and he won't get up in the allotted 10 seconds.

450 ATHLETES IN CENTER TOURNEYS

Ouachita Wins Most Of First Places In Events At Northeast Center

Approximately 450 athletics, both boys and girls, representing 21 high schools of northeast Louisiana, competed in the first annual "day of tourneys" at Northeast Center of L. S. U. yesterday.

The program, conducted by Miss Ada Bess Hart, women's physical director at Northeast Center, and A. S. Huffman, men's physical director at Center, was declared one of the most successful from every standpoint ever held in the state. The purpose of the tourneys was to sponsor good sportsmanship and "playing for play's sake," it was said.

"The splendid response to the first of Northeast Center's 'tournament days' is indicative of the service which Northeast Center can render to the high schools of this district in recreational sports," Miss Hart said. "As mass participation was one of the objectives of the tournament, awards of intrinsic value were eliminated and blue and white ribbons were awarded to first and second place winners."

The winning schools:

Boys' tennis doubles, Ouachita Parish High school, Monroe; boys' singles, Winnsboro; boys' softball, Ouachita; boys' volley ball, Ouachita.

Girls' volley ball, Ouachita; girls' softball, Ouachita; girls' tennis doubles, Ouachita; girls' singles, Neville; mixed doubles, Farmerville.

Officials handling the various events were members of the two physical education classes at Center. Handling boys' activities were John Semago, David Thayer, Snyder Parham and Tommy Casey, boys' singles; Dick Tipton, Bill Pittman, Guy Seivers and John Porter, boys' doubles; Horace Anders, Malcolm Lightsey, Edison Williams, George Perry, Eddie Saliba, Ernest Freeman and John Coenen, softball; Leo Ragland, Luther Jones, Soldier Vinson, Max Hutchins, Pete Perritt and Robert Hand, volley ball.

Girls' officials were Marion Harris, Susan Miller, Clara Williams and Dorothy Taylor, volley ball; Eunita Martin, Ouida Henderson, Louise White, C. Ford, Lafreda Maxwell, Jennie M. Ford, Katharine Brown and Irma Seyes, softball; Mary Elizabeth Mahr, Lenore Airoldi and June Moffett, tennis doubles; Mary Lee McClendon and June Moffett, tennis singles; Frances Smith and Bobby Hand, mixed doubles.

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—The joke, folks, is strictly on blue-blooded British racing today. . . . They wouldn't list Man o' War in the English stud book because his ancestors weren't in it. . . . So, what? . . . So along comes Big Red's little boy, Battleship, to cop the No. 1 English racing event—the Grand National. . . . Gunnar Barlund, the flailing Finn, is on the way to the coast to tangle with Chuck Crowell in Los Angeles April 19. . . . But what he's really after is Maxie Baer's scalp—take Manager Paul Damski's word for it. . . . Figures he got a run-around.

Is Lou Comiskey sore because Jimmy Dykes traded Zeke Bonura to Washington? . . . Tee hee dept.: Joe DiMaggio says the reason he didn't return his contract to the Yanks—signed or unsigned—was that he lost it moving to a new house. . . . Word from the coast says Gerry Walker, whacky as ever, has the White Sox camp in stitches. . . . They clocked Hank Greenberg in 15 seconds flat for the 120-yard trip around the bases at Lakeland the other day. . . . The Chicago Golf Open will be sliced from a $10,000 to a $5,000 event this summer. . . .

Detroit Tigers' camp followers say Rudy York is still far from a classy catching product. . . . But, boy, can he sock 'em. . . . Along fight alley, the latest is that Schmeling-Louis will go to Chicago if Mike Jacobs can swing Soldiers' Field. . . . Which may or may not be one reason Der Moxie will start his training at French Lick Springs, Ind. . . . Old Papa Jesse Haines has entered politics in Montgomery county, O.

Funny-bone tickler from the grapefruit belt: Howard Lane, Nashville rookie, kayoed himself with his own foul tip in batting practice at Tallahassee. . . . The ball glanced off his bat onto his chin and knocked him colder than last night's mashed potatoes. . . . P. S.—He was released the next day.

TULANE NETTERS LOSE TO RICE TEAM BY 4-2 SCORE

HOUSTON, Tex., March 26.—(AP)—The Rice institute tennis team today turned back Tulane university netters, four matches to two.

In the No. 1 singles encounter, Frank Guernsey was the aggressor and had little trouble winning over Tulane's ace netter, who yesterday whipped Bob Kamrath, the defending singles champion of the Southwest conference.

Other singles results were: Joe Lucia (Rice) defeated Donald Royle (Tulane) 6-1, 6-2; Joe Abrams (Tulane) downed Max Campbell (Rice) 6-2, 6-3, and Guy Cheng (Tulane) defeated Ebbie Holden (Rice), 5-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Rice swept both doubles matches, Guernsey and Lucia defeating Doyle and Abrams 6-0, 6-1, and Holden and Campbell whipping Westerfield and Cheng, 6-2, 7-5.

BOB JONES GIVEN LITTLE CHANCE TO RETURN TO FORM

Byron Nelson Has Real Job On Hands In Defense Of Augusta Crown

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 26.—March 21 officially is the first day of spring, but to the golfer, the season of flowers is marked by the Masters' tournament over the gorgeous Augusta National course, April 1, 2, and 3.

This stern competition ends the long winter trail of the great professionals, and they roll into this pretty little Georgia city fresh from the North and South open at Pinehurst and the Greensboro, N. C., open to find a number of other cracks waiting for them, including the immortal Robert Tyre Jones.

Jones has been golfing more of late—praticing for his fifth public appearance since he scored his grand slam in 1930, but lacks the hardiness that can be gained only through tournament play.

Giving you an idea of what they think of the one-time invincible Jones' chance, Jack Doyle, the old Broadway bookmaker, has him quoted at 25 to 1, and will take even money that the pride of East Lake will not finish as well as fifth.

Doyle claims he lost a fortune while Jones ruled the fairways, but the bookies have got more than even in the Masters. For three straight years in this tournament, Jones sold for the highest price in the pool. Last year it was Sam Snead, but, rusty as he was, Jones brought the second best figure, and sentimental wagers once more brought his original long price in the books down to a short one.

The professionals themselves suspect that this year's Masters will go to Snead, Byron Nelson, Frank Moore, Ben Hogan, Horton Smith, Denny Shute, Johnny Revolta, Ky Laffoon, or Jimmy Thomson.

Snead, the handsome West Virginian, many of them consider the finest golfer in the game today.

Nelson, the trim Texan now of Reading, is the defending champion. He bagged the Thomasville, Ga., and Hollywood, Fla., opens.

Moore and Hogan, with the maps of Ireland for faces, are new in the headlines.

Moore is a product of St. Louis, a brother of Terry of the Cardinals, and a protege of Jimmy Farrell of Quaker Ridge. Moore was Shute's partner in the Miami four-ball, was fourth at Thomasville, second and a stroke behind Nelson at Hollywood, and with the prodigious Bobby Dunkelberger accounted for the national amateur-professional at St. Augustine.

Moore gambles as does his brother Terry on the bases, and has a remarkable short game, with a silky touch on the greens.

The flat-nosed Hogan, a tall and slender 25-year-old resident of Fort Worth, is one of the more promising players. His winter play has won him a position at the Century club at White Plains, N. Y.

Hogan and Willie Goggin of San Francisco were alternates in the Miami four-ball, but when they finally were pressed into service they eliminated the three-time champions, Henry Picard and Revolta, and went to the final round. A bookmaker quoted them at 40 to 1 before the tournament, and was ready to settle at 10 to 1 at the conclusion of the third round.

Of the established stars, Picard has been off his game. Irons that have been so true in the past have refused to behave for Harry Cooper.

Next to the national, British, and more important and longer-established opens, a professional would rather win the Masters' tournament than any other.

It is an invitational affair, and eligible are the first 30 in the 1937 United States open and Masters, all 1937 Ryder and Walker Cuppers, the last eight in the 1937 P. G. A. and United States amateur, all former United States open and amateur, British open and amateur, and P. G. A. champions, and the two players with the best records on the winter tour now closing.

This year the latter no doubt will take care of Moore and Hogan. A year ago it permitted the brilliant Snead to participate.

Famous holes the world over were duplicated in laying out the beautifully groomed Augusta national course. The layout is a little different than any other because traps are noticeably absent, the idea being that the holes, due to undulating greens, etc., are difficult enough without bunkers and such.

The field of 65 or so will find a couple of changes this trip. Big mounds on a pair of greens that were considered exaggerated were cut down, adding to the betterment of the hole. The Augusta national course is not the toughest in the universe, nor is it the easiest. It is simply a very fine test of golf.

The tournament is managed and conducted with the highest degree of efficiency.

The Augusta national course was built to commemorate the deeds of Bobby Jones, but it seems that during the course of events, Peerless Bobby became financially interested to a greater extent than he anticipated. So, when the depression cracked down on the Royal and Ancient, among other businesses, Jones had to keep playing on the Masters' tournament to keep things at the proper pitch.

Practically all of the current stars were not around when Bobby Jones, the matchless amateur, was making a show of the professionals, but they remember those days.

Bobby Jones' presence gives them added verve in the Masters' tournament.

Exhibition Games

PHILLIES TRIM A'S

BILOXI, Miss., March 26.—(AP)—Southpaw Wayne LaMaster pitched and batted the Phillies to a 5 to 3 victory over the Athletics today to give the Phils a 2 to 1 edge in their city series with the A's.

LaMaster replaced Hugh Mulcahy on the mound in the sixth inning and shut out the A's without a hit the last four innings. In the eighth with the bases full he doubled down the third base line to score Browne and Arnovich with the winning runs.

The two-bagger was made off Nelson Potter, who had replaced Bill Kalfass when the Phils loaded the sacks with none out.

Score by innings:
Philadelphia (A) ..002 100 000—3 7 1
Philadelphia (N) ..000 002 12x—5 9 1

Kalfass, Potter (8) and Hayes; Mulcahy, LaMaster (6) and Atwood.

CARDS SHADE YANKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took a 3-2 lead over the New York Yankees in their spring exhibition series today when they rapped Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez for ten hits and a 4 to 3 victory.

Rookie Enos Slaughter's home run with Bob Weiland on base in the fifth inning put the Cards in the lead while Ducky Medwick's double scoring Terry Moore in the seventh brought the winning run.

Score by innings:
New York (A) ....001 100 001—3 8 0
St. Louis (N) .....000 120 10x—4 10 1

Ruffing, Gomez (6) and Dickey; Weiland, Henshaw (8) and Padgett, Breman (7).

GIANTS BEAT INDIANS

BATON ROUGE, La., March 26.—(AP)—Harry Gumbert and Cliff Melton limited the Cleveland Indians to three hits today and pitched the New York Giants to a 4 to 2 victory. The Giants never were headed after scoring two runs in the third inning off Willis Hudlin on a pass to Dick Bartell, Jim Ripple's triple and an error by Lyn Lary. Lou Chiozza added a homer in the fourth.

A triple by Ken Keltner off Gumbert led to Cleveland's first run in the second inning and Hal Trosky's three bagger scored Earl Averill in the seventh.

Score by innings:
Cleveland (A) ....010 000 100—2 3 3
New York (N) ....102 100 00x—4 6 1

Hudlin, Whitehill (5) and Hemsley, Pytlak (5); Gumbert, Melton (6) and Mancuso.

BROWNS WIN IN 11TH

HOUSTON, Tex., March 26.—(AP)—Stopped cold by two left-handers, the St. Louis Browns had more success with a succeeding pair of right-handers and eked out an 8 to 6 victory in 11 innings today over Houston of the Texas league.

The victory, the Browns' seventh in a row, resulted from excellent work by Russ Van Atta and Ed Cole. Van Atta, although wild, showed he had fully recovered from his elbow complaint. Cole, obtained from Cleveland, displayed a fast ball and a snapping curve.

Score by innings:
St. Louis (A) ...000 310 002 02—8 12 2
Houston (T. L.) 004 100 100 00—6 11 4

Newsom, Van Atta (7), Cole (9) and Sullivan, Heath (7); Sevri, Lewis (4), Perry (7), Crow (11) and Wysock, Callender (8).

DODGERS NOSE WINGS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Gil Brack's home run with one out in the eleventh inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5 to 4 decision over the Rochester Red Wings of the International league today.

Van Mungo, Brooklyn mound ace, made his first start of the year, allowing two hits and one run and fanning one in his three-inning turn.

The Dodgers bunched three hits with a walk and an error for three runs in the sixth only to have Rochester tie the count in the seventh when Lou Scoffic tripled with two aboard.

Score by innings:
Rochester (IL) ..001 100 200 00—4 10 1
Brooklyn (N) ...000 013 000 01—5 9 1

Sherrill, Barrett (5) and Ogrodowski, Narron (7); Mungo, Fitzsimmons (4), Cohen (7) and Chervinko, Spencer (7).

NATS TROUNCE BLUES

ORLANDO, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Washington slammed three Kansas City pitchers for 13 hits today and beat the American association team 8 to 3.

Jimmy DeShong, Senator pitcher, hurled five hitless innings. The Kansas City hitters, however, fell upon Pete Appleton, who shared today's mound duty with DeShong for 10 hits.

Kansas City started George Washburn in the box and finished with Jim Prendergast and Ralph Hamner after the Senators snared five runs from Washburn's hurling.

Score by innings:
Kansas City (AA)..000 002 100—3 10 0
Washington (A) ...051 110 00x—8 13 0

Washburn, Prendergast, Hamner and Breese; DeShong, Appleton and Livingston.

SAINTS WALLOP SPORTS

SHREVEPORT, La., March 26.—(AP)—Home runs by Novasel and Boken and two baggers by Mowery, Boken and Coombs featured St. Paul Saints' 11 to 2 victory over the Shreveport Sports of the Texas league today. Boken made five hits in six trials and batted in five runs.

Score by innings:
St. Paul ....312 100 013—11 18 0
Shreveport ....101 000 000— 2 6 2

Herring, Coombs and Shea, Bowman; Bivins and Gray.

REDS WHIP TIGERS

LAKELAND, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe's attempted pitching comback with the Detroit Tigers struck a snag today and, as a result, the Cincinnati Reds handled the Bengals a neat 8-to-3 lacing in an exhibition game.

Rowe toiled the first three innings and was touched for five hits and four runs, one of them an inside-the park homer by Harry Craft, Red centerfielder. Rowe appeared to have his former speed and good control but apparently lacked "stuff" after his first inning, when he got the side out in order.

Gene Schott, veteran righthander, went the distance for the Reds and allowed only seven hits, including a home run by Pete Fox.

Score by innings:
Cincinnati (N) ....031 120 001—8 11 0
Detroit (A) ....000 000 021—3 7 2

Schott and Lombardi; Rowe, Lawson (3), Gill (7) and York, Tebbetts (7).

CUBS BEAT CHISOX AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(AP)—Benefitting by two wild pitches in the seventh inning by John Rigney, Chicago White Sox sophomore pitcher, the Chicago Cubs defeated their hometown American league rivals 4 to 3 today. It was a fourth consecutive victory for the Cubs over the White Sox.

Although Tex Carleton and Clay Bryant pitched in fine form and allowed only six hits over the route, the Cubs trailed 2 to 1 going into the seventh. First up, they scored three times, with Bryant's triple and two wild pitches which permitted runners to score, highlighting the uprising. Both teams played errorless ball.

Score by innings:
Chicago (N) ....000 100 300—4 10 0
Chicago (A) ....100 010 100—3 6 0

Carleton, Bryant (5), and O'Dea; Whitehead, Rigney (6), C. Brown (8), and Sewell, Rensa.

PIRATES BEAT SEALS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's National leaguers tied their series with the coast league San Francisco Seals with a 6 to 3 victory today, the teams thus going into the final exhibition battle here tomorrow with two games each.

A four-run rally in the eighth broke up what was otherwise a tight game. Gus Suhr, Pittsburgh first baseman, singled to drive in two of the scores. Rizzo, National league left fielder, lifted the ball over the left field fence in the ninth for the longest hit of the encounter.

Score by innings:
Pittsburgh (NL) ..000 100 041—6 12 0
San Francisco (PC) 100 000 011—3 7 1

Heintzelman, Swift (6) and Todd; Ballou, Shores (5) and Woodall.

RED SOX DOWN BEES

SARASOTA, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Johnny Marcum, big disappointment of the Red Sox pitching staff the past two years, showed a startling reversal of form today as he set the Boston Bees down with one hit in four innings, the American leaguers going on to even the city series with a 5-1 triumph.

Dick Midkiff, who relieved Marcum, was almost as effective, yielding only three safeties the remainder of the way. The Bees made their lone run off him in the sixth.

Lou Fette was removed after the Sox batters found him for four runs in the fourth, but Danny MacFayden, who followed him, gave another one-hit performance the rest of the way.

Cramer and Chapman contributed triples to the Red Sox cause, while Vince DiMaggio and Jimmy Foxx rang up doubles.

PELS TRIM JERSEY

LAFAYETTE, La., March 26.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association trimmed Jersey City of the International league 11 to 6 today.

The two teams will tangle here again tomorrow while the Pelican rookies meet the Cleveland Indian rookies at New Orleans. Infielder Eddie Marshall, purchased outright from the Milwaukee club, reported to the Pels today at New Orleans. A class A player, he batted .285 in the American association last season. He is expected to take over the shortstop job.

TEXAS TENNIS TEAM WINS FROM MIAMI BY 1 POINT

AUSTIN, Tex., March 26.—(AP)—The strong University of Texas tennis team was hard pressed to eke out a 5-4 victory over the University of Miami in a sparkling match here today.

Gardner Mulloy, ace of the Floridians, had little trouble with Bob Kamrath, Southwest conference champion, winning 6-4, 6-1.

Other results:

Singles: Weller of Texas defeated Duff of Miami, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0; Christner of Texas defeated Hardie of Miami, 6-0, 8-10, 6-3; Lapman of Texas defeated Hendrix of Miami, 9-7, 6-3; Walthall of Texas defeated Franks of Miami, 6-3, 6-1; Behr of Miami defeated Dullnig of Texas, 6-2, 7-5.

Doubles: Mulloy and Hardie defeated Kamrath and Weller, 8-6, 9-7; Hendrix and Franks defeated Dullnig and Walthall, 6-2, 6-4; Christner and Lapman defeated Behr and Gillespie, Miami, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

CUNNINGHAM WINS FROM TWO RIVALS

Kansas Miler Beats Fenske By Foot And Venzke Finishes Third In Race

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the old master of the milers, proved it again tonight before a roaring crowd of 10,000 spectators by conquering his newest rival, sturdy Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin, by about a foot after a steaming battle in the famous Bankers' mile, in 4 minutes, 9.9 seconds.

The race, forecast as an opportunity for the great Cunningham to better his own spectacular 4:04.4 made at Dartmouth college a month ago, failed to produce any such thing, but it did pull the spectators right out of their seats. Cunningham, cagy and trackwise, remained off the pace through ten of the eleven laps, and had to turn on every ounce of pressure in the final circuit to outfinish the brilliant Badger youngster.

Fenske took the lead for a lap, then Jimmy Smith, slender Indiana university negro star, set the pace—not particularly fast—for the next four times around, with Gene Venzke, former Pennsylvania star, last. Fenske was in control, with Cunningham pegging along in second and third places and closeup from there until the gun lap.

As the gun sounded, the powerful Kansan shot out in front. Fenske responded with a spurt of his own that regained him the lead for about a quarter of a lap. Once more Cunningham made a move and this time stayed there with Fenske trying desperately to summon up that extra ounce of power that might give him victory.

Venske staged a brisk finish to take third place from the fading Smith, landing about seven yards behind Fenske. The first quarter went in 62 seconds, the half-mile in 2:06 and three-quarters in 3:08.

It was Cunningham's 15th triumph of his greatest indoor season, and his eleventh mile in better than 4:10.

Don Lash, Indiana's world recordholder in the two-mile, exploded a terrific finishing burst to whip a picked field at his favorite route. In the final lap, Lash whipped Norman Bright, from San Francisco's Olympic club, in the good time of 9 minutes, 10.7 seconds, by about 10 yards.

Joe McCluskey, the old "Iron Man" from Fordham and the New York A. C., world record-maker in the indoor steeplechase, set most of the pace, but eased off on the final lap and fell before the finishing performances of Lash and Bright, landing third place.

MATTHEWS AND WILSON FIGHT HERE MONDAY

TALLULAH NEGRO HEAVYWEIGHT IN SHAPE FOR BOUT

Oscar Recovers From Wrist Injury; Wilson Said To Be Worthy Foe

Boxing returns to Monroe in a big way Monday night when Oscar Matthews, sensational Tallulah negro heavyweight, will meet Ted Wilson, of St. Louis, in a scheduled 12-round bout at Bruscato arena.

Matthews, who ran up a spectacular string of knockout triumphs in New York before he injured his wrist, finished training last night and was reported in the pink of condition. He will weigh around 203 pounds for the encounter with Wilson. Wilson, who fought and won another knockout victory in Florida last Wednesday night, is expected to return here today.

Thirty-four rounds of fighting are scheduled on the stadium card. The program is as follows:

Main event: Oscar Matthews, 203, Tallulah, vs. Ted Wilson, 201, St. Louis, Mo., 12 rounds.

Semi-final: Joe Gulley, 156, West Monroe, vs. "Speedy" Wallace, 161, San Diego, Calif., 10 rounds.

Preliminaries: Kid Napoleon, 148, Monroe, vs. "Papa" Williams, 149, West Monroe; Marcus Jones, 146, Milhaven, vs. Joe Brown, 147, Monroe; and Battling Sam, 135, Monroe, vs. Curtis Ellington, 138, Arcadia, all four rounds.

A number of reservations already have been received by Promoter Charlie Bruscato and a capacity crowd is expected to see the battles. More than one hundred fans are expected from Tallulah, home town of Matthews.

Paul Berlenbach, who handled Matthews during his campaign in New York, may fly here to be in his corner Monday night. Jimmy Yeates, who discovered Matthews in a sawmill at Tallulah and subsequently developed him into a good fighter and sent him to New York, said Friday that Berlenbach had wired him that he would fly here if possible.

Matthews proved quite a sensation in New York with a strong of eight consecutive knockouts before he injured his arm. He was touted in the big city as a worthy contender for the heavyweight championship and he proved a great crowd pleaser at the St. Nicholas arena. He came home after hurting his wrist and has been recuperating at Tallulah for the past month. He's pronounced in top shape now.

Promoter Bruscato said Wilson provides a real test for Matthews and he even went so far yesterday as to predict that the St. Louis negro would win. Wilson is said to be a slugger and he also can box, if press reports are correct.

WRESTLING WEDNESDAY

Despite the fact that a big-time boxing show will be presented at Bruscato arena Monday night, the weekly wrestling show also will be staged Wednesday night at the arena, Promoter Charlie Bruscato announced yesterday.

Promoter Bruscato said the card had not been completed yesterday but the main event match will present Turk Powell, of Alabama, vs. Najeeb Rabeen, of Turkey. Two good boys will be signed for the semi-final, Bruscato said.

Powell beat the rough "Cowboy" Purdin last week, while Rabeen won over Al Caddell in a rousing match.

Track Records Tumble In Annual Southwestern Meet

MONTY MAKES GOOD

The success of Lloyd Montgomery in the Chicago-New York Golden Gloves tourney last Monday night apparently means that he's lost to the Northeast Center boxing and football squads for good. Montgomery, from all reports, will turn pro.

According to newsmen at the ringside, Montgomery was the best heavyweight in the ring that night. After Dan Merritt, who beat Monty in the Chicago finals, had been matched with Abner Powell, ace of the New York team, the pairings were suddenly switched and Montgomery assigned to battle the Harlem slugger. Lloyd gave Powell a neat beating, and thus clinched the Chicago victory.

"Three fighters stood head and shoulders over the pack," wrote the Associated Press sports writer. "They were Bill Speary, Lloyd Montgomery and Jim O'Malley. Montgomery beat Powell to the punch consistently in the last two rounds and inflicted some real punishment in the third."

Following Montgomery's impressive triumph in the Madison Square Garden ring, it was reported that Jack Dempsey was interested in the Arkansas battler. Dempsey has been casting about for a heavyweight to dethrone Joe Louis and his latest protege, "Red" Burman, was a complete flop. Now it is said that he is casting longing glances in Montgomery's direction.

There are some who will tell you that Lloyd is too light to campaign among the heavyweights. He weighs 185 pounds. However, it will be remembered that Bob Fitzsimmons weighed only 165 pounds when he was at his peak and Dempsey himself tipped the beam at only 190 when he was champion.

Be that as it may, Northeast Center apparently has lost a stellar boxer and an excellent football prospect now that Montgomery has scaled the heights in Golden Gloves fistic circles.

ROWE'S TROUBLES

Baseball fans of this section who know Schoolboy Rowe are watching his comeback attempts with considerable interest. The Schoolboy's a swell guy and the recent story out of Florida that his arm was definitely "shot" proved a disappointment to his friends hereabouts who had hoped that he'd regain his effectiveness this spring.

However, the records seem to indicate that Rowe has had some tough sledding in the two exhibition games that he's pitched. The Schoolboy has worked six innings in two games and has allowed a total of 10 hits and five runs during those six frames. That isn't exactly winning baseball in the big show.

Rowe's friends are still pulling for him to come back but frankly, it looks like a hopeless proposition. We hope we're wrong.

THE CLEVELAND PAIRINGS

We thought you baseball fans might be interested in who rooms with whom on a major league baseball team, so with the help of Jimmie Hamilton and Laurent Hulin around at the Virginia hotel, we dug up the reservations of the Cleveland Indians, who meet the New York Giants here on April 8. Thirty-five members of the Cleveland party will put up at the Virginia, arriving Thursday night, April 7.

Here's the setup:

Wally Schang and Bob Feller, John Allen and Frank Pytlak, Denny Galehouse and Hal Trosky, Joe Heving and John Kroner, Earl Whitehill and Roy Weatherley, Rollie Hemsley and Bruce Campbell, Lyn Lary and Julius Solters, Ken Keltner and John Humphries, Al Milnar and Bill Zuber, Earl Averill and O'Dell Hale, Tom Drake and Henry Helf, Tom Irwin and Oscar Grimes, Mel Harder and Willis Hudlin, and Jeff Heath in a room by himself.

Manager Oscar Vitt, Coach John Bassler, Secretary Frank Kohlbecker, Newspapermen Gordon Cobbledick, Stuart Bell and Ed McAuliff, Umpire L. C. Kolls and Trainer Lefty Weisman all occupy single rooms.

Bruce Campbell, one of the shy, silent men of baseball, has our sympathy. He rooms with Rollie Hemsley.

Clifford Johnson, local boy who broke into professional baseball with the Monroe club last year and then served terms with Texarkana and Marshall in the East Texas league, was the subject of a squib from Arcadia, Fla., training base of the Louisville Colonels, in the Sporting News last week.

"Cliff Johnson, six foot, three inch rookie first baseman who quit the University of Alabama for baseball," the article read, "has shown well at the plate in practice at the Arcadia camp of the Louisville Colonels. Cliff was a freshman at Alabama and made the Rose Bowl trip with the last Crimson Tide football team."

The part about Cliff's being a freshman at Alabama last year isn't entirely correct, but the good news is the fact that he looks effective as a member of the Louisville squad. Johnson got a real break when several rookies were called in to battle for the first base slot on the Louisville club and Cliff's many friends here are pulling for him to cop the job.

L. S. U. CAPTURES TEAM TITLE WITH 10 FIRST PLACES

More Than 500 College And High School Athletes Compete In Carnival

LAFAYETTE, La., March 26.—(AP)—Track and field records tumbled today in the twelfth annual southwestern relay carnival at the Southwestern Louisiana institute stadium.

The Louisiana State Tigers captured 10 first places, including two freshmen events, setting up a distance medley relay mark and smashing three former meet records.

More than 500 college and high school athletes from Louisiana and neighboring states competed.

Ware of L. S. U. won the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds for a new meet record. The Tiger freshmen also broke meet marks by taking the mile relay in 3 minutes, 28.4 seconds and the medley relay in 3 minutes, 38.2 seconds.

Millard White of Tulane university turned in the only other record-breaking performance in the college division by sailing the discus 148 feet, 10 inches, to crack the old meet mark of 146 feet, 11 inches set by Irwin of Texas A. and M. in 1934.

The Louisiana State quartet of Torros, Church, Walters and McRae ran the 440-880-1320-mile distance medley relay in 10 minutes, 31.2 seconds, which stands as a record since it was run today for the first time at the relay carnival.

Louisiana State also took first places in the 120-yard high hurdles, won by Waterer in 15.5 seconds; the pole vault, in which Evans soared 12 feet, 9 inches; the high jump, in which Darling went six feet even; the 880-yard relay, one minute, 28.8 seconds; the 440-yard relay, 42.7 seconds, and the two mile relay, 8 minutes, 9.6 seconds.

White of Tulane also took the shotput event with a heave of 46 feet, 9 inches. Parker of Louisiana Normal won the javelin toss at 196 feet, 5 inches, and Tulane won the mile relay in 3 minutes, 22.5 seconds.

In the high school events new records were made in the discus, shotput, pole vault, high jump, mile relay and medley relay. More than 40 high schools had entrants.

The Baton Rouge High school relay team smashed the old mile record held by Port Arthur, Tex., since 1933, making the distance in 3 minutes, 27.8 seconds. Felix Jumonville, anchor man, was clocked at 48.4 seconds in his lap.

Summaries of college events:

LOUISVILLE TEAM FAVORED TO WIN CATHOLIC TOURNEY

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP)—St. Xavier High of Louisville, Ky., twice winner of the National Catholic High School basketball tournament, stood out tonight as a heavy favorite to achieve its third crown after overpowering LaSalle of Cumberland, Md., 40 to 22, in the semi-finals of the 15th Loyola university event.

Rangy and powerful, the Kentuckians were ahead, 32 to 12, tonight when Coach Bob Schuhmann began fourth-quarter substitutions. By that time Captain Bert Robbins had established himself as top scorer with 14 points.

St. Xavier and LaSalle had accounted this afternoon for the quarter-final defeats of defending champion Fenwick of Oak Park, Ill., and Chicago's city champion, Leo. Reitz Memorial of Evansville, Ind., provided an interlude in Chicago-tinged battles by defeating Immaculate Conception of Trenton, N. J., 38 to 21, after which Loyola repulsed Mount Carmel's bid, 40 to 32, in an all-Chicago affair.

St. Xavier, showing class and balanced power, duplicated its last scoring effort in disposing of Fenwick, 53 to 32. LaSalle then jolted a favored Leo team, 24 to 19, for the tournament's first upset.

MISSISSIPPI STATE NINE BEATS MINNESOTA, 3 TO 2

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., March 26.—(AP)—Mississippi State opened its 1938 baseball season today with a 3 to 2 victory over the Minnesota university Gophers. Both teams appeared in mid-season form and neither was charged with an error.

After loading the bases in the first inning with one man out, Lumsden, starting pitcher for the Maroons, tightened and retired the side. He gave way to Grissom at the start of the fourth.

Grissom gave up two hits and as many runs in that inning, but finished with only one other Gopher reaching first. Fossum, Minnesota right fielder, was hit by a pitched ball in the eighth.

A home run by Nixon, Mississippi State first baseman, drove in Clark in the fifth. Hight, left fielder, smashed a triple to right in the sixth frame and scored the winning run on Dixon's fly to deep center. The Maroons touched Schultz for nine hits.

Score by innings:

Minnesota ....000 200 000—2 4 0
Mississippi State ..000 021 00x—3 9 0

Schultz and Lindberg; Lumsden, Grissom and McVey.

Florida Training Gossip

By Gayle Talbot

TAMPA, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Any comeback the St. Louis Cardinals decide to make to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis will come from President Sam Breadon Monday in St. Louis. The Card boss is motoring home, and before leaving intimated he might have a few words to say.

Branch Rickey, outwardly at least, doesn't appear in the least ruffled by the commissioner's action in amputating some 100 young players from the Cardinal system. He was in high good humor as he watched the Cards battle the Detroit Tigers Friday at St. Petersburg.

"I'm not admitting anything and I'm not saying anything until Judge Landis gives out the list of players made free agents," he repeated. "Then maybe I'll have something to say."

Rickey is much interested in an experiment in "streamlining" baseball being conducted by Frank Wright at the University of Florida. The idea is to speed up the game, and there are a dozen innovations.

"I watched them play, and they've got at least one mighty good idea," said Rickey. "That is to provide a base runner for the catcher after he has reached first. It would speed up the game a lot and supply the fans with new entertainment. For instance, Sammy Baugh out there would be a big attraction as a special runner. I'm all in favor of it, and I'll recommend it to the rules committee when I get a chance."

Some of the other "streamline" stunts Rickey didn't like, particularly the idea of keeping the manager off the playing field and out of arguments.

"That's too much a part of the game to change," he said.

The Yankees are caught in a switch about Outfielder Ernie Koy, former fullback at the University of Texas. They've farmed him out for five years now, and were going to do it again this season until Judge Landis told them no.

Now they've got either to keep him or ask waivers on him, and there are several clubs in the American league that would break their necks to get hold of Koy. In exhibition games up to today he has been hitting .385. That's higher than any of the regular outfielders.

It's a tough decision Manager Joe McCarthy has to make and he says he probably won't make up his mind until late in April.

The fightingest crew in Florida are the Detroiters, and they really believe they are going to beat out the Yankees this time.

"Too much importance has been attached to whether Rowe's arm comes back," said Manager Mickey Cochrane as he warmed up Vernon Kennedy. "We've got a great chance of winning whether he comes back or not. I've got five or six good pitchers."

In the three innings he had pitched until Saturday, Rowe allowed five hits and said he finished without any pain in his wing.

"Of course, that's what he tells me," said Mickey. "We'll just have to wait and see."

Best-looking rookie pitcher seen in these parts belongs to the Boston Red Sox, who need another winning flinger worse than a farmer needs rain. He is Jim Bagby, Jr., 21-year-old son of the famous Jim who won 30 games for Cleveland when Jim, Jr., was in swaddling clothes. He appears to have everything, and Manager Joe Cronin can't keep his eyes off him.

Pitching for Hazleton last season, the youngster won 21 games and lost eight and was voted the most valuable player in the league. He had an earned run average of 2.71 and piled up 113 strikeouts.

Everybody seems to think the Cincinnati Reds show the biggest improvement of any of the clubs in the region. At least, they have been winning at a reckless pace and their young pitchers are showing better control under Bill McKechnie's administration.

The most important addition to the team is Frank McCormick, six foot four inch first baseman, who is slugging the cover off the ball.

OKLAHOMA A. AND M. WINS MAT CHAMPIONSHIP AGAIN

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 26.—(AP)—Oklahoma A. and M.'s orange-clad cowboys captured their ninth national collegiate wrestling championship in eleven years tonight and had one of their number, tiny Joe McDaniels, named the best in the tournament.

The sturdy 118-pounder, former national amateur champion and defending N. C. A. A. king, led the Aggies in their impressive triumph by defeating Willard Duffy, Indiana's Olympic star and undefeated Big Ten champion.

McDaniels was selected by a committee of the American Amateur Wrestling Coaches' association and continued the reign of cowboy wrestlers as the tournament's best performers.

FERRIDAY K. OF C. HONOR FOUNDERS

This Week Set Aside To Commemorate Inauguration Of Order

FERRIDAY, La., March 26.—(Special)—Grand Knight August J. Stone of Natchez Council 1034 Knights of Columbus, announced plans have been completed for the local council's participation in the fraternity's international program to observe Founders' week which starts today and continues through April 3. The week has been proclaimed to honor Father Michael J. McGivney and his 10 associates who founded the fraternity in New Haven, Conn., in 1882. Members of the local council will receive Holy Communion this morning at the 6 o'clock mass in St. Mary's cathedral, this also being the first quarterly communion Sunday for the council.

D. W. Piazza has been appointed chairman of Founders' week activities and extended an invitation to the 11 living active members of the local council who are charter members, to attend the meeting Monday night, at 8 o'clock, as guests of the officers and members of the council. The meeting will be featured by dramatic sketches of early sessions of the incorporators and addresses on "Faith of Our Fathers."

INVESTIGATION OF TVA PLANNED

nine-foot navigation channel 650 miles long from Paducah to Knoxville, Tenn., control floods, prevent drouths, produce cheap electric power and fertilizer, and prepare for the national defense.

"If we are successful here," the president exclaimed, "we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

Some said it would take $500,000,000 to complete the Tenessee valley job. Congress came through each session with additional funds until today appropriations have totaled $196,000,000. Officials say $155,000,000 of this has been spent.

First, said congress, TVA must take over and operate Wilson dam and the idle war-time nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals near Florence, Ala. This done, it was authorized to start developments anywhere in the seven southeastern states drained by the Tennessee.

It started by constructing Norris dam, north of Knoxville, and impounding head waters from the Appalachians. It backed up great lakes in the Powell and Clinch rivers to be released in time of drouth.

Then it built Wheeler dam and another reservoir 15 miles above Wilson dam. This added 74 miles to the navigable reaches of the Tennessee and aided flood and drouth control.

It is completing a dam and reservoir at Pickwick landing, near Shiloh battlefield in western Tennessee, which is expected to add another 50 miles of channel.

Other dams have been started at Guntersville, Ala., Chattanooga, Tenn., and on the Hiwassee river, a tributary in North Carolina. The dams, say TVA officials, will provide 300 miles of connecting navigation lakes. An authorized dam, still without appropriation, at Gilbertsville, Ky., would add 187 miles of channel from the mouth of the Tennessee to Pickwick landing.

Friends and foes of the project differ widely in their estimates of the power development's results.

In a recent report, TVA said it was distributing electric power wholesale, chiefly from Muscle Shoals, to 18 municipalities and 16 rural cooperatives in about 50 counties in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee at an average cost of 5½ mills per kilowatt hour.

The authority contended this had reduced the household service charges of three private utility companies using TVA power by 31, 36 and 46 per cent, respectively.

Congressional critics of TVA contend, however, that it has given private "monopolistic" industries long-time contracts for the bulk of its power at rates lower than those charged municipalities, and that some of these contracts contain hidden provisions for rebates.

was halted in Louisiana through the cooperation of capital, labor and government with the committee for sustained employment." The governor is also expected to explain how the state will handle the annual summer business slump through a series of campaigns beginning April 1 with Home Improvement month. In addition to the Red network stations, the speech will also be broadcast over seven Louisiana stations, including KRMD, Shreveport; KMLB, Monroe; KPLC, Lake Charles; KVOL, Lafayette; KALB, Alexandria; WJBO, Baton Rouge, and WSMB, New Orleans.

In a telephone conversation Saturday morning with D. M. Ellison, Governor Lech's secretary, Mayor Benoit was advised that Colonel Weldon and Mr. Anderson would be here Monday to confer with local officials and leaders in mapping out the campaign for better summer business.

Mayor Benoit announced that he was inviting representatives of various groups, including chamber of commerce, police jury, service clubs, civic organizations, newspapers and radio stations to meet the delegation from the governor's office at city hall at 1:30 o'clock Monday.

The mayor pledged the cooperation of the people of Monroe in a proclamation issued yesterday, urging the citizens to join the campaign to make the coming summer an active one in business and to observe the month of April as Home Improvement month.

Governor Leche is on his way to Washington with a delegation appearing before a congressional committee in behalf of the Overton amendment to the flood control act.

The drive against the seasonal summer slump was initiated last week by the governor in his bi-weekly statewide radio talk when he said that Louisiana will concentrate on a purchasing campaign from April 1 through September 30. He designated April as Home Improvement month and asked officials and merchants to cooperate with him in the campaign and urged citizens to improve their homes during these 30 days.

WARNING ISSUED BY NO. 2 NAZI

nigg's startling announcement of the plebiscite which was to have been held March 13.

He termed Schuschnigg's plebiscite plan a "plain swindle," and continued: "God did not let the Fuehrer come into the world for nothing. He had a high mission. * * * The Austrian government had suppressed the people with foreign bayonets."

The crowd greeted every reference to Schuschnigg with noisy derision. It made its greatest demonstrations, however, when Goering assailed Jews and clericals who participate in politics.

It was implied that elimination of Jews would go hand in hand with Austria's participation in Germany's four-year plan, and the Jews could consequently have four years to eliminate themselves from the German scene.

When he spoke of the church, Goering declared:

"We have no desire to destroy religion. In Germany we did not destroy the church but (we destroyed) the clerical party. And once this is understood, perhaps clerical opposition will be ready to make peace.

"There will be no compromise with the church organization which goes outside its proper sphere."

The application forms have been filled out and taxpayers are required only to sign a form to become entitled to the homestead exemption tax benefit, it was pointed out.

Sheriff Coverdale announced he will advertise for sale on May 1 property on which taxes have not been paid at that time.

The Labor party, disappointed at Chamberlain's Spanish policy and skeptical of Italo-British negotiations, promised meanwhile to keep up its attacks on the government.

There was a possibility another foreign affairs debate in the house of commons might be demanded.

On the continent, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his right-hand man, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, kept central European issues alive.

Goering, speaking in Vienna in the campaign preceding the April 10 plebiscite on Austro-German union, inveighed against former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and outlined a sweeping program to combat unemployment in Austria and build up the greater Germany.

Czechoslovakia's internal politics continued to ferment as a result of Hitler's annexation of Austria.

The man of the hour for the 3,500,000 Germans among the 15,000,000 people in the war-created republic was Konrad Henlein, Nazi leader, who has demanded new elections so his followers might regain their "rights."

Poland and Lithuania, whose dispute over issues of 18 years standing threatened to result in war just a week ago, made progress in negotiations for resumption of normal relations.

Delegates of the two countries meeting at Augustow, Poland, reached an agreement on postal, highway and aerial communications and turned to discussion of railway communications.

The move by United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull on behalf of political refugees met a sympathetic response in a number of European countries.

The Netherlands cabinet will meet Monday to take a decision on the proposal for cooperation in affording refugees a haven.

The British government promised to give its immediate attention to the American proposal and a favorable French reply was expected soon.

10,000 TO 20,000 MEN REPORTED TRAPPED

HENDAYE, France—(At the Spanish Frontier)—March 27—(Sunday)—(AP)—Embattled government troops numbering between 10,000 and 20,000 were reported trapped in the Alcubierre mountains early today by insurgent hordes sweeping eastward toward the Mediterranean.

While insurgent commanders reported government defenders in "complete rout" along sections of the 135 mile Aragon front, two insurgent columns were said to have encircled the mountains, 25 miles east of Zaragoza.

At the same time a third insurgent column smashed into rich Castellon province, hitherto untouched by insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's fighters.

Military advices said insurgent troops laid siege to Sarinena, 15 miles north of the Alcubierre mountains, joining forces with a motorized column from Bujaraloz, captured by the insurgents yesterday.

Sarinena has been a base for government forces defending elaborate fortifications in the mountains to the south.

Insurgent dispatches said the entire sierra was surrounded and that all villages on the northeastern slopes, including Lanaja, were now in the hands of Franco's fighters.

After storming into Castellon province, the insurgents headed for the village of Zorita, about 40 miles from the sea.

DEFENDERS REPORTED IN COMPLETE ROUT

HENDAYE, France (At The Spanish Frontier), March 26.—(AP)—Hard-driving insurgent commanders tonight reported government defenders "in complete rout" before Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces smashing toward the Mediterranean.

One section of the rapidly advancing insurgent line, strung out over a 135-mile front, reached the coastal province of Castellon and pointed at the Castellon village of Zorita, about 40 miles from the coast.

Zorita is between the vital government strongholds of Valencia and Barcelona and in the path of insurgents thrusting at government-held Catalonia.

JAPAN MOVES TOWARD TOTALITARIANISM

TOKYO, March 26.—(AP)—Japan's parliament ended a historic session tonight, having taken the nation far along the road to totalitarianism.

The last bill enacted was a government measure to transfer entire control of Japan's huge electric industry from private hands to the state.

Also voted was the bitterly contested national mobilization bill to give the government unlimited power to draft Japan's manpower and economic resources in a war emergency.

The whole session, the regular 1937-38 meeting, was marked by conflict between the cabinet and the legislature, dissension between the houses and strife among the parties in the lower house.

The electric bill was the last of 86 which the government introduced. All but ten were adopted. The session already had approved the regular 1938-39 budget of $833,000,000, of which about half goes to the army and navy, and also a supplementary budget of $1,400,000,000 for expenses of the war in China.

Evidence of strain on the nation's financial and material reserves was seen in a sharp rise in the commodity prices index, published today.

The ratio for March was 106.7, based on last July as the normal and showed increases in the cost of all essential commodities.

The finance ministry also announced an ordinance revision affecting foreign exchange, starting April 5, government permission will be necessary for the following transactions:

Purchasing or sale of foreign exchanges in Japan, sale of yen exchange in foreign countries, remittances—including cash—to foreign countries, export of coupons of securities in foreign currency, issuance of letters of credit and payment of telegraphic transfers.

IDEALS BACK OF REFUGEE OFFER

elsewhere in the world. In substance, they reassert that only under democracy can such ideals survive.

PARAGUAY SUGGESTED FOR COLONIZATION

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP)—Representative Dies, Democrat, Texas, proposed today that political refugees from Germany and Austria be colonized in Paraguay, South American republic which he said has thousands of unpopulated acres.

The Texan directed his suggestion to Secretary Hull, who three days ago called on other governments to join the United States in aiding such refugees.

In a letter to Hull, Dies said that unless his proposal or something like it were adopted the United States would be flooded by the persecuted and jobless of Europe.

He asserted most European countries had basic laws denying aliens the right to work except under conditions which "in most instances prove impossible of compliance."

"I, therefore, fear that while other nations will enthusiastically agree to the proposal (of Hull's) yet the effect will be merely to open our doors for these unfortunate peoples with little or no reciprocal action on the part of the other countries involved."

not be more than $300,000,000. Both restrictions would be eliminated under the administration proposal.

The new provision would empower the RFC to "purchase the securities and obligations of and to make loans to, any business enterprise when capital or credit, at prevailing rates for the character of a loan provided for, is not otherwise available."

The corporation would be restricted only by its judgment as to the solvency of the borrower and the soundness of the loan.

It would be required to determine that the loan or security was of a nature "reasonably to assure retirement or repayment."

The corporation would be permitted to lend money to states, municipalities and other public agencies for projects authorized by federal, state or municipal law.

agreed to turn over to the police Martin's signed statement, together with all data assembled during their investigation and interrogation of Martin.

Martin was arrested about 9 p.m. last night as he was leaving his school. The officers accompanied him to his home, where the jewelry was found.

In the glove compartment of his car, police said they found a .32 caliber automatic pistol and a pair of brass knucks.

Martin had been associated with the Dallas school system for 10 years, coming here from Grapevine, near Dallas, the home town of his slain nephew.

Pending completion of the investigation, school authorities placed P. C. Cobb, athletic director of the system, in charge of Martin's school.

CHICKEN DRUG STORE EXCLUSIVE CONCERN

PETALUMA, Calif.—(AP)—The only pharmacy exclusively for chickens is operated here in "the nation's egg basket" by Dr. D. E. Davis, a veterinarian.

Dr. Davis has treated chicken ailments for 14 years and has had to manufacture many of his remedies. Since chickens often get chicken pox, Dr. Davis has done considerable experimenting with anti-pox vaccines.

Worst danger to chickens, he finds, is infectious bronchitis.

3 TOLD TO QUIT HUNT FOR GOLD

turned up, considerably bewildered and somewhat muddy, in front of Magistrate Cooper.

After ascertaining that their names were, respectively, Louis Cassano, 25, Anthony Cassano, 20, his brother, and Joseph Marrone, 20, he inquired the nature of their nocturnal prowling.

"We were just looking for gold," said Louis Cassano. "You know, old gold."

"Gold, old gold?" inquired the magistrate archly. He demanded details.

It developed then that the Cassano brothers and their fellow argonaut, Marrone, had discovered that the sewers were indeed nothing less than bonanza creeks.

During the last eight months, working in the early morning hours when traffic was light, they had panned enough old gold to yield them an average weekly income of from $35 to $50 a week. They fished out gold teeth, coins and jewelry of every description. Once they found a diamond ring that brought $150, they said.

Their equipment consisted of high boots, shovels, rakes, flashlights, a pan with a screened bottom, and the ability to ignore unpleasant odors.

The magistrate was impressed with their enterprise, but ordered them to cease and desist, forthwith, else they would be sent up on disorderly conduct charges.

MARK TWAIN SHAFT 'MARK TWAIN' HIGH

ELMIRA, N. Y.—(AP)—A monument to Mark Twain, author, and to Ossip Gabrilowitsch, orchestra leader, has been erected in Woodlawn cemetery by Mrs. Clara Clemens Gabrilowitsch, granddaughter and wife, respectively, of the two men.

The monument, a five and one-half ton shaft of granite, is 12 feet high—or two fathoms—a measure which Mississippi rivermen termed "mark twain" and from which Samuel L. Clemens took his pen name.

CHICAGO—Wheat slightly lower. Corn firm. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs steady; trade limited.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—(AP)—Cotton rallied from a small early decline today under trade buying and covering and closed steady at net advances of 5 to 8 points.

A primary factor behind the demand was in recent action of the commodity credit corporation in extending the deadline of the federal loan which trade circles believed would continue to absorb cotton that otherwise would enter commercial channels.

As a result shorts covered moderately and found contracts scarce. Prices were bid up in late trading and the close was at the best.

May finished at 8.85, July at 8.91, October 8.95, December at 8.97, January 8.98 and March 9.01.

Foreign markets were about as expected and helped the undertone in early dealings.

Total sales yesterday were 18,400 bales and open commitments 410,750 bales, an increase of 1,950 bales above the previous day.

Exports today were 10,020 bales.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP)—Strong buying support stemmed the liquidating tide of the stock market for a while today, but heavy selling again swept over the list at the close.

After sinking to new lows for three years or longer at the opening, the list quickly about-faced and converted early losses of fractions to more than 2 points into advances of as much. The ticker tape was behind about 3 minutes on the rebound.

The initial run-up inspired many traders to cash in and extreme gains were subsequently converted into declines of as much as 4 points.

Brokers attributed the brief upturn after yesterday's collapse mainly to speculative "bargain hunters" who reentered with bids on the theory the preceding downswing may have been in the nature of a selling climax and at least a technical come-back was in the offing.

It was one of the liveliest Saturdays in months, with transfers totaling 1,383,370 shares.

Bonds and commodities failed to perform with securities. Numerous weak spots were evident in the loans department while staples futures were notably uneven.

There were few outstanding news items that could be interpreted as exceptionally optimistic, but analysts seemed to detect an occasional cheering sign.

Attention was given the move of Senator Carter Glass in introducing a bill to authorize the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make loans to industry and purchase securities of private corporations on a much broader scale than is now permitted.

Although department store sales for the week ended March 19 were off 16 per cent from a year ago, building permits for February, outside of New York, topped January by 28 per cent.

Old Newspaper Describes Vicksburg Trials In Siege

Publication Printed On Wallpaper Shortly Before Grant Took City

A treasured piece of faded and aging wallpaper, frayed around the edges and torn in half is a possession of Ed Roberson, 802 North Sixth street, Monroe. However, it's not just a piece of wallpaper, but a copy of the final publication of the famous "wallpaper editions" of The Daily Citizen, Vicksburg, Miss., newspaper, published in 1863 while the federal forces, under General U. S. Grant, were hammering away at Vicksburg's Confederate defenses.

True copies of the "wallpaper editions," printed so because no other suitable paper was available during the course of the siege, have drawn good prices from collectors of such rare papers, but at one time, it is said, counterfeits of the publications were produced by unscrupulous persons who passed them off as "the real thing" and at a profit.

However, Mr. Roberson, engine foreman at the Brown Paper mill and formerly employed for 19 years by the Illinois Central railroad, said yesterday he had been in possession of the paper for 25 years and declared it was genuine. The four-column one-page newspaper was brought out this week for mending, having been torn recently, Mr. Robertson said, when he loaned it to a friend.

The paper, although small, gives "good coverage" on the progress of the war, lauds the southern hero, General Robert E. Lee, relates stories of the besieged citizens resorting to mule steaks and fricasseed kitten for food, tells conditions in the Union army as southerners saw them, and mentions cases of lack of discipline in the ranks of the Vicksburg defenders.

According to the paper, with printing on the back side and its wallpaper design on the other, J. M. Swords was the proprietor of the publication. The issue owned by Mr. Roberson is that of Thursday, July 2, 1863. Two days later, the flag of the Union floated over Vicksburg, and General Grant had taken charge.

Unable to break the siege, Vicksburg citizens' food supplies began running lower and lower as the end drew near. Two short stories from The Citizen told of the food problem in a humorous way without striking fear of starvation and death among the besieged.

One story: "We are indebted to Major Gillespie for a steak of Confederate beef, alias meat. We have tried it, and can assure our friends that if it is rendered necessary, they need have no scruples at eating the meat . . . and so long as we have a mule left we are satisfied our soldiers will be content to subsist on it."

The other: "We learn of an instance wherein a 'knight of the quill' and a disciple of the black art, with malice in their hearts and vengeance in their eyes, ruthlessly put a period to the existence of a venerable feline. . . . Poor defunct Thomas was then prepared, not for the grave, but the pot, and several friends invited to partake of rabbit. . . . The 'sold' assure us the meat was delicious."

The exploits of General Lee, hero of the south, were treated as almost miraculous.

A story, under the heading of "Gen. Rob't E. Lee Again," was, in part, as follows:

"Again we have reliable news from the gallant corps of Gen. Lee in Virginia. Elated with success, encouraged by a series of brilliant victories, marching to and crossing the Rappahannock, defeating Hooker's right wing and thence through the Shenandoah valley, driving Milroy from Winchester and capturing 6,000 of his men . . . our brave men under Lee are striking terror to the hearts of all Yankeedom. Like the Scottish chieftain's braves, Lee's men are springing up from moor and brake, crag and dale, with flashing steel and sturdy arm, ready to do or die. . . . Today the mongrel administration of Lincoln, like Japhet, are in search of a father, for their old Abe has departed to parts unknown. Terror reigns in their halls. Lee is to the left of them, the right of them, in front of them, and all around them; and daily do we expect to hear of his being down on them. . . . Today Maryland is ours, tomorrow Pennsylvania will be, and the next day Ohio—now midway, like Mohammed's coffin—will fall."

The guns of General Grant's snipers didn't account for all the trouble within the besieged city, according to the paper. Lack of discipline in some companies of the defenders brought about added bloodshed, and one story called attention to "the lack of discipline of some of our company officers in allowing their men to prowl around day and night, and purloin fruits, vegetables, chickens, etc., from our denizens."

Citizens of Vicksburg had to protect their property from their own defenders and there were "several cases . . . wherein the offenders have in open daylight, entered premises, seized cattle and other things, and defied the owners to their teeth. We are pained to learn that an esteemed citizen of our Vicksburg, Wm. Porterfield, was under the necessity, in protecting his property to wound one or two soldiers and deprive another of his life."

More comment of the food situation was:

"We are satisfied there are numerous persons within our city who have breadstuffs secreted, and are doling it out, at the most exorbitant figures, to those who had not the foresight or means at their command to provide for the exigency now upon us. A rumor has reached us that parties in our city have been, and are now, selling flour at five dollars per pound! Molasses at ten dollars per gallon! and corn at ten dollars per bushel."

Another item was supposed to make the besieged citizens feel better, it is supposed, by painting for them a word picture of the Yanks. "The Yanks outside our city are considerably on the sick list. Fever, dysentery and disgust are their companions, and Grant is their master. The boys are deserting daily, cussing Grant and the abolitionists generally. The boys are down on the earth delving, the burrowing, the bad water, and the hot weather."

Early type set for the paper, before Grant "took over," conveyed the story "That the Great Ulysses—the Yankee Generalissimo, surnamed Grant—has expressed his intention of dining in Vicksburg on Sunday next and celebrating the 4th of July by a grand dinner and so forth. When asked if he would invite Gen. Joe Johnston to join he said 'No! for fear there will be a row at the table.' Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is 'first to catch the rabbit.'"

But Grant was in Vicksburg in time for that Sunday dinner. And the paper, with a short story dated, July 4, 1863, in the bottom of the last column, was:

"Two days bring about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. Gen. Grant has 'caught the rabbit;' he has dined in Vicksburg, and he did bring his dinner with him. The 'Citizen' lives to see it. For the last time it appears on 'Wall Paper.' No more will it eulogize the luxury of mule meat and fricasseed kitten—urge southern warriors to such diet never-more. This is the last wallpaper edition, and is, excepting this note, from types as we found them. It will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity."

FORTY AND EIGHT TO HOLD 'WRECK'

Will Be Held At Legion Home Monday Night; Many Candidates Listed

Voituro 168 of the Forty and Eight will hold a "wreck" at the memorial Legion home Monday at 8 p.m. Members of voitures from all over the state are expected to attend and candidates for initiation will be brought here from other cities and towns.

Announcement Saturday was made that delegations are assured from Ruston, Shreveport, Minden, Oak Grove, Lake Providence, Tallulah, Ferriday and Alexandria. Refreshments will be served.

This will be the last "wreck" held under the present administration which is headed by Jesse DeArmand, chef de gare. The local voiture now includes all of the fifth district and in the future meetings will be held in different cities and towns of this area.

Those to be initiated Monday night include Dr. Irving J. Wolff, Ouachita parish coroner; Walter Chachree, Winnsboro; Sid Moore, Monroe; W. H. Roundtree, Tallulah; John Hagleson, Tallulah; W. H. Todd, Bastrop; Dr. Marvyn Johnson and A. N. Robinson, Monroe. S. E. Dodd will be in charge of the "wreck."

It is explained that membership in the Forty and Eight is determined by services rendered to the American Legion and other requirements. Only those whose requirements measure up to certain standards are invited to become members of Forty and Eight.

The present officers of the Forty and Eight voiture here are: Jesse De Armand, chef de gare; Charles Mitchell, correspondent; S. E. Dodd, conducteur; Rev. Ernest Holloway, aumonier; Dr. W. H. Hamlin, medecin; Oscar Johnson, commis-voyageur; Russell Simms, chef de train; Arden Smith, garde de laporte; C. B. Braun, Frank Cline, Sam Rubin, cheminot.

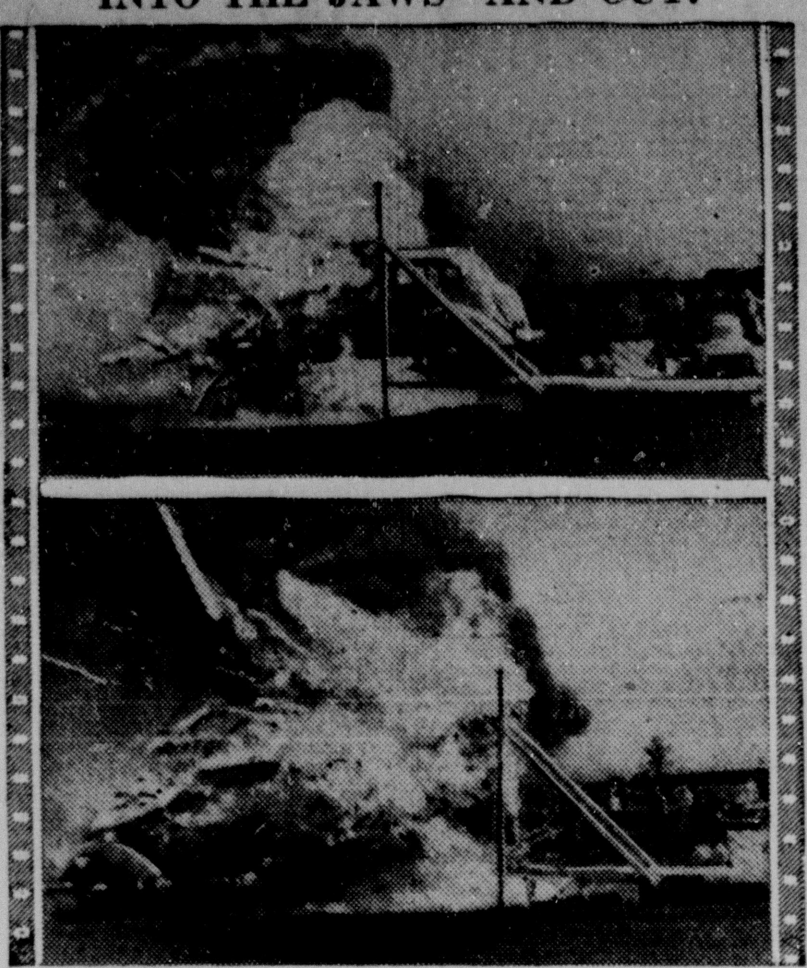
INTO THE JAWS—AND OUT!



Crashing through a huge blazing board wall with a stock sedan, as pictured above, is one of the 13 thrilling feats Jimmie Lynch and His Death Dodgers will offer this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Casino park for the Monroe police department's benefit fund. Lynch hits the blazing wall while traveling at top speed with all four wheels of his machine off the ground.

Death Dodgers Will Provide 2 Complete Hours Of Thrill

Two hours of thrill-saturated entertainment will be offered this afternoon at Casino park when Jimmie Lynch and his Death Dodgers uncork their amazing feats of skill and daring with stock automobiles. Starting promptly at 3 o'clock, the daredevils will offer 13 events, each one designed to test the durability of modern automotive creations and the stamina and courage of humans.

Since Lynch's last appearance here two years ago, he has enlarged his entourage considerably and has held the spotlight at such events as the Chicago world's fair, the Texas centennials and the national air races in Cleveland. Lynch holds the distinction of being the only ground performer ever included on the national air race program.

Featuring his performance here will be his 329th attempt to safely crash-roll with a stock sedan. In order to make the car roll, he will race the two wheels on the left side up a high rampway, spiral the machine into the air and allow it to go crashing end over end or side over side.

In his previous 328 rolls, Lynch has suffered minor injuries but never one serious enough to leave a permanent mark or scar. He has had the fifth vertebra dislocated six times and now he carries his own X-ray pictures to aid doctors in making repairs.

Lynch also will personally drive a sedan through a huge blazing board wall. The wall, constructed with one-inch planking and backed with five inches of gasoline-soaked excelsior, will be placed six feet from the end of a 36-inch rampway. Lynch will race his machine at top speed up the ramp, let it shoot into the air and crash blindly into the wall, giving him the additional hazard of a jump as well as that offered by the barrier.

Lynch will demonstrate reverse spins, single, double and triple ski jumps, over-all jumps and high side slides. He will race a machine on two wheels up a 52-inch ramp, tilting the car to such a precarious angle the lower running board will dig into the dirt of the baseball park before attempting to right it.

Texas Tommy Copewood and Jack (Suicide) Gamble will risk all in a deliberate head-on collision between two stock sedans each to be traveling at 40 miles an hour at the moment of impact. The drivers will remain inside the cars to absorb the 80-mile-an-hour impact, hoping to escape unscathed.

Gamble will stage his spectacular "drop of death," dropping from the rear bumper of an automobile traveling at top speed. Jo-Jo and his inimitable wife will entertain with their buffoonery so there will be no dead spots between the feats of daredeviltry.

Police Chief Frank Reitzell announced that all gates will be opened at 1:45 o'clock so the first event on the program may be started promptly at 3 o'clock.

More than 4,000 persons saw the Death Dodgers in "Danger for Safety" street exhibitions yesterday, approximately 2,000 turning out at Bastrop in the morning and a like number in Monroe on St. John street in the afternoon. Lynch gave a comprehensive demonstration and lecture on the correct methods of handling an automobile in emergencies.

MASONIC LODGES ENTERTAIN TODAY

Approximately 200 Masons from lodges in northeast Louisiana will be entertained today by three Masonic lodges of Monroe and West Monroe. They will gather at the Masonic temple here at 2:30 p.m. for the purpose of attending a special program designed to express appreciation of the local lodges to those of other sections of the state, and especially to the fourth Masonic district, for their support in electing Dr. Dee A. Strickland of Monroe, as grand junior warden of the grand lodge of Louisiana.

Among the distinguished visitors will be Luther Jordan of Mansfield, grand high priest of the grand chapter Royal Arch Masons of Louisiana; Dr. J. A. Whitaker of St. Joseph, master of the fourth district of Louisiana; Fayette Gay, potentate of El Karubah temple, Shreveport, and John James, deputy grand master for the fourth district, who will preside.

E. C. Gibson, of Monroe, will deliver the principal address.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of Western lodge 24, Graham Surghnor Lodge 383 and West Monroe Lodge 419. Following the program refreshments will be served to those in attendance.

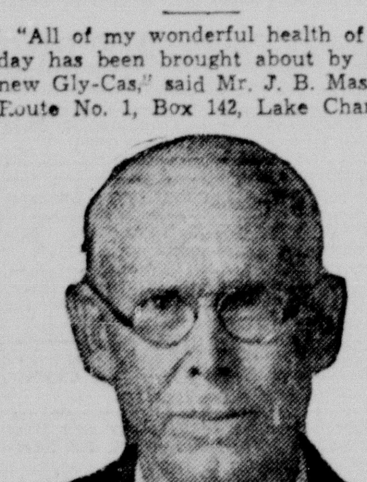
Rheumatic Pains Gone, Malaria Easily Conquered

Lauds Gly-Cas As Being Unequalled; Swelling Has Left His Limbs; Now Feels Like A New Man Again.

"All of my wonderful health of today has been brought about by this new Gly-Cas," said Mr. J. B. Massey, Route No. 1, Box 142, Lake Charles,



MR. J. B. MASSEY

La. "Constipation of years had filled my system with poisons and complications followed. I had malaria very badly and then rheumatism set in. At times my feet were so swollen I could hardly stand any weight on them. The pains I endured were terrible and nothing was able to relieve this intense suffering. I had taken many kinds of medicines but with no good results. When I began to hear praise on every side for this new Gly-Cas I thought perhaps it would get to the source of my health troubles—and it did just that."

"Gly-Cas was the very medicine I had been needing all these years," continued Mr. Massey. "My bowels were regulated almost at once, gases were removed and my entire system has been cleansed in a most natural way. The rheumatic pains and swelling have vanished and that dreadful malaria condition has been completely corrected. That tired feeling has left, I get perfect sleep and my former energy has been restored. I am glad to join with the thousands of others in praising the action of this valuable new medical discovery, Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. —Adv.

Named Officers Of Louisiana Grand Chapter Of Eastern Star

Louise McGuire chapter No. 4, one of the two Monroe units of the Order of the Eastern Star, scored heavily at the recent annual meeting in New Orleans of the Grand chapter of Louisiana. Three of its members were chosen to three of the 21 Grand chapter offices.

Mrs. A. B. Gregory was elected associate grand matron, the next to the highest office in the Grand chapter. The other two were appointed to office by the worthy grand matron elected at the meeting. Mrs. B. L. Mulhern was named grand Martha; Mrs. J. E. Kersh, district deputy grand matron for the district including chapters in Monroe, West Monroe, Bastrop, Mer Rouge, Collinston, Columbia, Clarks, Eros and Marion.

Along with the other grand chapter officers, the three members of Louise McGuire chapter will serve in the positions to which they were chosen until the next annual meeting in March of 1939.

Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Mulhern and Mrs. Kersh have taken an active interest in Eastern Star affairs for years. Each has served in various offices in Louise McGuire chapter. Each, at one time or another, has been its worthy matron.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Open house will be held at the Central Grammar school this afternoon between 1:30 and 6 o'clock for the exhibition of art selections of children from five continents. Principals of all city schools will act as hostesses at the exhibit which is being provided by the school board for children, educators and the general public of this area.

The art selections of the children from various countries offer a world view of young people's art production. Examples from Africa show the influence of foreign countries on the work of the children of that continent. The American Indian and Chinese exhibits show persistent reliance on tradition.

Air raids, marching soldiers and battles show the marked degree of militarism on the child art students of several nations.

The exhibit will remain at the Central Grammar school through Tuesday, it was stated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS OF INTEREST TO PEOPLE BUYING LOW-PRICED CARS

How the Three Leading Low-Priced Cars Compare in Size, Roominess and Comfort.
Plain Facts about the Mechanical Factors that Insure Plymouth's Amazing Long Life
...What You Can Expect in the Way of Reliability, and Savings in Operation and Upkeep
...How any Car Buyer can Judge a Car like an Expert...Read These Facts and See!

Q. Are "All Three" low-priced cars alike?
A. Only in price. Plymouth offers many important fundamental features most manufacturers use only in their higher-priced lines.

Q. Which is roomiest?
A. The new Plymouth...nearly 7" longer than one; more than 10" longer than the other!

Q. Do "All Three" have the same kind of brakes?
A. No. For ten years Plymouth's brakes have been conceded to be the safest type made. They are 100% double-action hydraulics.

GET ECONOMY WITH POWER

Q. What about the engine?
A. All Plymouth models have the same big "L-head" engine of 82 horsepower. It gives the super-high compression of 6.7 to 1...yet owners report 18 to 24 miles per gallon on ordinary gas.

Q. Are there differences in ease of driving?
A. Yes. The new Plymouth steers faster, handles easier. And clutch pressure has been greatly reduced.

Q. Is seating comfort about the same?
A. No. Only Plymouth offers "chair-high" seats ...they permit normal posture. There is no tunnel in the rear floor.

Q. Are there differences in handbrakes?
A. Yes. Plymouth's is a completely separate system from the service brakes. It operates on the driveshaft—a double protection.

Q. What is the advantage of Floating Power?
A. The new Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings absorb engine vibration; give Plymouth's new ride a smoothness that will amaze you.

Q. What is the "hushed ride"?
A. That's another advantage the new Plymouth has. Rubber body mountings and thorough sound-proofing block out or absorb road noises.

Q. How about clear driving vision?
A. The new Plymouth's windshield is extra wide and has no center post to obstruct the view. Also, the front seat rises when you move it forward... keeping eyes always at right height.

Q. Do "All Three" low-priced cars have similar shock-absorbers?
A. No. Only Plymouth has big, airplane-type shock-absorbers...patterned after those on the landing gear of huge air liners.

Q. Which leads in long-life features?
A. Plymouth. The new Plymouth has a super-strong Hypoid rear axle...Plymouth's all-steel body (completely rustproofed) is the strongest type built. Plymouth has exhaust valve seat inserts which reduce valve grindings. And Plymouth has an X-braced frame...the most powerful and rigid type of frame made.

Q. What features should I look for to insure low oil consumption?
A. (1) Pistons with four rings, instead of the usual three. (2) Full-length water jackets and directional cooling. (3) Full-pressure lubrication ...reaching all the vital parts. No other low-priced car offers all these oil-saving features.

MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION

Have you experienced the new ride of the 1938 Plymouth? No amount of facts in cold type can express the thrill you'll get driving the new Plymouth. Telephone any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer today for a demonstration. There's absolutely no obligation.

Monroe's Most Beautiful Gardens To Be Thrown Open To Public On April 1

City Proud Of Its Flowers And Shrubs

Highly Successful Dance Held At Lakeside Country Club; Northeast Center Also Entertains

GRADUALLY the dull drab days of Lent are beating time and marching into full blown spring. Flowering shrubs and trees have donned their gayest hues and tulips, demure and stately, border flagstone paths. Monroe is becoming garden conscious and on April 11, some of Monroe's most beautiful gardens will be thrown open for the inspection of the Garden club and guests. Few of us realize how many beautiful plants and flowers are grown in our Monroe gardens. Realizing the beauty of native Louisiana plants, many garden lovers are cultivating rare specimens of native flowers that are exquisite in their beauty.

Monroe gardens are a paradise for birds of all descriptions and a movement is on foot for the protection of these lovely songsters.

Members of the Lakeside Country club danced to the intoxicating strains of Anson Weeks' orchestra at their club house on the bayou Friday night. The dance, given for the members, was acclaimed one of the most enjoyable that has recently been given.

The dance at Northeast Center claimed the attention of the younger set. Dogwood blossoms were banked high in the gymnasium where the dance was given.

Rumors come to us of a poetry club which is being organized in Monroe. A few neophyte poets, longing for mutual inspiration, are banding themselves together and are planning to do some really constructive work in creative writing.

Members of the cast of "The Patsy," Little Theater production, are knee deep in rehearsals. It is whispered that some of the members are wondering if two of the leading characters are ever really going to warm up to each other like honest-to-goodness lovers should, or what? And if they don't, why don't they?

Monroe once had a scandal sheet. Of that we're sure. The "Sunday Sun," a Winchell-like publication, some 40 years ago, fairly shook the foundations of Monroe society. Chronicling the indiscretions of Monroe's young blades, it caused so much turmoil that it was finally discontinued. The names of the publishers were kept a deep dark secret—and still are. An old time resident, purporting to know much of the history of the paper, and whose memory is really quite remarkable, fails to remember anything about the publishers. But this he admits. The publishers, whoever they were, finally decided that the better course for them to pursue, was to let sleeping dogs lie, and bygones be bygones.

Another authority maintains that the paper was in reality published in Kansas City, with a Monroe correspondent whose career was short but colorful. After a few spicy issues of the Sunday Sun, he was simply driven out of the country.

Mothers, do you have a son in your house? A son who has become absent minded, who prefers to sit on soft cushions, and who calls his best friends "Mister"? Have you wondered seriously about his sanity, ever since you came upon him, perched in a tree on a prominent street, repeating "cuckoo" over and over again?

No, mother, he's not ill! Nor is he losing his mind! He's just being initiated into a fraternity, that's all!

Employes in a Texas clerk's office listed 13 reasons why people get married and here they are:

To get a living; to avoid income tax; to avoid living with the old folks; to save the trouble of putting on their best clothes to go courting; to get a slice of Uncle Horace's estate; to get the premium that employers put on married men in salary increases and unemployment liability; just for a lark; curiosity; intoxication; in order that they might settle down and quit wasting money; to avoid eating in a boarding house; from fear that it might be their last opportunity.

Love also was listed as one of the reasons.

Monroe Party Feted At Marion

Forming a congenial party Wednesday morning, Mrs. R. R. Rhymes invited Mesdames Fred Hightower, Lee Hodges, John Atkinson, Ivey Jordan, A. P. Ryan and little Miss Anne Atkins for a motor trip to Marion to spend the day with relatives. The occasion being the birthday of Mrs. Rhymes' sister, Mrs. Atkinson.

Open house prevailed in Marion for the party. Delicious iced drinks with appetizers were served the party, including Mesdames A. L. Phillips, Dewey Landers and J. E. Roark, at the home of Mrs. O. H. Thompson, with Mrs. K. S. Thompson, her daughter, presiding as hostess. After an hour of delightful conversation with the lovely mother of the hostess, who is a shut-in with a beautiful, cheerful philosophy of life and whose hands were busy knitting a handsome afghan the entire time, but who contributed a special cheer and warmth to each guest, the party then proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Powell, the parents of Mrs. Jordan, where a sumptuous dinner awaited.

All the southern dishes for which Mrs. Powell is famous were prepared for the entire party, fried chicken the piece de resistance, delicious salad, candied apples, young peas, delightful home-made hot rolls, devil's food with ice cream and numerous other delectable dishes.

After the luncheon hour and a visit with the hostess, the party proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roark for after dinner coffee, then to the home of Mrs. Alice Hopkins, a silver-haired lady of the old school whose home is rich in history and beautiful antiques including rare silver. It was in this home, directly after the Civil war, that the lovely haunting song of the southland "In the Gloaming" was written.

Hours were spent as the guest of "Aunt Alice," as she is affectionately called by everyone.

After gracious adieux, the party motored to the home of Mrs. Dewey Landers for refreshing iced drinks and sandwiches.

University Women Hold Regular Meeting

The American Association of University Women met at their regular monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Miss Myrtle Rodgers in Fairview with Mrs. Courtney Oliver co-hostess.

As a special project the association discussed the sponsoring of a health survey with special emphasis on the prevention of malaria in the city.

A comprehentive discussion of international problems of the month was given by Mr. F. F. Smith of the Northeast Center faculty.

Mrs. Frederick Williamson gave a talk on the contemporary American novel and illustrated it by parts from three novels, two published a hundred years ago, and one a present day best seller.

The club will be entertained in April with a banquet given by Northeast Center with Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Colvert as hosts. This meeting will be in the new social building on Thursday evening, April 21.

The following were in attendance: Dr. Julia Hunter, Miss Dean McKoin, Mrs. Frederick Williamson, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. Palmer Hardy, Mrs. William Hammond, Mrs. Ned Leigh, Mrs. F. F. Smith, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Mrs. Courtney Oliver.

Morning Coffee Held At Grayson

Mrs. William Bailey Tull of Jackson, Miss., attractive niece of Mr. James E. Humphries, entertained at a lovely morning coffee in the spacious home of her uncle at Grayson on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The living room and sun room were attractively decorated with mixed spring flowers.

The guests were served buffet style from the dining room table, which was covered with a hand-made Irish lace cover, accented piece of a unique blown glass ornament and pink candles was the beautiful centerpiece.

Delicious coffee, sandwiches, relishes and candies were served to the following guests: Mesdames F. L. Sorrells, Lucille Woolridge, E. J. McKillips, Ted Johnston, Fanny Grayson, Floyd Johnston, W. R. Humphries, E. M. Cruse, A. Wells, Joe Sanders, M. K. Chapman and John McKeithen.

Misses Ruth Ellen Rudy, Marie Mouser, Clydia and Melba Biggs, all of Grayson.

Mesdames W. E. Lewis and Miss Marjorie Lewis of Clarks.

Mesdames Hardie Fisher, Aldon Webb and Misses Dorothy Bridger, Nina Holt Redditt, Lorraine Blanks, of Columbia.

Mrs. Tull, hostess, of Jackson, Miss.

Mrs. Tull and baby son, Bill, are returning home Sunday to their home in Mississippi, after a pleasant four weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Monroe, Columbia, Grayson and Clarks.

Monroe Residents Attend Pilgrimage

Snowy dogwood, blushing redbud and rambling roses, rampant along our highways, have all combined to make the southland a veritable paradise this spring. Casual travelers, trekking southward, bent on azalea trails or garden pilgrimages, fairly gasp at the breath-taking beauty of Louisiana springtime.

Numbers of Monroe residents succumbed to the utter glory of the open spaces last week and joined the long, long trail of beauty loving tourists to Natchez, New Orleans and Mobile.

On Tuesday Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. C. C. Boardman, Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, Mrs. David Garrett and Miss Lucy Moore of Arkadelphia, motored down to Natchez. Another party, visiting Natchez on the same day, included Mrs. J. Leon Dennis, Mrs. Sam Browning, Mrs. J. J. Burroughs and Mrs. Van Bivens.

Mrs. George Hyle, Mrs. D. M. Stevenson, Miss Pearl Wakefield, Miss Hazel Wakefield and Miss Pet Simmons were also Natchez visitors during the past week.

Mrs. Margaret Allbritton, Miss Etta Cassidy, Miss Doris Cassidy, Miss Melba Glass and Miss Mary Grace Lawn were visitors to Natchez during the first pilgrimage.

Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mrs. Alexander Morrice, and Mrs. B. W. Wright and Mrs. Fred Fudickar are planning to motor to Natchez Wednesday.

The pilgrimage tours include visits to 21 of the most outstanding ante-bellum homes of the Natchez country. The majority of these homes have been shown each year since the Natchez Garden club originated the pilgrimage in 1932. Homewood, which was not shown by the club last year, will this spring be included in the list of show places visited by pilgrimage guests. This unusual mansion was five years in construction and was completed in 1860. The double wedding ceremony described by Stark Young in "So Red the Rose," took place here. Melrose, perhaps the best known of all Natchez mansions, is open to visitors at no other time of the year except during the Natchez Garden club's annual pilgrimage. Here furniture, draperies and grounds are practically unchanged since 1845. Other historically and architecturally interesting places on the tours are The Briers, home of Varina Howell and where, in 1845, she became the bride of Jefferson Davis; Rosalie, General Grant's headquarters during the occupation of Natchez in 1863; Elmscourt, famous as "The House of a Thousand Candles"; Ravenna, where supplies for the Confederate army were smuggled through the bayous during the war between the states; Magnolia Vale, whose gardens are famous the entire length of the Mississippi; Oakland, still occupied by the descendants of Don Estevan Minor VIII, governor of the Natchez district under the Spanish regime; Windy Hill Manor, where in 1807 Aaron Burr awaited his trial for treason; Mount Repose, Edgewood, Propinquity, perfect examples of early plantation houses still occupied by descendants of the original owners; Auburn, noted for its architectural beauty; Melmont, interesting version of ante-bellum town house; Cottage Gardens, erected in 1790 on the "Little Street of the Governors"; Pleasant Hill, built in 1803; Inglewood and Belvidere—never before opened to the public; Jefferson College, oldest college in the United States; Connelly's Tavern on Ellicott Hill—restoration project of the Natchez Garden club, and where in 1797 the first American flag ever raised in the lower Mississippi valley was unfurled.

In the evenings there will be a succession of colorful entertainments such as were given for celebrities who visited Natchez in by-gone days. The famous Confederate ball and pageant will be held on March 26, 28, 30 and April 1 and 2. March 27 a candlelight reception will be given at Elmscourt, "The House of a Thousand Candles," complimentary to the pilgrimage guests. March 28, 30 and April 1, "Heaven Bound" will be rendered by the negro citizens in their old-fashioned church. March 29 the Garden Center club cotillion will be the feature of the evening, and on March 30 the cooperative clubs will entertain with a real southern dinner and show period wedding gowns modeled by the lovely young girls of the community.

Delegates to the Woman's Missionary conference to be held in Baton Rouge March 29 to April 1, are Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. S. M. McReynolds, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. S. M. Collins, superintendent of mission and Bible study. Mrs. E. C. Gibson, district secretary of the Monroe district, will also be in attendance.

Announcements Of Weddings Claim Interest In This Section Of Louisiana

Emile Kaliski Weds Miss Lorraine Levy

Miss Sue Henry Becomes Bride Of Dan Calhoun At Ceremony Performed In West Monroe

Announcements of weddings are holding the spotlight this week, including the marriage of Emile Kaliski, Jr., of this city, to Miss Lorraine Levy of Houston and the wedding of Miss Sue Henry and Mr. Dan Calhoun of Downsville.

Mrs. Herman Masur, Dr. and Mrs. Simon Shlenker and Mrs. Kaliski were guests at the Kaliski-Levy wedding in Houston and also enjoyed a number of the pre-nuptial affairs given in honor of the bride-elect. The following account of the wedding appeared in the Houston Chronicle last week:

"The marriage of Miss Lorraine Levy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Levy, to Emile Kaliski, Jr., son of Mrs. Emile Kaliski of Monroe, La., was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. Dr. Henry Barnston read the service in the presence of members of both families. Mrs. Nancy Swinford, accompanied by Mrs. Alta Stone Shriner, at the piano, and Mrs. Sam Fink, violinist, gave the bridal solo, 'At Dawning.'

"The bridal party grouped before an improvised altar in the music room. Floor baskets filled with white stock and gladioli were silhouetted against a background of palms and feathery fern, and ivory tapers in candelabra lent a soft light to the scene.

"The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a princess model of white satin, fashioned with long, closely fitting sleeves and intricate designs of seed pearls about the neckline. Her graceful skirt extended into a full train, and a veil of illusion was caught to the head by a cap of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

"Mrs. Levy, mother of the bride, served her daughter as matron of honor. She wore a handsome gown of blue lace and carried a bouquet of Briarcliff roses. Miss Adele Freundlich, maid of honor, and Miss Beatrice Schornstein, bridesmaid, were gowned alike in costumes of soft rose net, and carried bouquets of Briarcliff roses.

"Both Mrs. Kaliski, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Emma Schornstein, grandmother of the bride, wore black lace gowns and corsages of pink rosebuds.

"Irving Shlenker, cousin of the groom, served as best man, and Jerome Levy, brother of the bride, and Simon Shlenker, Jr., of New Orleans, were groomsmen.

"Mrs. Maurice Hirsch registered the guests in the bride's book at the reception held following the ceremony. The table was graced by the bride's cake, embossed with roses and lilies of the valley, a crystal bowl of lilies of the valley and gardenias, and white tapers in crystal holders gleaming at either side of the board. Mrs. Pearl Strauss presided over the cake, and Mrs. Reginald Hirsch assisted in serving.

"Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Simon Shlenker, Sr., Mrs. Herman Masur and Mrs. Emile Kaliski, all of Monroe, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Simon Shlenker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schornstein, all of New Orleans, La.; Mrs. Karl Kern of New York City; Miss Bobby Knight of Mobile, Ala., and Mrs. Jules Block, Miss Nettie Schornstein, Ray Schornstein, and Leopold Schornstein, all of Galveston.

"The bride was graduated from Rice institute and the groom attended Gulfport Military academy and received his degree from the University of Louisiana. On their return from a wedding trip to Mexico City, Mr. and Mrs. Kaliski will be at home in Houston."

The marriage of Miss Sue Henry and Mr. Dan Calhoun of Downsville was solemnized last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Byrom in West Monroe. Rev. Bachman of Downsville, officiated during the impressive ceremony and only a few intimate friends and relatives were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. W. L. P. Henry and the late Mr. W. L. P. Henry of Downsville, formerly of West Monroe. She was graduated from the Ouachita Parish High school and Louisiana Tech. She is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority and is at present instructor in home economics in the Downsville High school.

Mr. Calhoun is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Calhoun of Downsville, and is affiliated with his father in the mercantile business in Downsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun will be at home to their friends after April 1 in their new home, which is now under construction.

Welcome Branch Book Club Meets

Adventure held the interest of members of the Welcome Branch Book club on Wednesday afternoon, when they met at the lovely suburban home of Mrs. J. Noble White in Edgewater Gardens. Mrs. J. R. White assisted in the courtesies of the afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Randow gave an inspiring talk on "Women in Adventure."

She spoke of a few of the famous women adventurers of our modern day. Among them was Mildred Keaton, traveling nurse and one of the most beloved women in Alaska. Miss Keaton was born in Louisville, Ky., and was educated at the University of Washington. She took her nurse's training at St. Peter's hospital and went to Alaska for adventure. She has stayed because she loves it.

Summons for her aid comes at all times, and she makes the trips alone traveling with dog team. She is called a nurse, but often acts as marshal, interpreter or judge.

Mrs. Martin Johnson, noted explorer, is another of the women who love adventure. She has been around the world six times, and has written many interesting articles about the animals she finds in far lands.

Mrs. William Harkness, first person to capture a giant panda alive, and Amelia Earhart, world famous aviatrix, were also mentioned.

"All adventurers," Mrs. Randow said, "must have bravery, daring and courage. And while the women mentioned have won fame by possessing these qualities, in my opinion, the real adventurers are the women who make the homes of America. Mothers watching over the bedside of a sick child, fighting a battle to save a little life, teachers training the nation's young, that they may grow to be fine men and women; young wives learning to make a home on a limited income; these women do not appear in newsreels, nor have their pictures in the papers, but to me they are the true women adventurers in America."

"High Spots in the Andes," by Josephine Hoeppner Woods, was reviewed in an interesting manner by Mrs. V. S. Garnett.

"High Spots in the Andes" is a book made up of letters written by Mrs. Woods describing her life as the wife of a mining engineer, whose work lies in the high mountains of Bolivia, in the gold and silver mines.

"The altitude is so high," Mrs. Garnett said, "that most foods have to be cooked in pressure cookers. Some foods, such as beans, cannot be cooked at all. Cake baking is almost an impossibility and is more trouble than it is worth. Table vinegar costs more than a dollar a bottle, so that the cost of living is almost as high as the altitude. Mrs. Wood holds the record for a white woman living for the longest period of time in such a high altitude.

It is a book of thrilling adventure and breath-taking experiences, of life as it is lived in one of the world's highest and most interesting workshops."

The following members were present: Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. Fred Randow, Mrs. W. K. Scroggins, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. E. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. Louis Langford, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Paul Herron, Mrs. James Malone, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. F. F. Smith, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Dudley Stone, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. Jefferson Henderson. Guests were Mrs. F. H. Peterson and Mrs. C. C. Colvert.

'The Patsy' Promises Much Entertainment

"The Patsy," next Little Theater production, which will be presented under the direction of Miss Lucyle Godwin, April 5 at the Northeast Center auditorium, promises to offer an evening of unalloyed fun and entertainment to Little Theater fans.

The play, which is a hilarious three act comedy, might well be called the "Taming of the Shrew." Dan Armand Breard, who plays the role of Bill Harrington, finally solves the problem of putting a shrewish wife in her place with a finesse that fairly makes her gasp.

Beverly Russell, as Patsy, following the advice of the unsuspecting Tony Anderson (James Cook), wins his love—much to his surprise and to the astonishment of her sister Grace (Ethel Hoge) who has jilted Tony for Billy Caldwell (Robert Wharton).

George Bennett takes the part of Mr. O'Flaherty, an affable lawyer who aids Patsy to win a silver cup.

The entire cast includes Mr. William Harrington, Dan Armand Breard; Mrs. William Harrington, Nell Grigsby; Grace Harrington, Ethel Hoge; Patricia Harrington, Beverly Russell; Billy Caldwell, Robert Wharton, To Anderson, James Cook; Francis P rick O'Flaherty, George Bennett; T Busty, Joe Kern.

Lorenzo Smith, enrolled in the C lumbia school of drama and radi Chicago, has recently been selected be a member of the Columbia stoc players, and will take part in the on act comedy, "Tangled Threads," whic will be presented at the Chicag Women's club theater.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. an Mrs. H. P. Smith of West Monroe and is a graduate of Northeast Center.

Mr. William Martin of Fort Worth, Tex., was a visitor in this city last week.

AWNINGS for Air Conditioning
Windows admit four times as much heat as the walls of the house. Awnings keep out half of this heat. Heat kept out of the house by awnings does not need conditioning.
Awnings in connection with either refrigeration or forced draft air conditioning permit a smaller unit and a lowered cost in operation.
Awnings on a house without air condition lower the heat 10 to 12 degrees by permitting ventilation and the shading of the window glass. Awnings keep out the rain permitting the windows to be left opened. Any shade being inside does not keep out heat.
In order to get the full benefit from your awnings they should be properly designed. We can do that. The comfort from awnings offsets the cost the first year. Awnings usually last four years or more.

President Richardson Of Louisiana Tech Addresses Georgia Tucker P.-T. A.

Educator Discusses Building Curriculum

Parent-Teacher Associations Of Monroe Area Continue Helpful Activities

About fifty members of the Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. were present Thursday afternoon to hear an address by Mr. E. S. Richardson, president of Louisiana Polytechnic institute at Ruston. His subject was: "What Part Shall Parents Play in Building a Curriculum?"

Officers for the 1938-1939 school year were elected at the meeting. Mrs. Toulmin H. Ewing, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following names as selected by her committee: president, Mrs. Elmer Richards; first vice-president, Mrs. B. B. Handy; second vice-president, Mrs. Preston Fergus; third vice-president, Mrs. Seymour Soloman; secretary, Mrs. C. K. Crandall; treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Drouett; historian, Mrs. W. C. Oliver.

President Richardson declared, "We can't stand still in education; we must progress. Our rapid progress in life has made us on the alert whether we desire it or not and we have had to adjust ourselves to conditions and situations as they exist today."

He told of his early life as a farmer's son and the various activities he indulged in at that time. Then, in comparison, he related a story of a trip made in company with his son to the same town and told how activities and even transportation had changed. "We are living in a new set-up," he said, "with an enlarged horizon for which we are not responsible, but we must be on the alert and adjust ourselves in order to keep abreast of the times. The same condition exists in the schools and we must meet the various problems there according to the existing situations. We must make the best of all conditions and endeavor to do the things for the child that will enable him to fit into the present-day surroundings. The whole object is to make good, wholesome men and women of our present-day children and to make the proper adjustments for them. Parents should not criticize the teachers in making these changes for they are merely doing their duty and making adjustments."

He asked what we were going to do with the American colleges. "Are we going to revamp things, or hold to the old line of procedure? People are going to attend college and a curriculum must be set up for all classes, both brilliant and otherwise. Most colleges and schools realize that the things which will be best for the students in a democracy might not be suitable for all students alike, as they do not have the same talents. An arbitrary thing cannot be set up in any school. Home environments have also been studied in regard to the situation and children are being studied as individuals for they come from different homes with different ideas. Improper understanding of parents and children can upset a career, while proper understanding can set them off on the right track."

The speaker asked the parents to develop the right attitude in pupils before they go to school. "So many pupils get the idea that the world owes them a living and that they can get along in a haphazard sort of way or on their luck."

He said to teach them that the law of compensation was true in the spiritual and physical world and that there was no such thing as just being lucky. He insisted on each parent branding the children with characteristics that would survive. No man was perfect, he said, but he could leave contributions to civilization that were worthy. He gave George Washington as an example. He said Edison was not a scholar but he was useful and talented. He advised parents to emphasize worthwhile people and things to their children; to let them know the how and why of things and to make adjustments as they go along. Mr. Richardson urged them to study human beings and nature, enjoying things of life, but not to seek to be a star and they would get more out of life and build greater happiness within their souls.

He cited some of the objects of the 1938 meeting of national superintendents of the department of education which met recently in Atlantic City:

1. A re-declaration of the importance of educating all boys and girls.
2. An increased concern with the grave injustices to which many boys and girls are now subjected, particularly those living in rural areas and those who are handicapped.
3. A fuller recognition of the responsibility of public schools to the youth out of school as well as to the youth in school.
4. A sharper realization of the necessity for offering young people in school those experiences which will enable them to learn how to live as well as how to earn a living.
5. Increased necessity of exerting more care in the selection and training of teachers and thereafter more nearly guaranteeing a suitable economic and social status for all teachers.
6. A deeper and sounder determination of educational administrators to preserve, evaluate, and improve our democratic form of government.
7. The practically unanimous conviction that the federal government must assume the responsibility which it acknowledged some 150 years ago. It must participate to a far greater degree in the financial support of public education.

Safety Stressed By St. Matthew's

The meeting of St. Matthews P.-T. A. at the school Friday featured a most interesting program, stressing safety. After the meeting was called to order and opened in prayer by Father Aycock, a splendid address on safe driving was given by Mr. R. J. Goza. He emphasized the necessity of sane, careful drivers not under the influence of alcohol. He also warned of the increasing danger of marijuana cigarettes, the use of which is spreading rapidly. An illustrative play, "Careless Jane," was given by grammar grade pupils.

The room mothers were counted, the junior high and fifth grades winning. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, as well as financial reports, executive committee and report of the district meeting which was held at Neville. The nominating committee reported the following new officers: Mrs. Charles Guerriero, president; Mrs. Stanley Hodges, first vice-president; Mrs. C. C. Burkett, second vice-president; Mrs. P. J. Lochbaum, secretary; Mrs. V. C. Spatafora, treasurer.

Reports of all committee chairmen for the year were given. The next meeting is to be held on the last Friday in April.

Fairbanks P.-T. A. Elects Officers

The annual election of officers of the Fairbanks P.-T. A. was held last Wednesday afternoon. The following were elected: Mrs. P. J. Lochbaum, president; Mrs. Dock Worley, vice-president; Mrs. E. Dumas, recording secretary; Mrs. O. J. Ham, corresponding secretary; and Miss Kate Perkins, treasurer.

Miss Kate Perkins presented her fifth and sixth grade pupils in a safety skit. Catherine Louise Worley was presented with a safety badge and one dollar for submitting the best "safety poster" in the fifth district. Addye Lee Harrison received a local prize for her poster. New baseballs, bats and jumping ropes were purchased for the playground by the P.-T. A. Mrs. Billie Hewitt, hospitality chairman, awarded the door prize to Mrs. Gene Willis and the room prize to Miss Kate Perkins. Mrs. Dock Worley led the singing, with Mrs. Vane Brazil at the piano. Mrs. G. B. Wilson, Mrs. O. J. Ham and Mrs. P. J. Lochbaum were named as delegates to the state P.-T. A. convention to be held in New Orleans.

A benefit "kid party," sponsored recently by Mrs. Louis Wise and Mrs. Eddie Shook, was enjoyed. The prizes for the best kid costumes went to Mr. and Mrs. Werner Struben, Mrs. Borden Bradley and Mr. Fred Stroud.

For Love of Polly

CHAPTER XXXI

America was alarmed. The English had settled with the French; and now a fleet of warships no longer needed to fight Napoleon was free to move against the United States. Soldiers too. Down at Bermuda, General Ross' seasoned British army had gone aboard Admiral Cockburn's impressive ships, and their destination was the American coast. Norfolk was sieged. Hampton was burned. By the middle of July the enemy was ascending the Potomac with a purpose.

New Englanders who had opposed the war or regarded it indifferently suddenly came awake to patriotism. Up in Boston Mr. Cabell Banks, senior, was turning six of his best merchant ships into privateers and was speaking proudly of "my son, Captain Banks of the Gray Gull." . . . Yankee capital was being released, new military companies raised, merchant shippers were taking out letters of marque almost to a man.

And yet, had this happened in time? The northwestern frontiers were exhausted from holding at bay the Indians who had allied themselves with the English. And in Washington, no defense had been planned to save the capitol.

President Madison, who had been called too aggressive, was now spoken of as a laggard with a do-nothing policy. New England gentlemen were shouting: "Gad! Doesn't he think Cockburn means what he says about burning Washington?"

One hot summer day Dick said to Polly, "I'm going to Washington tomorrow by coach."

"Whatever for?" Polly asked. It was August, and little Richard was cutting some very bad teeth. His Uncle Dick and his medical books had been a great help in this trying time. "What will you do in Washington, Dick?" Polly demanded in dismay.

"Offer my services. I hear they've horses to spare down south. I've enough put by to pay for an ordinary mount of my own. I can't walk, but I can ride, and I'll join any cavalry unit they want to put me in. I've got to do my part, Polly."

"Yes," Polly agreed, feeling weak with surprise. She had not thought of the war reaching out and laying hold of lame Richard. "I'll get your clothes ready, Dick. What will you want to take?"

And so it came about that Dick Chelsey found himself the sole occupant of a stage coach approaching Washington on the steamingly hot day of August 22. He seemed to be the only person wanting to get to Washington; the highway was filled with people going out of it, chiefly women and children. They represented all strata of society and they fled by horseback, carriage, cart and foot.

Dick found the capital to be in a state of suspended action. Congress had adjourned after a day of fasting and prayer. Business houses were closed. Flimsy defenses were being thrown up near the bridges that commanded the eastern approach. Archives of the state department had been put into linen bags and sent to a Virginia farmhouse. These were Washington's only precautions against an invading British army with blood in its eye.

Dick found a camp on the edge of the city where volunteers were joining the 600 militia stationed there. He was immediately accepted and permitted to purchase his mount for a cavalry troop. And so he witnessed the nightmare that was the burning of Washington.

On the morning of August 24 the English on the Potomac loitered downstream, but those under Cockburn and Ross had arrived by the Patuxent river and were only seven miles distant. These were in pursuit of Commodore Joshua Barney and his sailors whom they had chased out of Chesapeake bay and up the Patuxent. When Barney burned his boats and struck inland they had followed, and when he took his stand, the Battle of Bladensburg occurred.

Dick was among the volunteers from Washington who fought with Barney, and a motley crowd they were—shopkeepers, gentlemen farmers, schoolboys, congressmen, senators and negro slaves—anyone, in fact, who could carry a gun in the defense of Washington.

The English used fire rockets. This frightened the pack mules of the Americans; a stampede started which ended in a retreat. Pell-mell into Washington went the routed army, through the city and up the Frederick road toward open country. When the English had rested and recovered, they followed in good marching order.

Many lay wounded in Bladensburg, among these Dick Chelsey. That night he lay in a ravine undiscovered, too weak to call for help. But he had staunched his own wound with a handkerchief. Against the blackness of the night he saw the sky flame red for long hours, and he knew he had failed to save Washington.

He smiled bitterly as he thought of his useless little gesture—his offered life. Was he a fool, or had he touched the stars? A strange sense of lightness filled him, for he had lost much blood. But before dawn a downpour of rain fell on his upturned face and saved him. It was the same rain that stopped the spreading flames in Washington. High wind accompanied it.

At dawn someone found Dick Chelsey and carried him to a farmhouse nearby, and he knew that he would live and that life was sweet, whether he had been a fool or not. . . . While he lay recovering, the English fleet bombarded Fort McHenry over at Baltimore (he could almost hear the guns). And when the beautiful American flag stood fast through the night a mild and lovable young lawyer from Georgetown (he was a prisoner looking on, and his name was Francis Scott Key) took an envelope from his pocket and wrote a poem called "The Star-Spangled Banner," which he happily set to a London coffee-house tune. . . . And so, even in this beautiful blood-soaked anthem that celebrates their struggle, England and America were irrevocably joined.

Dick went home by stage coach in November. And around the New Year when the treaty of Ghent was already signed, old Andrew Jackson defended New Orleans in a useless, bloody battle. When it was over, gallant Sir Edward Packenham and the flower of the English army lay dead there.

To Polly, this was utterly heartbreaking. She wept for days because of it, and because of American men who lay dead at sea, just as cruelly. She thought of her Jerry as among them.

And then one day there appeared a strange brig in Lyme harbor. Trepid Chelsey came home with the news that a big fine vessel named the May Queen was casting anchor there. It meant nothing to anybody. Not until Jerry Whitfield came striding through the picket gate, looking browner and leaner and tireder and older, and said with his cap in his hand:

"Does Captain Trepid Chelsey live here?" . . . Not till then did the May Queen's arrival have meaning.

Polly went flying from the house into his arms; and though one of his arms was stiff from a wound, he held her crushingly close. And when she cried salty tears on his face, his own mingled with them, unashamed. "I've a ship of my own, Polly," he said. "I'm a man of property now."

"Oh!" Polly said. "Is the May Queen your own? . . . Well, I've a contribution too. Your baby son is a year and eight months old. His name is Richard Jeremiah. Come in and see him—"

She thought for a moment that Jerry Whitfield was fainting, and after that she thought his expression of dismay was very comical.

"Before night falls," she surprised him yet further by saying, "I want you to take me on your arm to our ship, walking very slowly past Mrs. Pell's house."

The young Jerry Whitfields have settled in Polly's old home at Lyme, for Dick Chelsey has gone to medical college down at New Haven, and old Trepid needs his daughter and her children around him.

The house has a new wing; fresh white paint covers all, and within there are some impressive new mahogany pieces made by Duncan Phyfe, the furniture man. Polly has her "help" in the pine-paneled kitchen, as a sea captain's wife should, but of an evening she sits before the open fire tenderly making by hand her husband's shirts.

When he comes home from sea in his merchant ship, the May Queen, it's as a lover coming home to his sweetheart. Last trip he brought her an ivory carved fan from China, and a little Mandarin coat, embroidered in lotus flowers.

These things, and another, are too much for Mrs. Pell. The other thing is their intimate friendship with Mr. Cabell Banks, junior, of Boston and his wife—that girl that was the wealthy Prudence Winthrop.

She says, "You'd think Polly Chelsey Whitfield would be stuck up, but she's not. It beats all. I believe she's too simple."

Yet not too simple for Jerry Whitfield.

200 Members Of Federated Women's Clubs Attend Meeting In West Monroe

Northeast Center Instructor Speaks

Several Other Interesting Addresses Given By Leaders In Fifth District Activities

Approximately two hundred club women attended the fifth district meeting of the Federated Women's clubs, which convened at the West Monroe Baptist church Saturday. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, fifth district president, presided during the session and was assisted during the morning by Mrs. C. E. Hester, state president.

The session opened at 10 a.m. with club collect given by Mrs. R. M. Davis of Ruston followed by assembly singing led by Mrs. Addison Thompson, accompanied by Mrs. C. Noble Hatch.

The invocation was given by Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, pastor of the First Baptist church, West Monroe.

Mrs. Ben Breard extended the greetings of the hostess clubs and the response was given by Mrs. Mike Hamilton of Calhoun.

Mr. W. R. Hammond of Northeast Center delivered an address on "What Price Peace?"

"Since the World war," stated Mr. Hammond, "probably the largest effort in world history has been made for world peace.

"After twenty years of effort, we have failed to establish peace. We have failed because we attacked the problem from the standpoint of building up official defenses, because of isolation, neutrality, and collective security.

"The strongest nations, England, France, and America, are most interested in ideas of aggression because peace has no stability."

Mrs. C. E. Hester, president of the state federation, urged members to endeavor to understand the federation so that their problems might be so solved.

Mrs. William Nolan of Oak Ridge spoke on "American Citizenship."

Mrs. Tisdale commended the clubs on the work they had accomplished and stated that it had been her aim to unify the work of all departments in the fifth district.

Mrs. C. A. Rose, first vice-president, reported on the Norma Overby scholarship.

Other reports were made by Mrs. W. Dollarhide, Mrs. Clarence Hennington, Rayville, Mrs. W. C. Simonton, Ruston. Mrs. R. M. Davis, Ruston, and Mrs. W. N. Stinson, West Monroe.

Department chairmen reporting were Mrs. W. M. Nolan, Oak Ridge; Mrs. G. L. Garrison, Tallulah; Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Monroe; Mrs. Floy McKay, Rayville; Mrs Donald Fiske, Oak Grove; Mrs. J. R. White, Monroe; Mrs. W. D. Cotton, Rayville; Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Monroe; Mrs. Sidney Stewart, Calhoun; Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston; Mrs. Herbert Hughes, Ruston; and Mrs. Martian Hamley, Lake Providence.

The Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe was host during the luncheon with Mrs. Dudley Stone presiding. Corsages were presented to the state chairmen and a clever skit was presented. Music was given by Mrs. Dean Selig who sang a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. J. Noble White.

Grayson

A St. Patrick's day party was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Mathis and her mother, Mrs. Baldwin, at their home. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McKillips, Mrs. Joe Sanders, Mrs. Bailey Tull of Jackson, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Humphries, Misses Ruth Ellen Rudy, Marie Mouser, Eunice Laird, Clydia Biggs, and Billy Eglin and L. Mixon.

Ivy Sorrells has accepted a position at Baton Rouge, where he will make his home.

Elgin McKeithen and Roy Mouser spent the week-end with relatives here.

Miss Marie Mouser spent the week-end in Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Bailey Tull and son, Billy, are the guests of Elbert Humphries.

Miss Ruth Ellen Rudy spent a week-end at Rayville.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Christian had as their guests for a week-end their daughter, Miss Grace Christian, and Miss Ruby Downs of Alexandria.

Jonesboro

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mitchell entertained in their home east of Jonesboro, honoring their two children, Jerry, age 6, and Nelda Anne, age 2, with a birthday party. Both children were born on St. Patrick's day.

The birthday cake with its lighted candles embossed in green and white carried out the St. Patrick's motif. "Jerry and Nelda," was written in green letters. Ice cream and cake were served to Sonny Cox, Donald Cox, Charles Gaar, Tommie Dekle, Charles Garrett, Mac Evans, Joan Evans, Gwendolyn Thomas, Joan Swanson, Nannette Garrett, Emma Jean McLauren, Lucille Guess Stewart, Sandra Tardo, Jackie Cox, Guy H. Cox, and Mary Anne McLauren.

Mrs. Stanley Lewis was hostess to the Jonesboro Art club. The following members were present: Mrs. P. F. Stinson, Mrs. L. R. Roberts, Mrs. E. L. Mobley, Mrs. D. D. McDonald, Mrs. H. F. Stovall, Mrs. W. T. Holloway, Mrs. Stanley Lewis, and the visitors were Mrs. O. A. Gaar, Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Mrs. B. H. Johnson. During the social hour refreshments were served.

The W. M. S. of the Jonesboro Methodist church met for the regular monthly business meeting, with Mrs. Paul Stinson presiding. Mrs. Fred Callaway gave the devotional from second Kings, 19th chapter. Good reports were given from the officers and circle leaders. Mrs. A. A. Meredith offered the closing prayer. Those present were Mrs. Fred Callaway, Mrs. W. S. McDonald, Mrs. J. A. Thurman, Mrs. Paul Stinson, Mrs. J. F. Sneed, Mrs. R. C. Jeffress, Mrs. W. W. McDonald, Mrs. W. F. Roberts, Mrs. W. H. Allison, Mrs. Emmett Stewart, Mrs. W. T. Holloway, Mrs. Leon Mitchell, Mrs. A. A. Meredith, Mrs. John Swanson, Mrs. J. E. Cox, Mrs. R. A. Crowson.

TECH ENGINEERS' KING AND QUEEN

Various engineering pursuits, for which students are trained at Louisiana Tech, will be glorified in the annual celebration at the college in Ruston on April 2. The "crowning event" of the occasion will be a dance, featured by the coronation of J. D. Hilburn and Rose Merilyn Burris (above), both of Shreveport, as king and queen of the ball. Numerous exhibits of civil, electrical and mechanical displays are being arranged as highlights of the Engineers' day program. (Tech News Bureau Photos)

Oak Grove

The circle of the Methodist church of which Mrs. Frank McCormick is chairman met at the residence of Mrs. J. R. McIntosh with one guest, Mrs. Ida Chambless, president of the Baptist Missionary society, and 10 members present.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. T. Williams, president of the society, and was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Chambless. This was followed by a study period, conducted by Mrs. McIntosh, the lesson being on the "Book of Amos." The circle has chosen the name of "Rachel McCormick" and will hold a joint meeting with the "Katherine Emmerich" circle at the church. Mrs. McIntosh assisted by Mrs. J. Pollard served a salad plate and hot chocolate to the following: Mrs. Chambless, Mesdames Stella Whitaker, L. L. Lipp, C. Gunter, J. T. Williams, M. B. Thompson, R. Grasby, W. A. Ross, and D. M. Copeland.

The Katherine Emmerich circle of the Methodist Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. E. O. Burnham for a missionary program. Mrs. Jesse James opened the meeting with a prayer, the devotional was given by Mrs. E. B. Emmerich, and an article on China, from the Missionary Voice, was read by Mrs. Wm. McG. Dollerhide. Two new members have joined this circle, Mesdames H. J. Long and Floyd Lawton. A contest was conducted by Mrs. R. V. Reeves, Mrs. James, the winner, being presented with a potted plant by Mrs. Burnham.

Strawberry shortcake, ice cream and coffee were served to 14 members and four visitors, Mrs. C. R. Abney, Mrs. Shelley Nordgren of Pioneer, Mrs. J. L. Sells of Long Beach, Miss., and Mrs. Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs Charles Hope with Mrs. Lavelle Wilson as co-hostess entertained with a "bingo" party.

A salad plate was served to Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Hiskman Hankins of Darnell, Mrs. Harry Marcus, Mrs. Luther Edmondson, Mrs. Ada Lee, Mrs. A. N. Dukes, Miss Eva Blanchard, Miss Irene Johns, Miss Louise Johnson, Miss Annie Jones, Miss Arlene Howell, Miss Ople Moss, Miss Lillian McKeithen, John Hester, Cullin Shows, Glynn Thrower, R. LaVelle Wilson.

Mrs. J. F. Thompson, who for the past few months has been a guest in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Patsy E. Pollard, has returned to her home in Eudora, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs S. D. Bond and Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Hare of Crawfordsville, Ark., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Neely.

The Una Roberts circle of the Baptist church met at the church for a mission study and prayer, with the following members in attendance: Mesdames Ida Chambless, president of the society; E. Russell, Ollie Moore, Wade Hampton, Charles Roberts, Harry Schrell and Dess Howell.

The Women's Missionary society met for a joint meeting at the church with Mrs. J. T. Williams presiding and Mrs. J. R. McIntosh in charge of the program. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. E. B. Emmerich. Following remarks on "Christian Social Relations" were made by Mrs. McIntosh. Subject of the program was "Methodist Women Building Their Own Communities."

Those attending were Mesdames Ragus and Shelley Nordgren of Pioneer, La.; J. R. McIntosh, C. Lawton, A. C. Monroe, Jesse James, L. L. Lipp, C. Armstrong, W. A. Ross, M. B. Thompson, J. T. Williams, R. Grasby, E. B. Emmerich, Wm. McG. Dollerhide, O. C. Roberts, Fred Braswell and D. M. Copeland.

The Lottie Moon circle of the Baptist church met at the residence of Mrs. T. M. Wright for a mission study lesson taught by Mrs. Basil Halbert. Devotional was given by Mrs. F. H. Anders.

At the conclusion of the study period the hostess served refreshments to the following: Mesdames Anders, B. Halbert, D. McBride, Thompson, Higganbotham, Mercer, M. Kirkland and Mary Etta and Tommie Beth Halbert.

The Woman's Department club met at the legion hut with members from clubs in Lake Providence, Rayville and Epps, as well as the Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove, and others.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. W. Byargeon. The program was conducted by Mrs. W. L. Gill, chairman of the literary department. Dr. Mary Mims was the principal speaker. Mrs. A. C. Monroe gave two vocal selections accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Rodgers. Mrs. W. D. Cotton of Rayville, state chairman of the junior clubs, extended an invitation from the officers of the fifth district of L. F. W. C. to attend the organization's convention to be held in West Monroe.

MEMPHIS SOLVES HOUSE PROBLEM

Well-Built Homes Cost As Little As $2,340 And Cheating Eliminated

Would you like a new five-room home for $2,340?

You can get one in Memphis, because cut-throat and haphazard conditions in the local building industry have been remedied by a non-proft, cooperative organization known as the Memphis Small House Construction bureau.

For years small house construction here was a sorry business. The architect, getting from 3 to 10 per cent for his work, was too expensive for the little man. The contractor, bidding against cut-throat competition, often was forced to substitute and cheat to come out ahead. The owner, having no architect, often tried to plan his own home, with little success.

The supply men faced a serious situation, too, with unscrupulous contractors using green lumber that popped off the plaster, stretched the floors and stuck the windows.

Finally came the depression, forcing foreclosures by the thousands. The loan companies found their homes in bad repair. The lumber dealers organized to correct abuses.

They Got Together

Next, the FHA stepped in to work with the dealers. The architects were persuaded to come down to a fee of one per cent for plans and one per cent for supervision, providing they did not have to contact the owner. The mortgage bankers came in at last to protect their investments and out of the whole affair came the Memphis Small Home Construction bureau.

Supposing you want to build a home in Memphis. You go to a member of the bureau, who may be a building supply dealer or a mortgage banker.

He shows you an attractive book containing architectural plans for a series of houses ranging in price from $2,340 to $6,000. There are about 50 plans in all, which can be varied to produce an almost limited number of designs.

You decide on the $2,340 house. And it will be a good house, built of kiln-dried lumber on a concrete foundation, with two roomy bedrooms, a tile-floored bath, a combination living-dining room, a kitchen-dinette, attached garage, hardwood floors, a 10-year guaranteed roof, copper plumbing and many other features essential to good, livable construction.

Bureau Handles Everything

Perhaps you want changes made in the basic plan. You outline them to your contact man.

If the contact man is a supply dealer, he then takes you to a mortgage agent. Your credit is checked, your building site checked. The mortgage agent then arranges with the architect for drawing up the specifications which you desire.

Any contractor you choose may bid on the house, or the architect will get the bids for you. The contract is let to the lowest and the best bidder and the work starts.

The architect is required to visit your house at five stages and sign a check chart as a registered architect and over his official seal. He has authority to stop the job if the contractor fails to meet specifications.

Using the standard contract form of the American Institute of Architects, the architect checks for lot plan, test of soil and drainage, location on lot, excavations, plumbing, tree stumps, bracing, joist level, lumber, general progress and general workmanship.

Everyone Safeguarded

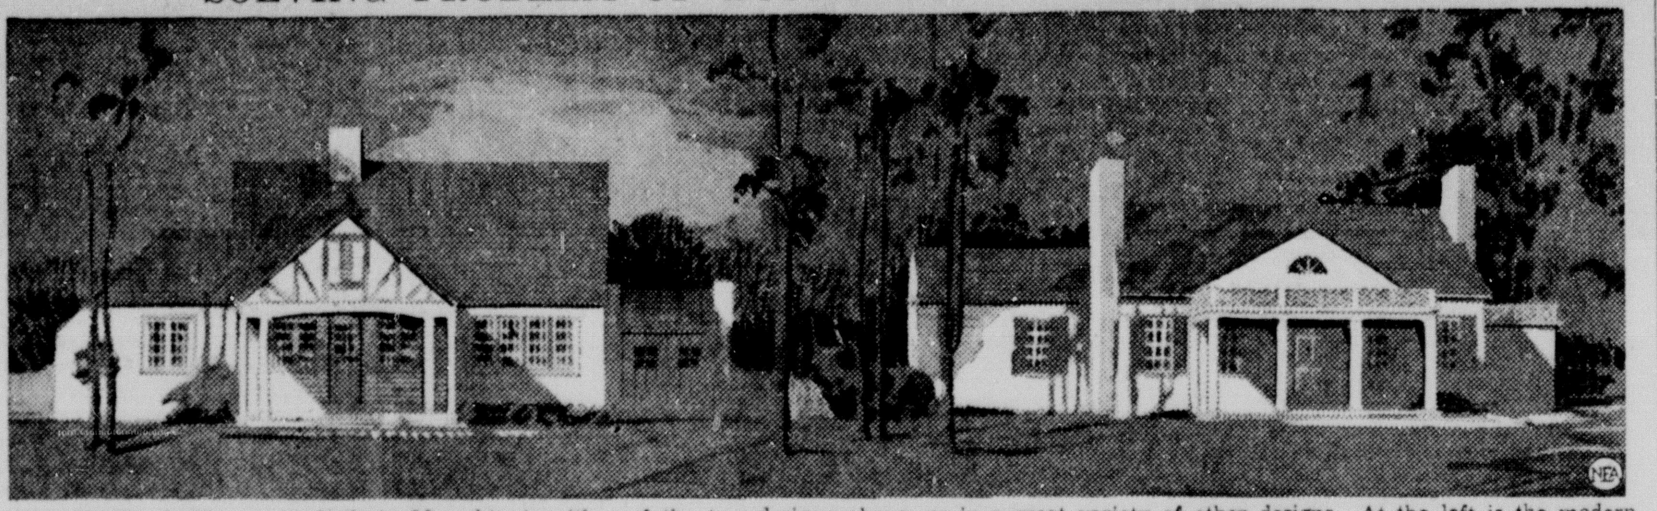
When the house is finally approved you get a certificate. You are assured the house you wanted, the mortgage company is protected and the architect has safeguarded his reputation.

The bureau itself has no paid secretary or central office. Individual members subscribed sufficient money to build two demonstration houses under the bureau name. Several more of the houses have been started by private capital and negotiations are under way for more.

The bureau's idea of home service is copyrighted and is available to any city which will carry out the service without alteration or omission of any phase.

The final model specifications for these homes were the result of months of designing by Memphis architects. One architect and the Tennessee FHA director were appointed to assemble the drawings into a book of final plans. And no one but a member of the bureau has access to the plans.

SOLVING PROBLEM OF ECONOMICAL HOME BUILDING



For $2,340 a home can be built in Memphis, in either of the two designs above—or in a great variety of other designs. At the left is the modern plan English home and at right a variation to the colonial type. The floor plan of each home is identical. Widely divergent elevation styles are possible with only a slight shifting of porch and chimneys.

Three Important Fundamentals In Every Building

Every building operation has three fundamental elements—namely, cost, size and quality.

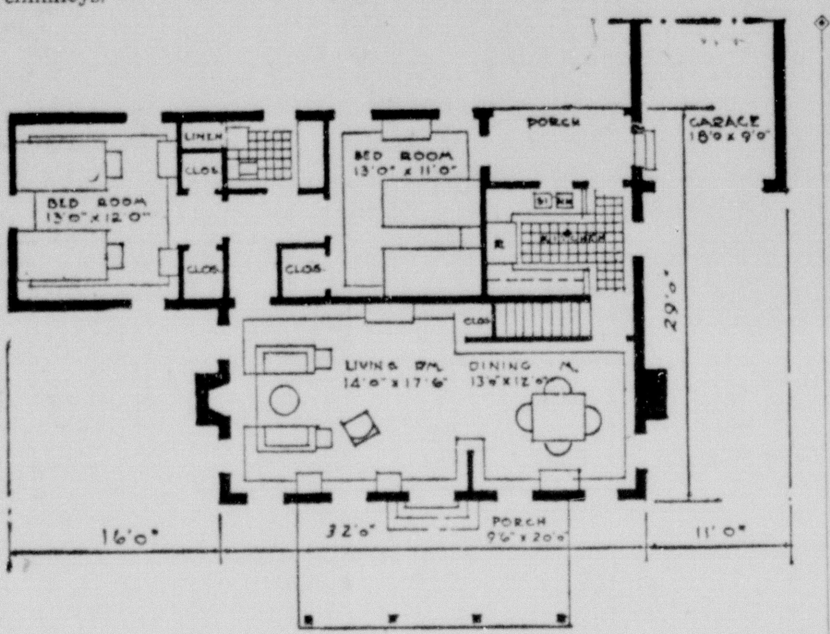
There are two kinds of quality: that which is "essential" and that which constitutes "luxury." The lowest permissible limit of quality in materials and construction, from the standpoint of security for the mortgage insured by the Federal Housing administration, is that which insures durability with low maintenance cost. This is "essential" quality.

The quality which pertains to elaboration of decorative and architectural effects, special equipments, etc., is "luxury." It is desirable, of course, to have both kinds of quality in the home, but if cost limitations permit only one, the sound investment demands that essential quality be maintained to the exclusion of luxury.

The selection of materials and equipment for the home should be governed by a consistency of quality. It is obvious that quality, in general, must be proportioned to expenditure, but certain desirable characteristics, such as design and plan arrangement, can be attained without material effect to the cost. A high degree of essential quality, regardless of the size or cost of the dwelling, is necessary to a property that is to be a desirable investment.

'PAY YOURSELF RENT' UNDER HOUSING PLAN

Under the Federal Housing administration's insured mortgage system, the prospective home buyer can make a down payment as little as one-fifth of the total value of the house and lot. The remainder is paid in equal installments in periods up to 20 years. Monthly payments generally are comparable to rents, only under the housing administration plan the individual is "paying himself rent." Full particulars concerning the system may be obtained from any housing administration office or from any private financial institution approved as a mortgagee under terms of the national housing act.



Affording two bed rooms, a large living room and a dining room that combines with the living room, ample closet space and a garage attached to the home, this is the basic floor plan for the $2,340 Memphis contract-built home.

Fences, Walls, Or Hedges Give Desired Privacy To Property

Fences, walls, hedges all add to the attractiveness and privacy of a home, particularly when the plot is small. Such additions may be quite inexpensive and will probably add more than their cost to the value of the property.

The type of architecture of the house will determine what sort of enclosure should be used. For the colonial cottage a white picket fence is the most appropriate, although a hedge, well trimmed, looks well against the white background of the house. These fences may be of many styles, from just simple flat pailings nailed to a top and bottom rail, to square or round pickets that pierce a molded top rail, with elaborate gate posts.

For the English type, or for the brick Georgian, a brick wall looks best. These may be of any height desired; this will be governed by local conditions. If the house is on a busy thoroughfare and complete privacy is wanted, a high wall may be built to completely exclude the outside world. On a quiet street, on the other hand, a low wall that does not completely hide the house may be preferable.

For a house of the Mediterranean type, a stuccoed wall would look best. With some types of house in this general category, the finish of the wall should be textured and all corners should be softened by rounding.

There are many good plants for hedges and the best way to determine which would be best for your place is to consult some good nurseryman.

Walls, fences and hedges may be financed under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

Average Person Judges House By Appearance Of Paint, Trim

There are two things by which a new house is judged by the casual observer, and those are the paint and the trim, or woodwork. If the paint is smooth and sleek, and if the trim is carefully joined and fitted and the moldings are neat and well designed, Mr. Average Man says to himself: "Here is a well-built house."

It is therefore essential in designing a house that the greatest care be used in these finishing items, for no matter how stout the frame may be or how excellent the insulation, the wiring, and the plumbing, if the finish is poor, the house will be set down as an inferior product.

Unfortunately, the trim is about the last part of the house installed, and the painting is the last operation. So if money has begun to run low when these are reached, there is a tendency to skimp, and the part of the job that is there for all the world to see is not up to the standard of the rest of the house.

There should be no skimping on the hidden frame or on the other necessary elements of the house that do not meet the eye. But there should be an excellence in these two visible items that will mark the character of the whole building. Construction of new homes can be financed under the insured mortgage system of the Federal Housing administration.

FANS FOR ATTIC ADD TO COMFORT

Approach Of Summer Justifies Consideration Of Installation

A considerable degree of summer comfort may be achieved by the installation of an attic ventilating fan. This type of fan is of large capacity and should be so located that it may have a free discharge to the outdoors and is easily accessible for occasional oiling and attention. It is necessary that ample provision for air circulation within the house be made by leaving doors open and opening to full capacity the stairway or scuttle into the attic.

For best results the fan should be used principally at night, with enough windows open on each floor to insure a large supply of cool night air. Ordinarily the attic ventilating fan is so arranged that it sucks this cool night from the various rooms and discharges it through louvered openings from the attic to the outside. This cycle of operation supplies large quantities of cool night air through the house and tends to absorb and carry away the heat which has been taken up by the materials of the house during the daytime, thus when morning comes the windows of the house should be closed and the fan turned off so that the day is begun with the house full of cool night air.

For greater efficiency it is, of course, advisable to equip the windows of the house with awnings or shades or venetian blinds, painted on the outside with aluminum paint, thus excluding the heat of the sun for as much of the day as possible. When the house is equipped with a basement, it is advisable to provide a fresh-air intake to the basement so that several times during the day the basement door to the interior of the house may be thrown open and the attic ventilating fan turned on so that the cool air from the basement is drawn up into the living quarters of the house and the heated air discharged out through the attic. Of course, the fan should only run for a short period, so that the cool basement air is not wasted. This procedure may be repeated several times a day, depending upon the capacity of the basement.

By a little experimentation the home owner can easily determine how to derive the maximum benefit from this inexpensive and effective ventilating device. Various types of air-conditioning equipment may be installed under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

LINOLEUM DESIGNS ARE NOW POPULAR

The use of linoleum as floor covering is becoming more and more popular since the linoleum manufacturers have brought out new designs suitable for the drawing room and bed room, as well as for the kitchen and bath. Especially with the modern trend in decorations is linoleum appropriate, as the rich plain colors can be used most effectively in decorative schemes, and the infinite variety of design that is made possible by the inlay method allows the decorator free rein in laying out the floors.

Not only are its decorative qualities appealing but the ease with which it can be taken care of and its long life and freedom from wear at points of excessive traffic make it attractive to the housewife and the servants. Wax can be applied just as it is to a wood floor, and the spots in front of the door or under the desk, where shoe leather mars the finish, can be brought back to a high luster without going over the whole floor.

NOISE REDUCTION EFFICIENCY PROOF

Just As Important As Any Other Facility In Construction Of Home

NEW YORK—Noise reduction is just as important a factor in human efficiency as proper heating ventilating, and lighting, according to Harold R. Berlin, past presidnet of the Acoustical Materials association and a member of the Acoustical Society of America, who has recently completed a lecture tour of southern states during which he addressed meetings of builders and students on this subject.

Groups under whose auspices Berlin appeared include Tulane university, New Orleans; the University of Texas, at Austin; and local chapters of the American Institute of Architects and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in other cities.

"Noise," Berlin says, "is defined by science as being sound out of place. A concert by a symphony orchestra would be a beautiful sound under the proper circumstances, but at 2 o'clock in the morning to people who were trying to sleep it would be noise.

"The harm which noise does to the human mechanism is not guesswork," he states. "The psychology department of a large university demonstrated in one experiment that typists used 19 per cent more energy working under noisy conditions and lost more than 4 per cent in speed. In another case the installation of quieting material in the telephone room of a telegraph company in a large city reduced the number of errors 42 per cent, a net saving of 3 per cent on the cost of each message."

There is an increasing realization by business men of the handicap imposed by noise, according to this expert, with the result that more and more of them are having their offices and workshops treated for the elimination or reduction of sound. Schools, hospitals, and other public buildings are also adopting this protection for their occupants.

Noise-control materials come in a variety of shapes and styles, according to Berlin. One of the most widely used of these is a perforated sheet containing a special pad as the sound-absorbing medium.

Modernization of this type may be financed by use of modernization credit made available by private lending agencies and insured by the Federal Housing administration.

Sidewalks In Good Condition Lessen Hazards

Cracked sidewalks or driveways present accident hazards. In New York City alone in one year about 13,000 people tripped or fell on sidewalks and streets and were seriously or fatally injured.

The owners of the property in front of which the walks are laid are held legally liable for injuries received by pedestrians due to faulty sidewalks.

It is both humanitarian and businesslike for owners to see that sidewalks are level surfaces and built to stay that way—besides, it adds to the appearance of the property.

By a system of reinforcing the concrete it is practically impossible for sidewalks to burst open when roots of trees grow under them or extreme weather causes the concrete to contract or expand.

A cold-drawn electrically welded steel-wire mesh is laid under the concrete. This invisible metal mattress offers resistance to strain which the materials of the sidewalk itself cannot give.

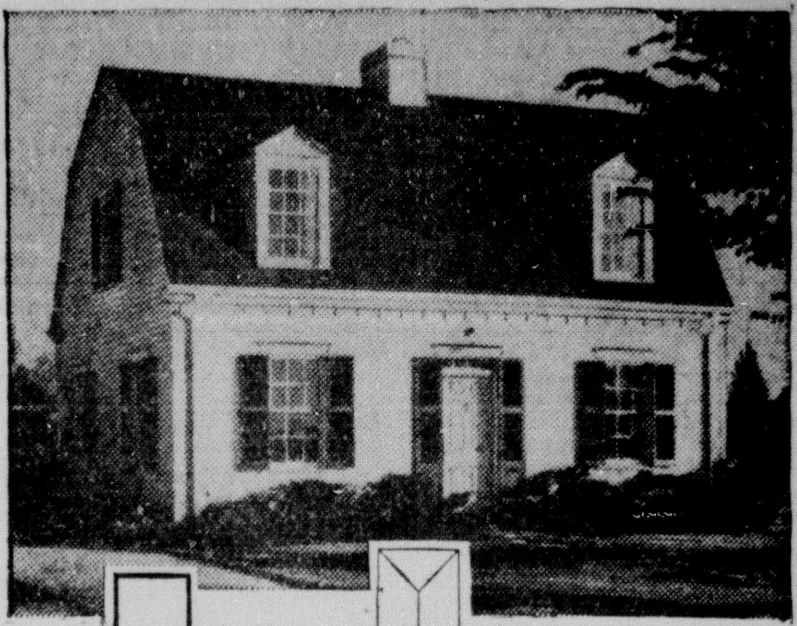
In purchasing a home under the provisions of mutual mortgage insurance system of the Federal Housing administration the prospective owner will wish to give due consideration to sidewalks and landscaping.

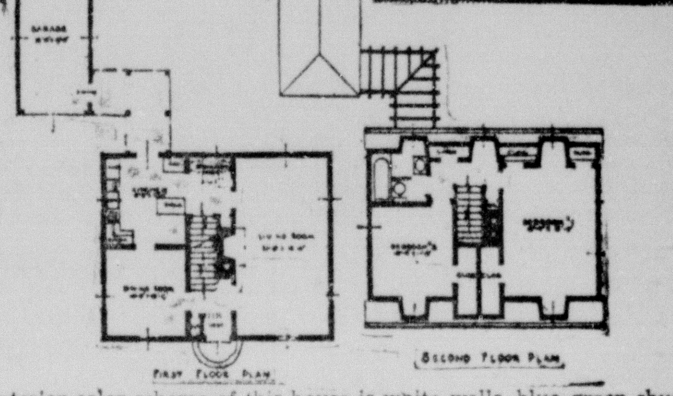
RAIN DRAIN

Lots of water will pass down the leaders between now and spring, and if it is allowed to pour right onto the lawn or into the flower beds there will be little lawn and few flowers next summer. If you can, connect the leaders with some drain or dry well; if you cannot, put concrete splash blocks under them so the water will be spread and will not cut out gullies.

The fish known as a tuna in the Mediterranean and California, is a tunny in the British Isles, while in the Atlantic coastal water of the United States it is a great albancore or horse mackerel.

COLORFUL OUTSIDE, SNUG WITHIN





The exterior color scheme of this house is white walls, blue-green shutters and black shingle roof, giving it a distinctive air. It is one of a group designed by White and Weber for an Illinois development, and appears in a series of low-cost dwellings chosen by "The Architectural Record." There are three large rooms downstairs—living room, dining room and kitchen. Upstairs there are two large bedrooms. The construction is wood frame with concrete foundations. Insulation is achieved by a ½-inch blanket type woven wire lath. The plan is compact, and economy is achieved by the simple roof framing and minimum lineal feet of wall. A gravity-feed hot air system provides heating.

Adequate Wiring Essential To Safety Of Home; Reduces Fires

In selecting the type of wiring systems to be used in modernizing a home or in a new home, it is well to remember that short circuits in wiring are a common cause of fire, and that provisions should be made for expansion of the wiring system if additions are made to the house at a later date, and also for the increasing use of electrical appliances over a period of time. For safety's sake, the common knob and tube wiring system should be avoided and one of the flexible or rigid metallic or sheathed conduit systems used wherever possible.

In order to take care of future requirements, the use of No. 12 wire is recommended for all branch lighting circuits because it can carry heavier loads than the usual No. 14 wire. In any event, No. 12 wire should be used on branch circuits serving the kitchen and the basement or utility room.

To insure continued usefulness of the wiring system, an ample number of convenience outlets for each room should be provided and located with an eye to utility. The number, however, should be reasonably limited to conform to the standard created by other homes in the neighborhood. Permanent wire-system installations may be financed under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

Brick Suitable Background For Paint; Treatment Unnecessary

No special treatment is ordinarily needed when old brick structures are to be painted. They usually receive, and satisfactorily hold for years, high quality exterior paints such as are used upon wood surfaces or specially designed brick and cement paints.

It is desirable first to point up the structure if the mortar between the bricks is crumbling before applying paint. Efflorescence of water-soluble salts often appears on unpainted brick structures. These salts are mainly compounds of calcium, brought to the surface by absorbed rain water. Before painting the wall the efflorescence should be removed by dry brushing or by scrubbing with water.

Before painting, new brick structures should be allowed to dry for several months. The priming coat in such instances should usually contain a very substantial amount of high-grade exterior spar varnish to act as a sealing film. The use of such special primer does away with suction spots and alkali effects which otherwise might be indicated.

Funds for the painting of brick—and other structures—may be obtained from private financial institutions insured by the Federal Housing administration under the modernization credit plan.

Air Conditioning Unit For Water Systems Is Found

A newcomer in the field of air-conditioning is a compact unit for use in connection with hot-water or steam-heating systems. This type of equipment may be purchased and installed under the modernization plan of the Federal Housing administration.

This new unit converts the usual hot-water or steam-heating system into a winter air-conditioning system by performing the following desirable functions: Filtering, circulating, and humidifying the air. It may also be arranged to provide ventilation by a connection to the outdoor air.

Especially noteworthy is its compactness, actually little larger than a suitcase, making for ease of installation in either new or existing heating systems.

Important advantages of the unit are its adaptability to automatic control, which makes for convenience and better heat distribution throughout the house; its ability to add the required moisture to the dry-heated air; and, of course quite important, its economy of operation due to its beneficial effect on the regular heating system and because it consumes no more current than a 60-watt lamp.

For those who wish summer cooling in addition to the air-circulation provided by the unit, a cooling coil may be added which is connected to a refrigerating machine.

A convenient trick for quick identification of pipes in the cellar both for the water and for the heating systems is to paint each line a different color. Keep a chart handy listing the various pipes with their respective colors. Then an offending one can be found quickly.

Farmers To Take Advantage Of Repair Credit

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The number of modernization loans insured by the Federal Housing administration and extended by private financial institutions to farmers has increased steadily since the program was first started. More and more farmers each month are obtaining credit under this modern financing plan to improve their property.

Farmers have learned that modernization credit repayable by the month over periods up to five years is a convenient way to finance farm improvements. This money is not government money. It is private capital, insured by the Federal Housing administration to help farmers improve their properties and bring them up to a maximum efficiency.

PLAN HELPS DEALER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—An electrical dealer in a northern Indiana city owed a $2,000 note and was pressed for money. On the advice of his banker he began the practice of selling equipment under the Federal Housing administration's modernization credit plan. At the present time he has not only paid off his $2,000 note and several other obligations but has also cleared $5,000.

FIRE PREVENTION

When the garage is attached directly to the house, it is well to build the connecting wall of non-inflammable material and put a fire door on the garage side of the opening connecting it to the house proper. This should be in addition to the ordinary door that will be installed on the house side.

Joan Crawford, Spencer Tracy Starred At Paramount

A mirth-packed marriage ritual set in the novel locale of a moving van causes the hilarious climax in which the bride rebels in "She's Got Everything," co-starring Gene Raymond and Ann Sothern, at the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday.

A musical of superlative splendor, wrapped in silver, ribboned with song, and happiness written all over it! Such is "Happy Landing," which co-stars Sonja Henie and Don Ameche, with Jean Hersholt, Ethel Merman and Cesar Romero. It's playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Paramount theater.

John Howard and Louise Campbell return to the screen as lovers again in "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge," the mystery action story which plays at the Capitol theater Thursday only, with John Barrymore, Reginald Denny and E. E. Clive.

'Mannequin' Plays Last Times Today

Stellar Supporting Cast Featured In Romantic Comedy-Drama Here

WHEN a poor girl marries a rich man out of pity, learns to love him on their honeymoon, and then has to prove her love when he goes broke, it evolves into one of the season's most highly entertaining motion pictures. Particularly when Joan Crawford is the girl, Spencer Tracy the man and the picture is "Mannequin," which plays for the last times today at the Paramount theater.

Here is the Joan Crawford her fans have been clamoring for, glamorously gowned by Adrian, singing delightfully a new song hit, "Always and Always," and ideally teamed with Tracy. As Jessie Cassidy, a shop girl fed up on poverty, who accepts love as an escape, has it fail her, and then finds a real love worth fighting for, she has the type of dynamic role which has brought her fame as an actress and stardom.

Tracy as John L. Hennessey, a man who has to lose a fortune to discover what the love of a woman can mean, has been given a forceful characterization that must be numbered among his best.

Well received, too, was Hollywood's newest leading-man discovery, Alan Curtis, who makes the most of his first important film opportunity as Eddie Miller, a cheap crook.

From an original story by Katharine Brush, who wrote "Young Man of Manhattan," the picture has New York's drab tenement district and sumptuous multimillionaire's penthouses as colorful and exciting background. To escape from her tenement surroundings, Jessie marries Miller, who proves a weakling. She determines to live her own life, a resolve which fades before Hennesseys determined courting. They marry, which gives Miller an idea for a blackmail scheme that misses when Hennessey goes broke. This gives Jessie the chance to prove her love in a dramatic and surprising climax.

In the direction will be noted the deft hand of Frank Borzage, who has given the screen such successes as "Big City," "Seventh Heaven" and "Farewell to Arms."

300 MOTOR CAR DRIVERS TESTED

More than 300 motor car drivers had been tested in Monroe Friday up to early afternoon in connection with the Aetna Safety Special, sponsored by the Aetna Casualty and Surety company, through the McReynolds Agency, the John E. Godfrey Insurance agency in cooperation with the Monroe police department.

In driving tests made, one man made 96 per cent on a steering test which was so far as known a new high record. As a whole the tests were said to average up well.

Fewer women than men took the tests but their records were excellent, B. L. Golub, of the safety educational department of the Aetna Casualty and Surety company, stated. Men excelled in steering and in reaction but women excelled in headlight glare tests and in color vision, he said.

The group goes to Vicksburg, Miss., from Monroe. To date 28 states have been visited and over 500,000 persons have been given driving tests, it was stated by Mr. Golub. He is assisted by F. M. Jackson and by Fred Hume of New Orleans.

The purpose of the tests has been to assist Aetna agents in their efforts to create greater interest in automobile accident prevention in their communities.

Not since "Viva Villa!" has Wallace Beery stormed to the screen in so colorful a role! Adventure with him as "Trigger Bill" . . . in this heroic drama of old Arizona. Bold, daring, a thrill-packed, laugh-packed saga of fearless men, "Bad Man of Brimstone," featuring Wallace Beery, Virginia Bruce and Dennis O'Keefe, plays today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

"Every crime has a flaw . . . except mine." But John Barrymore was wrong in "Night Club Scandal," the story of a cold-blooded murderer who had a way with women, playing Tuesday only at the Capitol theater, featuring John Barrymore, Lynne Overman, Charles Bickford, and Louise Campbell.

MINIATURE FACTORY WILL BE DISPLAYED

A $20,000 working model of the world's most modern auto plant will be brought to Monroe for a special display, it was announced here yesterday by the Plymouth dealers of the city.

Arrangements have been completed with Plymouth officials in Detroit to send here the company's big mechanical model of its main production plant, so that hundreds of local residents may see in miniature the latest methods of construction employed at the world's most modern automobile factory.

The display is mounted in a special trailer more than 25 feet long, with self-contained equipment for operating the miniature factory. The exhibit is scheduled to arrive here Monday, and will be placed on display immediately at North Second and Washington streets.

Factory experts will accompany the unit, and deliver explanatory lectures during each demonstration. Special motion picture features will be shown in connection with the display.

The miniature plant is an exact scale replica of the giant Plymouth main plant, and is said to be one of the most elaborate mechanical models ever constructed. An intricate system of electric motors show the factory running at full blast, with tiny figures of workmen stationed at their tasks of regular production on the assembly lines. Cars "produced" in the plant are two and one-half inches long.

'Bad Man Of Brimstone' At Capitol

Wallace Beery Heads Big Cast In Spectacular Picture Opening Today

ONE of the year's outstanding spectacles will be shown starting today at the Capitol theater with the coming of "The Bad Man of Brimstone," starring Wallace Beery in an epic saga of the lawless west.

Staged against the grim background of the west's most rugged panoramas, "The Bad Man of Brimstone" presents a saga of the unregenerate town of Brimstone, ruled with a ruthless six-gun by Wallace Beery.

Bringing to the screen all the talents which have endeared him to the hearts of America's picture-going millions, Beery is assisted by Dennis O'Keefe, recent cinematic discovery, and by Virginia Bruce.

O'Keefe, as a young eastern prize fight champion who arrives in the old western town of Brimstone and straightway begins to clean up the lawless element, stands out as the greatest acting discovery since the advent of Clark Gable.

Miss Bruce, in her role as daughter of Brimstone's justice of the peace, provides an exciting incentive to O'Keefe in his cleanup efforts.

A distinguished cast of supporting players includes Joseph Calleia, Lewis Stone, Guy Kibbee, Bruce Cabot, Cliff Edwards, Guinn Williams, Arthur Hohl, Robert Gleckler, Noah Beery, Scotty Beckett and scores of character actors and extras, many of whom actually fought through the days when the west was wild and contribute invaluable realistic touches to the epic.

Filmed against the majestic wilderness of the Kanah National Forest in Utah, the picture is replete with startling natural scenic beauty and with fidelity to the exciting period when the west was a synonym for wilderness.

DID YOU KNOW-

That Mills' Downtown Parking, 201 North Second St., provides free parking on its lot, located only a block from the heart of the business district, for its steady service station customers? . . . That Royal Feed and Seed Store, 812 DeSiard St., handles some seed more precious than gold? . . . That Parlor City Lumber Co., 1000 Mississippi St., is the oldest retail lumber firm in Monroe?

Average Person Requires Advice About Insurance

An average person is no more capable of handling his insurance problems. He should, therefore, submit them to an insurance agent, who is just as much of a trained specialist in his line as a lawyer or a doctor is in his.

Let Gregg and McKenzie, 313 Harrison street, advise you how to protect yourself and your properties against the various types of hazards. That is the business of the members of the firm.

They'll be glad to tell you about the money-saving combinations that are now being offered by the insurance companies they represent. Like automobiles, like the very mode of living, insurance, during the past decade or so, has undergone a vast amount of stream-lining.

Just as life in modern times has become more complicated, insurance has become more complicated. Hazards exist today that were not dreamed of a decade or two ago. As they arose, they have been check-mated with a new type of policy.

It's impossible for an average person, busy with his own affairs, to keep up with these developments. It's the insurance agent's business to do so. Therefore, seek his advice.

Every person needs a different type of insurance protection. Let Gregg and McKenzie diagnose your particular need.

Firestone Farm Tires Save Both Time And Money

Did you farmers know that it's possible to do your work in 25 per cent less time and, at the same time, save up to 50 per cent on your fuel bills by putting Firestone Ground Grip tires on your tractors and other equipment?

These tires can be bought at Firestone Auto and Supply Service stores, corner of Washington and North Third streets, on easy terms. Call there and let one of the employes of the firm explain how, through your fuel saving alone, you can pay for the tires.

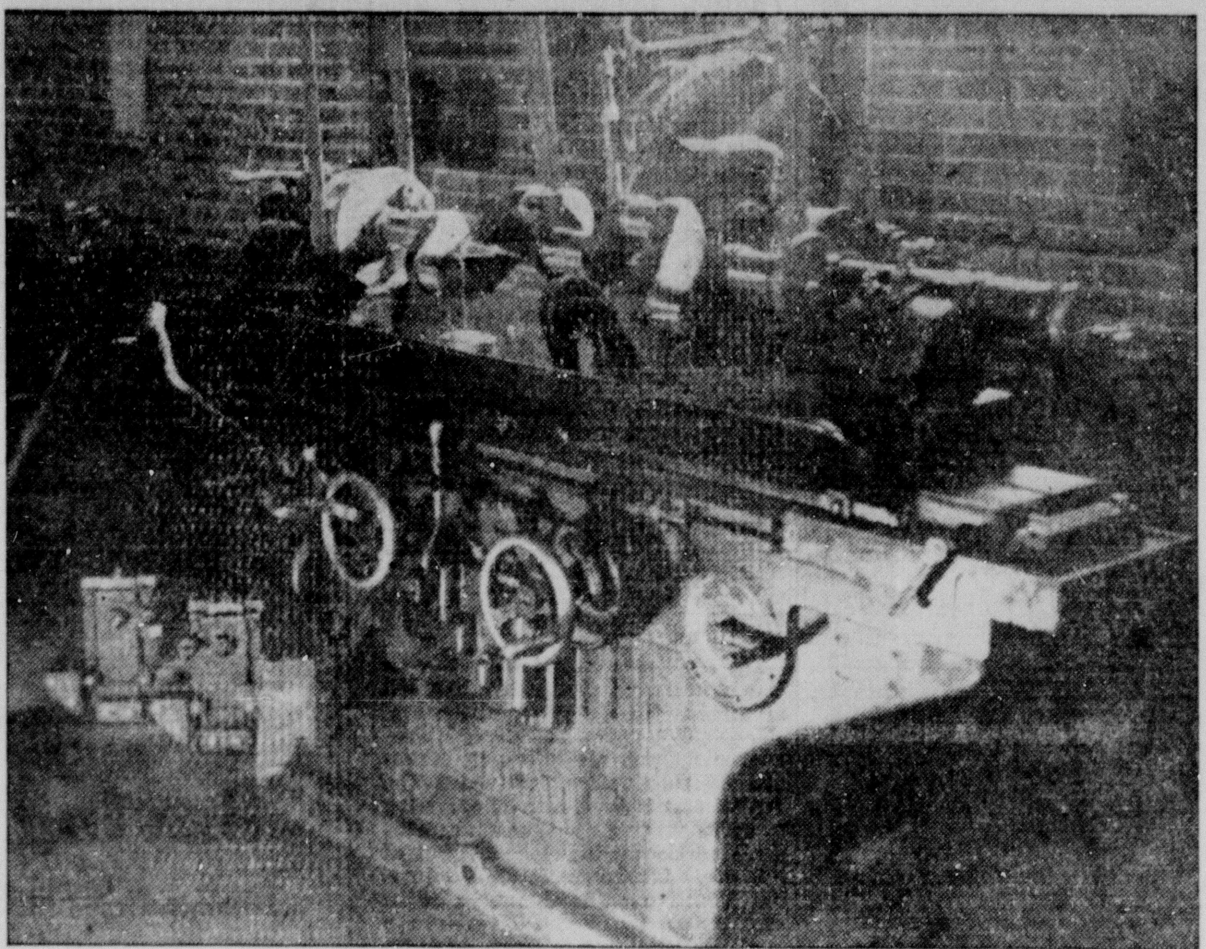
Ground Grip tires were put on the market by Firestone several years ago, after years of experimentation. Now, following three years of proving under the most adverse conditions—in the rice and cane fields of south Louisiana—they are being introduced here, where farmers are finding them ideal for work in buckshot land. They are doing the job where steel wheels and ordinary tires with chains can't go.

Here are some of the advantages of Ground Grip tires: The triple braced traction bars, which bite into the earth like spades, give more positive traction; 52 to 89 extra inches of traction bar length gives greater earth biting power; 32 per cent greater surface contact gives increased pulling power and longer wear; smoother riding is made possible by the traction bars being joined and forming one continuous contact with the ground or road; better cleaning, under any soil condition, is made possible through the scientific spacing of the traction bars; longer life is provided by the famous Firestone gum-dip process; two extra layers of gum-dipped cords under the tread guarantee the tread against loosening.

And listen to this, farmers: You don't have to buy wheels with Ground Grip tires. Firestone Auto Supply and Service stores enables you to save money by having your old steel wheels cut down and rims welded on to fit Ground Grip tires.

Firestone has a farm tire for every purpose. Look them over before you buy.

CRANKSHAFT REGRINDING MACHINE



Here you see a crankshaft regrinding machine operated by James Machine Works, 1515 DeSiard street. This machine reconditions all kinds of crankshafts at a mere fraction of the cost of new shafts. It grinds both main and connecting rod bearing, or "throws," to precision limits of less than one-one-thousandths of an inch accuracy. James Machine Works, the telephone number of which is 904, does all kinds of machinery repair work and engages in electric and acetylene welding.

Pounds Of Good Asphalt Is What Makes The Roof

"What's the use of building a house if you don't put a roof on it?" asks J. G. Bell, owner and operator of J. G. Bell roofing and Sheet Metal Works, 410 Walnut street. He says a roof that won't give 10 years' satisfactory service is not worthy of the name.

Emphasizing that experience has taught him that petroleum asphalt will not stand the test of time, he maintains that for long life there is no difference between a coal-tar-and-gravel roof and a roof of quality asphalt bonded by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. He says this type of asphalt will not dry up and crack like petroleum asphalt, which is $15 a ton cheaper.

It is the asphalt between the plies of felt that make a built-up roof for flat surfaces, according to Mr. Bell. The plies of felt used, he says, merely hold the asphalt in place. The plies should be heavily mopped, not scrubbed to make the asphalt go farther, he contends.

Roofing felt made by the manufacturers of Mule-Hide roofing, which is handled here by J. G. Bell and Sheet Metal Works, is the best on the market, Mr. Bell thinks. He says it is especially designed to absorb and hold 40 per cent more pounds of asphalt.

Mr. Bell is an advocate of shingle-fashion roofs, both for those of the built-up and steeper variety. He says they require more waterproofing asphalt than the criss-cross and other patterns use. He observes that is shingle-fashion coverings weren't superior, the Supreme Architect wouldn't have put the feathers on ducks and the scales on fish shingle-fashion.

Coal-Tar-and-gravel roofs are unsatisfactory except on extremely flat surfaces, says Mr. Bell, while asphalt can be used on either flat or steep surfaces. He says gravel provides no waterproofing, but merely holds the top coat of tar in place.

The use of a blow torch to prove that asbestos roofing felt is fireproof is a trick of the roofing trade, according to Mr. Bell, and no real proof at all.

A built-up roof of quality asphalt will give years of service, according to Mr. Bell. He cites the roof on the Ouachita National bank here as an example. It has, although it is only a four-ply, shingle-fashion roof, given 17 years' perfect service.

Bernelle Finances Auto Repair Work

Don't let your car deteriorate into a rattle-trap while you are waiting to save enough to get it repaired. Take it to Bernelle's Garage, 311 Ouachita avenue. The proprietor, E. P. Bernelle, can finance the work for you. He does the job now and you pay him in small monthly installments.

Bernelle's garage engages in every phase of automobile repair work, including body rebuilding and painting. Moreover, it operates two wreckers equipped with power winches having 500 feet of steel cable each and does acetylene welding.

The garage is at your disposal whenever you need its services—night or day.

REPLICA ON DISPLAY

The Royal ring, a replica of the wedding band worn by the Duchess of Windsor, is now on display in the windows of R. and A Jewelry company, 323 DeSiard street. The ring was styled by J. R. Wood and Sons, Inc., Brooklyn, N. Y., world's largest manufacturers of wedding and engagement rings.

Prices Slashed On Spring Items By Western Auto

Most everything you need around the house, yard and garage in the spring is now available at Western Auto Associate store, 419 DeSiard street, at drastically reduced prices.

The prices were lowered Saturday and will continue in effect until April 16. Announcement of the reductions was made in catalogs jammed full of bargains and containing, moreover, a number of amazing coupon values.

Here's your chance to doll up your home without spending much money. With every quart of Wescote screen enamel, for which you pay only 45 cents, you get an applicator free. And with every five gallons of Wescote Supreme house or barn paint, a guaranteed product, you get one gallon of linseed oil and one quart of turpentine free. The barn paint sells for $1.36 a gallon in five-gallon lots; the house paint, for $2.85 a gallon in five-gallon lots. But that's not all. If you buy a can of Wescote Supreme four-hour enamel, or a can of Wescote Supreme porch and floor enamel, or a can of Wescote Supreme kitchen and bath enamel, you are eligible to buy a 26-inch, sturdy step-stool, valued at $1.50, for 49 cents.

For the yard and garden, Western Auto offers a variety of implements at bargain prices—rakes, hoes, dandelion diggers, spades, shovels, spading forks, pruning shears, grass shears, grass hooks, trowels, transplanters, forks and cultivators. It is offering its "Western Jr." ball-bearing lawn mower for $5.60 and 25 feet of garden hose for $1.39.

Now for the car, which, during these beautiful spring days, is being used overtime. A free tube goes with every Davis DeLuxe or Davis DeLuxe Safety-Grip tire sold during the period of low prices. Prices on such leading automobile items as batteries, radios, oils and seat covers have been cut to rock bottom.

But above all things, remember this: The coupons were put in the catalog to be used; so use them.

Highest Quality Neon Signs Made By Local Concern

Neon signs are not merely assembled by Neon Sign Manufacturing company, 504-506 Walnut street, they're built right here in Monroe by the firm.

Besides salesmen to find a market for its products, the firm employs, in its operations, sign designers, glass blowers, vacuum pump operators, electricians, tinners, painters and sign erection men.

From sheets of galvanized metal, it creates the cans for its Neon signs. Besides forming the background for the Neon tubing, these cans contain the electrical wiring and transformers necessary for the operation of the signs.

The company converts plain glass tubing, which it buys in four-foot lengths, into Neon tubing. But before this is done, it is heated and shaped into the letters or design desired. Then, after the electrodes are fixed to the tubing, it goes to a vacuum pump. There, under high voltage, the tubing is given three treatments to remove impurities. Then it is pulled by the pump to a vacuum, after which a few millimeters of Neon gas is injected. At this stage, the tubing is sealed off the vacuum pump and put on an aging table, where, for an hour, it carries the same amount of electricity it is destined to carry as a sign. This aging process determines whether the tubing is defective. If no defects show up, the tubing is ready for installation on the can.

Meanwhile, the background has been painted on the can. The background is painted over a base of two coats of cement paint and two coats of Duco, both applied with an air-brush. The cement paint is especially designed to cling to galvanized metal.

Neon signs manufactured by Neon Sign Manufacturing company, the telephone number of which is 3510, measure up to the highest of standards. All bear the label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. This means they have been rigidly inspected and found to be perfect.

Drive More Than 1 Million Miles Without Accident

Six truck drivers employed by Merchants Fast Freight Service, Inc., 219 Walnut street, motor transportation firm with headquarters in Monroe, had, all told, at the end of 1937, driven, during periods varying from two to six years, more than a million miles over north Louisiana highways without an accident. All, in recognition of their accomplishments, have been awarded badges by the National Safety Council, a non-profit-making organization devoted to the promotion of industrial safety.

The council makes an award only after a driver's record is definitely established. Any sort of accident, whether his fault or not, eliminates a driver from eligibility for one of the badges. To earn one, in other words, it is not only necessary for a driver to be careful in his own driving, but to be alert to the careless driving of others. In the form of a shield, the badge is usually worn by a driver on his cap.

Four of the Merchants Fast Freight drivers rewarded for their careful driving are white men; two, negroes.

Topping the list is Luther M. Gunter, who has driven 420,000 miles during six years, beginning in 1931, without an accident. The records of the other white men are as follows: Colvin M. McConnell, 200,000 miles over a period of three years, beginning in December, 1934; Charles Musick, 240,000 miles, three years, beginning in December, 1934; Harry Underwood, 75,000 miles, two years, beginning in September, 1935.

The negroes and their records are as follows: Dan Lewis, 90,000 miles, two years beginning in August, 1935; Willie Coleman, 50,000 miles, three years, beginning in December, 1934.

While Merchants Fast Freight maintains a fast schedule, it cooperates in every way with its drivers in their efforts to keep their safety records unblemished. It provides them with properly equipped and properly serviced trucks. Moreover, it allows its drivers plenty of time for rest.

Mr. Underwood is no longer a truck driver. He has been promoted to office work.

Officials of Merchants Fast Freight Service considered Coleman's record as particularly noteworthy. As the operator of one of the firm's local pick-up-and-delivery trucks, he has done all of his driving within the city, where the traffic hazards are often greater than on the open highways.

Merchants Fast Freight, which gives daily service except on Sundays, operates west of Shreveport; south to Baton Rouge; east to Tallulah, then north through Lake Providence to Oak Grove and back through Epps to Delhi; north through Sterlington, Bastrop, Oak Ridge, Collinston, Mer Rouge, Bonita and Jones to the Arkansas line; and southeast through Alto, Winnsboro and Wisner.

Good magicians earn from $300 a week up and spend about a half year performing before audiences. The other half of the year usually is devoted to the developing of new skills and devices.

Let Lamar Life Provide Way For College Training

You young parents, remember what a tough struggle your dad and mother had to get you through college. How they had to stint themselves. Or how they had to mortgage the home to raise the necessary funds.

Remember how they worried and how it made you feel. Perhaps you told them to forget about a college training for you and they had to put their foot down on it and insist that you continue and complete your education.

Well, young parents, you can avoid a repetition of this episode when your children grow up. Edwin W. Crowley, special agent here for Lamar Life Insurance company of Jackson, Miss., can tell you how. He specializes in juvenile education policies.

A small sum expended during the infancy, childhood and youth of your children will assure their future, provide them with a weapon for the increasingly strenuous battle of life—a trained mind.

The import-export trade of Canada during the last year amounted to $1,923,000,000, more than double its foreign trade in 1933.

CHAPTER HONORS O. E. S. OFFICIAL

Banquet Tendered Mrs. Lovie V. Gregory By Louise I. McGuire Unit

Louise L. McGuire chapter No. 4, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained with a banquet and obligation ceremony Monday night at the Masonic lodge in honor of Mrs. Lovie V. Gregory, one of its members who was recently elected associate grand matron of the grand chapter of Louisiana.

Besides 80 members of the chapter, a number of prominent Eastern Star members from surrounding communities attended the gathering, which was presided over by Mrs. Margaret Hartman, worthy matron of Louise L. McGuire chapter, and Dee A. Strickland, its worthy patron. A number of talks in the interest of the order were made.

The banquet table was decorated with sweet peas and lighted with pink candles in glass candelabra. An Easter theme was carried out in the favors and place cards.

Present, besides the honor guest and the members of Louise McGuire chapter, were Mrs. Ira M. Adams of Ruston, past grand matron of Louisiana, and a member of the committee on laws and jurisprudence of the general grand chapter; her husband, Mr. Adams; Sidney A. Seegars, Lake Providence, worthy grand patron; Mrs. Juanita Jackson, Lecompte, grand conductress; Mrs. Nina Ginsberg, Alexandria, associate grand conductress; James H. Rowland, Shreveport, associate grand patron; his wife, Mrs. Rowland; George H. Ginsberg, Alexandria, past grand patron; Mrs. Carrie Goff, Arcadia, past grand matron; W. D. Goff, Arcadia, past grand patron; Mrs. Birdie Mae Mulhern, Monroe, grand Martha; Mrs. Mamie Kersh, Monroe, district deputy grand matron of district No. 4; Mrs. Seegars, Lake Providence, district deputy grand matron of district No. 6; Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Carkuff, Monroe, worthy patron and worthy matron of Dixie chapter; Mrs. Nita Golson, West Monroe, worthy matron of Annie D. Bennett chapter; Miss Katie McGee, West Monroe, grand representative of Rhode Island; and a number of members of Dixie chapter.

During the banquet, Miss Eloise Gill, a member of the Leesville chapter, gave a character reading. Miss Mary Benoit, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. George A. Moffett, contributed several violin selections. On behalf of Louis L. McGuire chapter, Mrs. Fred M. Culver presented Mrs. Gregory with a set of sterling silver after-dinner coffee spoons.

Following the banquet, a floral ceremony was held, during which Mrs. Gregory was introduced to the chapter in her new official capacity.

As is customary at the last meeting of the month, the birthday members of Louise L. McGuire chapter for the month were honored. Among the March birthday members were Mayor and Mrs. H. H. Benoit.

The next meeting of the chapter is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 4 at the Masonic temple.

KETCHELL RITES HELD SATURDAY

Funeral Conducted For Victim Of Automobile Accident

The funeral of Charles R. Ketchell, 34, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on the Sterlington road early Friday morning and who died in a local hospital later in the day, was held at the Assembly of God church, West Monroe, Saturday at 2:30 p.m. A short prayer service was held at the residence, 309 Orange street, immediately prior to the services in the church. Rev. E. L. Tanner, pastor, officiated, and interment took place in Hasley cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Louis Lourent, R. Aimsworth, James Robinson, Alton Robinson, P. T. Craven and T. C. Brown. Honorary pallbearers were L. B. Pettit, Roland Coats, Bob Coats, Olander Vaughan, H. Mayfield, Ed Stevens, A. P. Kitchens, B. A. Myers and L. S. Sackman.

The accident occurred when the car in which Mr. Ketchell was riding and in which were the owner of the machine O. C. Vaughan, 3306 Gordon avenue, and Owen McMullen, 19, News-Star—World employe, overturned. The driver, at the time, was endeavoring to avoid striking a dog that ran suddenly across the highway in front of the car. McMullen escaped injury, but Vaughan suffered only a slight arm injury and Ketchell received a fractured skull and crushed chest. He was removed by ambulance to a hospital, where he failed to recover consciousness.

He was an employe of the Slagle-Johnson Lumber company, and leaves his wife; his mother, Mrs. P. J. Hendricks, West Monroe; two sons, Carl and Levone Ketchell; two sisters, Mrs. S. L. Clark and Mrs. C. O. Warren, both of West Monroe; and three brothers, Frank Ketchell, Ferrell Ketchell and Stanley Ketchell, all of West Monroe.

Since 1916, the salmon production of Alaska has been worth four times its gold production.

TOM JEFFERSON CENTER DELEGATE

The national convention of Phi Theta Kappa will be held in St. Joseph, Mo., at St. Joseph Junior college March 30 to April 1, and a representation will attend from Northeast Center. Tom Jefferson has been named official delegate and a group of other members of the Gamma Gamma chapter here will be present, according to an announcement made by Dean C. C. Colvert.

An interesting program has been arranged for the delegates, the dean said. One of the features will be a reception for all attending which has been arranged for March 30.

Other highlights will be a chili supper; "Footlights," a stage production by St. Joseph Junior college students; a banquet and a dance.

During 1932, 5,580 motor cars were stolen in the metropolitan area of London.

—you start SAVING MONEY

When you own a SERVEL ELECTROLUX THE Gas REFRIGERATOR

WITH a Servel Electrolux, you save money where savings count the most—in the kitchen. More than a million families from coast to coast are today enjoying the amazing economy of this different refrigerator.

Servel Electrolux is the only automatic refrigerator that has no moving parts in the entire freezing system. Nothing to wear or become inefficient. Nothing to become noisy—now or years from now. If you want a refrigerator that's always silent, that will give you continued low running cost, that will give you more years of satisfaction—see the new Servel Electrolux models at our showroom today.

Read what one owner says:
"We keep a pretty accurate budget and we've found that the money we saved with our Servel Electrolux actually equalled the payments on it."
Mrs. Joyce Arden
Los Angeles, California

Because this different refrigerator FREEZES WITH NO MOVING PARTS, you enjoy—
- PERMANENT SILENCE
- SAVINGS THAT PAY FOR IT
- LASTING EFFICIENCY
- CONTINUED LOW OPERATING COST

Operates for as low as 1c PER DAY

LOVE INTO HATE
AS TARZAN DIRECTED THE BUILDING OF THE FORTIFIED TOWN, ONE MAN RAISED HIS VOICE AGAINST HIM.
HE WAS HENRIK SMIT, WHO SAID: "WHY DO WE ALLOW THIS OUTLANDER TO RULE US? ARE WE TOO WEAK TO ORDER OUR OWN AFFAIRS?"
"HE IS WISE AND JUST," ANSWERED JAN VAN BOEREN: "AND HE IS OUR SALVATION AGAINST THE SAVAGES."
"HE MAY BE IN LEAGUE WITH THEM," SMIT INSISTED; "---PREPARING TO BETRAY US."
THE PIONEERS SCOFFED, AND TARZAN WONDERED WHY THIS MAN WAS HIS ENEMY.
DESPITE THE FELLOW'S SLURS, THE APE-MAN WAS A HERO, AND THE MAIDENS STOLE SHY GLANCES AT HIM.
BUT ANNITJE'S PERSISTENT FLIRTATION WAS BOLD AND SHAMELESS.
OLD LADIES WAGGED THEIR HEADS AND SAID: "IT IS PLAIN THAT SHE IS NOT OF OUR KIND."
TRUE, ANNITJE WAS OF STRANGE ORIGIN. AS A CHILD SHE WAS FOUND IN THE VELDT AFTER THE MASSACRE OF HER UNIDENTIFIED PARENTS.
THE VAN BOERENS ADOPTED HER, AND SHE GREW INTO A VAIN, HIGH-TEMPERED GIRL, AN ALIEN TO THESE SIMPLE FOLK TARZAN WAS COOL TO HER BRAZEN ADVANCES, AND ANNITJE SMARTED UNDER THIS BLOW TO HER VANITY.
HOGARTH
THUS HER FANCY FOR HIM TURNED TO HATRED, AND SHE VOWED REVENGE.

A TERRIFIC BATTLE ENSUES ABOARD THE SMUGGLERS' SHIP WHEN DICK TRACY AND CHIEF SHELLBURY FORCE THEIR WAY ABOARD! HOWEVER, AT THE END OF SEVERAL HOURS—
By CHESTER GOULD
WELL, THAT'S THAT, TRACY! THE LIVE ONES OF THE CREW ARE IN IRONS—AND THE SHIP IS OURS.
TAKE BRONZEN'S BODY AND THE ONE LOAD OF ALIENS BACK TO THE TRAMP. TRACY AND I WILL RUN THIS TUB INTO PORT. FOLLOW US.
YES, SIR.
WELL, TRACY, WE'VE BUSTED THE ROTTENEST RING OF ALIEN SMUGGLERS SINCE I'VE BEEN IN THE SERVICE ---AND OUR WORK IS JUST ABOUT THROUGH.
WAIT A MINUTE, CHIEF. THINK WHAT YOU'RE SAYING. OUR WORK ISN'T THROUGH— IT'S ONLY BEGUN!
WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
NONE OF THIS GANG WERE THE BRAINS OF THE OUTFIT. THE HEAD OF THIS SMUGGLING SYNDICATE IS STILL AT LARGE! EITHER IN THE ISLE OF LUBA — OR IN THE STATES!
SCRATCH
GAD, CHIEF, YOU DON'T CARE WHAT YOU DO TO OLD BRONZEN'S STATUARY, DO YOU --?
EH?
UH-WAU-UH-LAI-EE
THUMP THUMP
HEY! DID YOU HEAR THAT?
THE THING'S ALIVE!
SHELLBURY, THIS STATUE'S ON HINGES-- --WAIT--
WAIT! THERE'S A LATCH SOMEWHERE-- -AH!- LOOK!
A GIRL!
A SOUTH SEA ISLANDER!

JOE PALOOKA'S BOXING COURSE
by HAM FISHER
ONE OF THE LADS IS GOING TO ACT AS REFEREE. HE SHOULD INSTRUCT THE FIGHTERS AT THE START WHAT HE EXPECTS AND NEVER INTERFERE TOO MUCH.
COME OUT FIGHTING, BREAK CLEAN FROM CLINCHES --- AWRIGHT FELLAS --- SHAKE HANDS.
THE ROUNDS SHALL BE TWO MINUTES AND ONE MINUTE REST BETWEEN ROUNDS.. A MAN HANGING ON THE ROPES WITH HIS TOES OFF THE GROUND HELPLESS, IS CONSIDERED DOWN AND MUST NOT BE STRUCK.
HOLD IT! THIS FELLA'S GLOVE LACE IS UNTIED.
THE REFEREE SHALL WATCH FOR FOUL BLOWS AND IN ALL RESPECTS ENDEAVOR TO KEEP IT A FAIR CONTEST.

I'LL FEEL HIS PULSE. IT SHOULD BE ABOUT HERE...OR HERE.. HIS HAND IS COLD AS ICE.
WASSA MATTER WITH TH' BUM?
BUM? THIS IS A CASE FOR THE POLICE. I'LL STAY HERE AND GUARD FINGERPRINTS AND SO FORTH, WHILE YOU PHONE.
KEEP BACK, PLEASE, FROM THE SCENE OF THE CRIME. STAND BACK!
BACK! BACK!
AH, THE POLICE. THERE, OFFICERS, IS THE VICTIM.
WHO SHOT HIM... OR WHAT? WHO SAW IT.. WHADDO YOU KNOW ABOUT THIS?
WELL WHEN I GOT HERE, THIS MAN WAS BENDING OVER THE..AH, VICTIM.
HE HAD SOMETHING SHINY IN HIS HAND. POINTING IT AT THE VICTIM.
THAT WAS MY WATCH. I WAS FEELING HIS PULSE.
WHY DID YOU SHOOT HIM AND WHAT DID YOU DO WITH THE GUN?
COME ON, COME ON. MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF AND TALK. CONFESS.
LISTEN, OFFICERS, I POSITIVELY DID NOT...
WHO'S THIS BUSTIN' THROUGH THE CROWD?
DO YOU KNOW THIS..?
YES YES YES. IT'S MINE.
MY DUMMY FROM IN FRONT OF MY STORE. THE BOYS, LOAFERS, TAKE HIM AWAY FOR FUN. HA HA! FUN. SUCH LOAFERS.
ONLY A DUMMY.
YEAH! ALL THIS FUSS OVER NOTHING. FOR TWO CENTS WE OUGHTA SWING YOU INTO THE JUG, MUG.
WHAT A LESSON. WELL ANYHOW, I'LL SURE BE READY FOR THE NEXT OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW ANY OF THAT DIZZY HELPING-HAND STUFF.
